HURLEY DENIES HIS COMPLAINT FIRED REPORTER

But Writer Insists Secretary Did It.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—To what extent does Washington officialdom control the news of the capital by influence and intimidation of Washington correspondents, editors and publishers?

PATRICK J. HURLEY [H. & E. Photo.]

Just now this question is again to the fore as a result of the discharge by the Baltimore Sun of a member of its Washington bureau, Drew Pearson, who had fallen afoul of Secretary of War Patrick Jay Hurley.

Mr. Pearson is one of the anonymous authors of "Washington Merry Go Round" which was published a year ago and of "More Merry Go Round," which is just off the press. One of the chapters in the latter book is devoted to the character, accomplishments, peccadillos and vanities of Secretary Hurley.

Denies Threat to Get His Job.

"I'll get your job for this," Mr. Pearson says Mr. Hurley thundered at him in an interview to which he had been summoned by the secretary.

Mr. Hurley denies that he made this threat to Mr. Pearson and denies that he made any complaint to the Sun or in any way undertook to procure the reporter's discharge.

Nevertheless, two days later Mr. Pearson was fired. This was the second casualty of the publication of the two volumes the recital in which of the foibles of the great and near great in the national government has set Washington by the ears.

Allen First Casualty.

The publication of the first volume was followed by the discharge of one of the authors, Robert H. Allen, from the position of Washington correspondent for the Christian Science Monitor. Mr. Allen accused the White House secretariat of "getting his job" because of caustic comment on the President in the first "Merry Go Round." The secretariat denied the truth of the charge.

These incidents have focused attention on the multitudinous influences that may be brought to bear by officialdom to control the press. Such influences take an exceedingly wide range. Some correspondents and their editors and publishers are content to close their eyes to what is going on in consideration of largesses of exclusive news of what the administration has done or is about to do. Others are kept in hand by means of social blandishments, such as invitations to White House dinners, week-ends at the President's camp, etc.

Use Social Pressure.

Those who are not amenable to such influences may be subjected to intimidation. A correspondent whose reportings are displeasing to the administration is given to understand that his discharge will be produced if he does not mend his ways. Sometimes, extraordinary political and social pressure is brought to bear on a newspaper publisher to remove a correspondent who sees and hears and tells too much for the comfort of the bureaucrats. A Washington correspondent cannot be independent unless he has an independent editor and publisher behind him.

That the Pearson incident falls within the category of official intimidation of the press is asserted by Mr. Pearson and as emphatically denied by Mr. Hurley, as will be set forth in a succeeding article.

Mr. Pearson, on being questioned regarding details, said that the editors of the Baltimore Sun were aware that he was one of the authors of the first "Merry Go Round" and took no exception thereto. When the second volume was published he was summoned to Baltimore by the managing editor, William Emmet Moore.

Praised by His Editor.

"Mr. Moore merely asked me if I were going to write any more books," said Mr. Pearson. "He said the Sun is proud of the provocative writings of H. L. Mencken who is a member of its staff and would be pleased if every member of its staff were the author of a best seller. He said =

CONTINENTAL WILL BECOME NATIONAL BANK

Directors Tell of New Plan.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Directors of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company yesterday voted to nationalize that institution. They voted also to set up special reserves of $40,000,000 out of surplus to cover losses incurred. They reduced the dividend rate to $8 per share annually.

JAMES R. LEAVELL. [U. & U. Photo.]

This announcement was made yesterday afternoon by James R. Leavell, president of the bank, after the regular monthly meeting of the directors.

Letters explaining the proposed changes last night went out to stockholders, together with an announcement that a stockholders meeting would be held on Oct. 10 to act on the steps suggested by the directors.

The new national bank will be called Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago. There will be no separate trust company incorporated under Illinois laws. All departments of the present bank will be operated by the new national bank.

The Continental Illinois company, the bank's security affiliate, however, is to retain its separate entity.

Will Reduce Surplus.

The directors voted to reduce the surplus account from $65,000,000 to $25,000,000, the bank's capital remaining unchanged at $75,000,000. The $40,000,000 withdrawn from surplus, it was explained, was used to "set up extraordinary and additional reserves against all possible losses and depreciation."

"Thus, with prior unused reserves," the stockholders are informed, "the bank has total reserves of more than $50,000,000 which will not appear as reserves in any published statement of condition."

The decision to set up additional reserves of $40,000,000 was made after a careful appraisal of the bank's assets by its own officers and after an examination by the office of the national bank examiner.

Equivalent to Charge-off.

The setting up of $40,000,000 as added reserves is equivalent to a charge off of that amount. In the case of a charge off, however, credit for income tax purposes could be taken only in the year of the charge off, and the amount of the charge off would be about $28,000,000 in excess of the bank's earnings.

By following the other method and setting up reserves against losses the charge offs can be made gradually over a period of years. In that way the bank can take full advantage of all the charge offs for income tax purposes.

The new national bank will have total invested capital of $102,500,000, distributed as follows: capital, $75,000,000; surplus, $25,000,000; undivided profits, $2,500,000.

Stock Distribution Plans.

For each present share held stockholders will receive one share of capital stock of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company of Chicago, par value $100, with a book value of $138.36. This book value, in the directors' opinion is "conservatively stated at today's values after reserves have been deducted."

In addition, each such share will carry with it proportionate trusteed ownership of the Continental Illinois company, the securities affiliate, which has capital and surplus of $2,500,000.

"The directors and officers of your bank," stated the letter mailed to stockholders last night, "have concluded that the future interests of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company will best be served by its operation as a national bank.

"The development of a plan for nationalizing the bank was suggested by recent legislative proposals regarding the banking system of the United States, all of which indicates a distinct trend in the direction of a more unified national structure, strengthened and controlled by the federal banking authorities.

Directors See Advantages.

"It is the belief of the officers and directors of the bank that definite advantages will accrue to it from changes pending in the national banking law.

"It also was determined to establish reserves against all losses and de-

BREWERY TO COST $2,500,000 IS PLAN OF NEW YORKERS

New York, Sept. 6.—[Special.]—The New Amsterdam Brewing company, recently organized by a group of men who believe the manufacture and sale of beer having an alcoholic content of more than half of one per cent will be legalized in a reasonably short time, announced today the proposed building of a $2,500,000 brewery in New York City.

The brewery, modern in every detail, will have an initial capacity of 250,000 barrels annually. It will furnish employment to 250 or 300 and the pay roll will exceed $750,000 annually. The officials expect that the brewery will be in operation the early part of next summer.

Announcement regarding the plans of the company was made by Herbert L. Noll, the president. He said that ground for the plant will be broken in sixty days.

Mr. Noll said that should modification of the Volstead act be unduly delayed, the brewery would manufacture other malt products. He declared that a survey has disclosed that once the Volstead act is modified, the demand for beer having more than one half of one per cent alcoholic strength will far exceed the initial supply.

PRIEST ACCUSED OF ABDUCTION OF SCHOOL TEACHER

Sheriff E. J. Welter of La Salle county last night was given a warrant authorizing the arrest of the Rev. William Courtney, a Catholic priest at Alexis, Ill., on a charge of kidnaping.

The warrant was sworn to by James F. Haley of Streator, who asserted that his 22 year old sister, Colliette Haley, a school teacher, had been kidnaped by the minister.

Miss Haley, it was learned, disappeared from her home about a week ago and came to Chicago, where she stopped in a room at 5326 West Monroe street. She returned to the home of her parents at Streator on Sunday. She was teaching her class in a school in Eagle township, west of Streator, yesterday afternoon when a man called her out and she left with him. The identity of the man was not definitely established.

MOB SURROUNDS N. CAROLINA JAIL; NEGRO PRISONER

Asheville, N. C., Sept. 6.—(AP)—A crowd of several hundred angry citizens was reported tonight around the jail at Waynesville where Charlie Rorx, a 17 year old Negro, was placed late today on charges of shooting a man who went with officers to arrest him for an alleged attack on a white girl.

Trap Banker, 2 Others in Tax Warrant Plot

State's Attorney Swanson yesterday announced the arrest of a former Indiana bank president and two ex-convicts who are charged with the counterfeiting and forging of Cook county tax warrants.

Search is being made for a fourth man, a Chicago bootlegger, in connection with the plot, it was disclosed. This man is believed to have furnished the warrants to other members of the gang. The counterfeit warrants, it is believed, were printed in a plant in Chicago used primarily for counterfeiting stamps and labels for bootleg whisky bottles.

Two Just Out of Prison.

The men now under arrest are John R. Steele, John Ballwin and Thomas Nelson. Steele was president of the Lakeville State bank of Lakeville, Ind., near South Bend, when it failed two years ago. Recently he has been a real estate operator in South Bend. Baldwin and Nelson within the last year finished serving eight year terms in the Atlanta federal penitentiary for a $58,000 mail truck robbery at Rochester, N. Y.

The three men were arrested while trying to dispose of $5,000 worth of the forged warrants to officials of the Winsett Finance and Thrift company of South Bend. Their arrest was the result of confidential warnings issued by County Treasurer McDonough to banks and finance companies throughout Indiana, where he had been informed members of the gang were operating.

Discovered by McDonough.

The existence of the forged warrants was discovered on June 24 by Mr. McDonough himself. Two men called at his office in the county building bearing $41,000 worth of county tax warrants, which they asked to have authenticated as genuine.

Employes of the office examined the warrants carefully, and were convinced that they were genuine. Almost as an afterthought, they showed them to Mr. McDonough. He looked at his signatures on the warrants and immediately pronounced them forgeries.

He issued an order that the men be arrested, but they had apparently become suspicious at the delay in the examination of the warrants and had fled when employes went to seize them.

Swanson Begins Hunt.

Search for the gang started immediately. State's Attorney Swanson placed two assistants Mal Coghlan and Grenville Beardsley, in charge of the inquiry. When the investigators received information from underworld sources that members of the gang were operating in Indiana the confidential warnings were sent there. That was six weeks ago.

These warnings bore fruit when Steele, Ballwin, and Nelson approached the Winsett company in an attempt to dispose of some of the forged warrants. They first visited the office three weeks ago, offering to put up $5,000 worth of tax warrants as collateral on a $4,000 loan.

Find Warrants Forgeries.

They were instructed to return when Arthur Russell Jr., secretary of the company, returned from his vacation. He came back early last week and immediately communicated with Treasurer McDonough, giving him the number of the tax warrants offered his company. By this means it was learned that the warrants were forgeries and a trap was laid which was sprung when the trio reappeared Saturday morning.

Steele, Ballwin and Nelson were questioned at some length as to where they obtained the warrants. Steele, it is said, professed not to know their source. The two ex-convicts asserted that they obtained them in "whisky deals" in Chicago.

Jean Harlow Calls Farewell Note 'Mystery'

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—Jean Harlow told detectives tonight that the farewell note left by her husband, Paul Bern, when he committed suicide early yesterday, was as much of a mystery to her as to every one else.

Still hovering on the verge of hysteria, she asserted she had no idea what he meant by the "frightful wrong" he mentioned he had done her in his note, or why he should have shot himself to wipe out his "abject humiliation." She said he had never intimated that he contemplated "such an act" and added: "There was nothing between us, that I can think of, that would have caused him to do this."

Developments Deepen Mystery.

Two other developments in the investigation served only to deepen the mystery of why the film executive killed himself.

First was the report of a second farewell note, allegedly secreted from the police, which is said to be even more sensational than the one which was made public.

Second, Dr. E. B. Jones, Bern's personal physician, called Louis B. Mayer, Bern's friend and head of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film corporation for which both Bern and Miss Harlow worked:

"Understand motive. Will leave at once to testify for you and Miss Harlow if necessary."

Tells of Second Note.

According to word given to the police, Bern left two suicide notes, one of which never reached the authorities. The note disappeared some time shortly after the report of Bern's death had been conveyed to Bern's studio and to Miss Harlow's family by John Carmichael, butler who discovered the unclothed body about noon on Monday.

Clifton Davis, Negro gardener, visited one of the offices of the movie fan magazines which publish data about Hollywood, on Monday, and said he had seen this note. Davis talked to an officer of the magazine and said that the note was more sensational than the "abject humiliation" and "last night was only a comedy" farewell message, which had already been published. Davis today said he had been counseled not to talk about his master's death any further and had decided not to answer any questions.

Coroner Calls Inquest.

Coroner Frank Nance, who has called an inquest for tomorrow morning, announced that the chief line of inquiry would be to learn why the police were not notified of Bern's death until three hours after the finding of the body. "I have ordered the inquest to squelch any rumors of concealment of facts and stop idle gossip," he added. A formal notice has been sent to Miss Harlow to appear at the inquest.

Coincident with the announcement, Frank R. Webb, autopsy surgeon, reported that Bern's death was due to "a typical suicide wound"—a shot in the right temple with indications the weapon had been held close to his head.

After this brief questioning of Miss Harlow detectives left the home of her mother and stepfather professing themselves as mystified as ever about the motive which prompted her husband to commit suicide.

Actress Calls Note Mystery.

The investigators found the film star trembling and tearful in bed. At first she refused to answer questions.

Quieted by Drs. Ralph Kennicott and Harold Bernard, she said:

"I can not understand why this terrible thing should have happened. As for the note left by Paul, I have no idea what it means. This 'frightful

Robbed of His Trousers and $300 in the Street

Louis Hendler, 40 years old, 3352 Auburn avenue, driver of a tobacco truck, was robbed of his pants and $300 last night by three bandits. The bandits boarded his truck while he was parked at 1656 West 36th street where his helper, Joseph Kestner, 2902 Quinn street, was making a delivery. The men drove Hendler to 43d street and Marshfield avenue, where they told him to take off his pants, explaining they did not have time to search his pockets. They fled with his pants.

SIX ARE INJURED BY 185 FT. FALL DOWN A SHAFT

One Dies, 10 Hurt as Building Collapses.

Four persons were killed and sixteen were injured last night in two spectacular accidents at separated points in Chicago.

Three of the deaths occurred when a cable broke, precipitating a group of workmen to the bottom of a shaft 185 feet deep. The shaft is at Chicago avenue and Halsted street and is an entrance to the new $13,000,000 water tunnel which extends from a point three miles out in Lake Michigan to Springfield avenue on the west. Six workmen were hurt in the accident.

The other accident occurred at 2103 Lewis street. A small crowd of men, women and children, had rushed into a condemned and partly wrecked building after the wreckers had departed for the day. Suddenly the supporting timbers gave way and the structure collapsed. One man was killed and ten persons were injured.

The Water Tunnel Tragedy.

The tragedy in the water tunnel took place when the steel bucket ordinarily used to lift materials from the depths of the tunnel was pressed into passenger service for the night shift of workmen as the regular elevator in an adjoining shaft went out of commission. The bucket was suspended by a steel cable running through pulleys attached to a large steel boom at the surface. This boom, in turn, was held aloft by cables anchored in the ground.

Soon after nine men had stepped into the bucket, which was 6 feet long, 4 feet deep and 4 feet wide, the cables holding the boom aloft snapped. Observers reported that there was an electric flash, indicating that a short circuit had occurred at the same time somewhere in the operating mechanism.

Bucket Drops to Tunnel Floor.

The steel box shot downward with the workmen as the boom fell across the opening. Then the bucket cable, designed to support fifteen tons, gave way under the combined effects of the weight and of gravity. The bucket, a freely falling body, dropped straight down to the mud of the tunnel floor.

At the bottom the high steel arms at the corners of the bucket, which were attached to the cable, came down with terrific force on the heads and shoulders of the workmen. Also the heavy cable descended on them and aided in the crushing of victims.

THE DEAD.

JOSEPH MITCHELL, 32 years old, 6461 North Sayre avenue.

WILLIAM SARVARIA, 29 years old, 3825 North Spaulding avenue.

JOHN O'BRIEN, 35 years old, 4738 Lexington street.

THE INJURED.

JOHN REDDINGTON, 34 years old, 6231 South Richmond street.

CHARLES HARRIS, colored, 37 years old, 4800 St. Lawrence avenue.

PETER SANA, 31 years old, 5143 South Talman avenue.

MICHAEL LOFTUS, 32 years old, 6340 Addison street.

STANLEY PILOT, 38 years old, 1941 Webster avenue.

BEN SAVAGE, 30 years old, 2924 Allen avenue.

The injuries of Reddington and Harris were said to be critical at the Passavant hospital, where all were taken.

Comrades Go to Rescue.

Other workmen in the tunnel went at once to the assistance of the injured. They and the bodies of the dead were placed on small cars running through the tunnel, which is 16 feet in diameter, and were taken to another shaft at Chicago avenue and the lake to be lifted to the surface.

Just how far the steel bucket fell freely was uncertain. Sana said that he had fallen without a break from a point only five feet underground, which would mean a drop from a height greater by 26 feet than that of the stone water tower at Chicago and Michigan avenues, which is 154 feet high.

Experts Doubt Long Fall.

City Engineer Myron D. Reynolds and other experts said that none of the nine could have remained alive if the fall had been so great. There must have been some check a large part of the way down, Mr. Reynolds asserted. He estimated the free fall at not more than 20 yards.

He added that the equipment for the lifting of the steel bucket was new and supposedly in excellent condition.

The water tunnel has been under construction for several years and will not be completed for two more. It was designed to give residents of the north and northwest sides a dependable water pressure of 40 pounds and to care for expansion over a long term of years. The amount appropriated for work on it this year was $3,700,000.

BUILDING FALLS ON CROWD

The man killed in the collapse of the Lewis street building, a story and a half frame house, was Kasper Shiba, 60 years old, 2153 Clybourn avenue.

About twenty-five men, women and children were believed to be in the building searching for firewood at the time of the collapse. Many escaped as the building sagged. Police and firemen continued to search the ruins until late at night for more bodies. A girl was at first reported dead, but she was later found in a hospital.

The building was condemned by the city 5 years ago. Monday morning the tenants moved out. Wreckers started work on it yesterday morning. A crowd of men, women and children entered the home to hunt firewood when a watchman for the wrecking company went off duty at 6 o'clock.

The foundation of the structure had been weakened by the wreckers. The crash was attributed to further weakening by the pillagers. The floor fell through under their weight, bringing the walls and roof upon their heads.

List of Injured.

All the injured except a 12 year old girl in St. Joseph's hospital, were taken to the Alexian Brothers hospital. The injured are:

SAMUEL MANISCULA, 17 years old, 1224 Webster street.

THOMAS GANNON, 16 years old, 2221 Herndon avenue.

LOUIS DIANO, 21 years old, 2052 North Racine avenue.

FRANK DUMELLE, 12 years old, 2052 North Racine avenue.

PETER PONSAO, 55 years old, no address.

JOHN SCHAEFFER, 17 years old, 2124 Seminary avenue.

THERESA ELLISON, 12 years old, 1907 Burling street.

LOUIS GRANNINI, 2052 North Racine avenue.

MICHAEL SOWA, 40 years old, 2153 Clybourn avenue.

Neighbors roused by the noise of the crash and the screams of the injured made the first rescues. Firemen and police brought five of the injured from beneath the débris.

Commissioner of Police Allman sent 16 police squads to keep back the crowds hampering the work of the firemen. Neighbors aided in removing the wreckage under the direction of Chief Alvin Brandt of the 13th battalion.

16 ALABAMANS ARRESTED ON U. S. FRAUD CHARGES

Dothan, Ala., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Sixteen prominent southern Alabama residents, including four public officials and the son of a state senator, were arrested by federal agents today on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government in obtaining seed loans.

Clem C. Faulk, state Democratic committeeman, of Geneva; Mayor John L. Warren of Enterprise, Lozi H. Sessions, Enterprise city councilman; Harley B. Helms and Willis M. Ray, county farm agents, were among those arrested and released under bond.

Others posting $3,000 bonds were Ralph F. Harrison, John H. Sessions and Morgan P. Adams, former officials of the closed Farmers and Merchants' National bank of Enterprise, and J. Leo Jeter and Wilbur Warren, former officials of the defunct First National bank of Enterprise.

BEACHES POPULAR THIS YEAR; PASS 1931 ATTENDANCE

More Chicagoans attended the municipal bathing beaches this summer than last year, according to a report submitted to Mayor Cermak's office yesterday by Walter Wright, superintendent of parks, recreation and aviation.

Supt. Wright's figures show a total attendance of 9,447,884 at the beaches and natatoriums. Of this number, 9,168,682 went to the Rogers Park, Rainbow, Rocky Ledge, and street end beaches, an increases of 1,878,682 over last year, although Clarendon beach was closed this summer. The Bellfuss, Jackson, and Griffith natatoriums drew 309,802 persons, a decrease of 328,522 from last year.

The street end beaches had 4,784,915 bathers. Rainbow beach drew 3,107,933; Rocky Ledge beach, 838,324, and Rogers Park beach, 436,910. Bellfuss natatorium had 124,805 customers, Jackson 119,927, and Griffith 65,070.

"I believe the increased attendance was due partly to the fact that Chicago had a more consistent spell of bathing weather this summer than last, said Mr. Wright. "Then, also, the figures show that Chicagoans and visitors here are becoming increasingly aware of the city's vacation facilities."

Although the beaches were closed officially Monday night, Mr. Wright said a number of lifeguards and attendants will remain on duty this month.

CHICAGOAN GETS PISTOL USED BY BURR IN DUEL

The flintlock dueling pistols of Aaron Burr, one of which he used in killing Alexander Hamilton in their historic duel, have been added to the collection of McMurdo Silver of Chicago, president of Silver-Marshall, Inc., manufacturers of radios, it was learned yesterday.

The guns were purchased from H. B. Harmer of Philadelphia for a price which was not made public. A number of affidavits from Caesar A. Rodney, attorney general of the United States, who found the pistols in Burr's effects, and descendants of Rodney who inherited the guns and from whom Harmer obtained them, give proof of the authenticity of the weapons as belonging to Burr, according to Mr. Silver, who has a valuable collection of rare guns.

The guns are of .60 caliber and have brown steel barrels, decorated trigger guards, checked walnut stocks, and ivory tipped ramrods.

The Burr-Hamilton duel took place on July 11, 1804, and was caused by a political dispute.

CERMAK DEFENDS CHICAGO BEFORE BRITISH CRITICS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Making his last public address before he sails for home on Thursday, Mayor Cermak went to the defense of Chicago again today. He spoke at the American Chamber of Commerce luncheon and told British newspapermen that they have created the world's grossest misconceptions of what Chicago really is like.

"I am amazed at the distortions in the minds of the people of Europe about Chicago," Mr. Cermak said. "But the wildest ideas are found in London and Great Britain. We hear less of Al Capone than you do. We worry less about him than you do.

Introduce U. S. Methods.

"Since I have been here I have had complaints from a London reporter against our deporting English criminals. He complained that they had learned the methods of American gangsters and are introducing them to Britain. We are deporting alien criminals and you are getting quite a large percentage of them here. We are not keeping British criminals any more than you would allow an American convicted of crime to remain in England."

Mayor Cermak was introduced as the "first mayor of America" by Francis H. Powell.

"He heads the government of the second city in the United States," Mr. Powell said, "but because of the political situation in New York he ranks as the first mayor of America."

Pledges Beer for Visitors.

Mr. Cermak gave facts and figures about Chicago's Century of Progress Exposition in 1933 for half an hour. He revealed that twelve countries had contracted to exhibit at the fair and that he had been informed this morning that Italy had just signed up. Negotiations are going on with ten other nations, he said. There was applause when the mayor promised that Chicago would have real beer for those who visit the fair.

Mr. Cermak will lay a wreath on the Cenotaph, the monument of England's soldier dead, tomorrow morning and at noon will be received by Lord Mayor Sir Maurice Jenks.

Pay 4 Million, Court Tells Failed Bank Stockholders

Covington, Ky., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Federal Judge A. M. J. Cochran today ordered a verdict of $4,165,175.27 against a number of stockholders of the closed National Bank of Kentucky of Louisville, holding that transfer of their stock to a trustee did not absolve them from payment of stock assessments.

CAPITAL WRITER WHO CRITICIZED HURLEY IS FIRED

Secretary Denies He Got Reporter's Job.

had not read 'More Merry Go Round,' but intended to. He had no word of rebuke for me in any way."

A day or two later Mr. Pearson said he was summoned to the office of Secretary Hurley.

"I found the secretary in a towering rage," said Mr. Pearson. "He kept shouting, 'I'll get your job for this; I'll put you in your place.' He said he was a dangerous man when he got angry. He had once lost his temper and shot a man, he said, and then nursed him back to health.

Baker Fails to Get In.

"He took me to task for two things. One was about a story I had written about ex-Secretary of War Newton D. Baker having failed to gain admittance to Mr. Hurley's office because he was not recognized by the doorkeeper. He accused me of deliberately suppressing the fact that Mr. Hurley, happening to emerge from his office, found Mr. Baker and had a conversation with him in the hall. In vain I told him that I got the story from his own publicity staff, which had not told me of the meeting of the two men.

"His other complaint was about the chapter on him in 'More Merry Go Round,' though apparently at that time he hadn't read it. He had been told about it. He brought up the stories I had written about his use of army airplanes, pilots and fuel to carry him around the country making speeches. I had shown how his use of such equipment deprived army aviators of their training. He said I had accused him of smashing up a plane. I denied the charge, citing my statement that he had smashed a propeller."

Says Hurley Rages Like Lion.

Mr. Pearson said that Mr. Hurley summoned him again the next day.

"We had it hot and heavy again this time," said Mr. Pearson. "The secretary raged up and down the room like a wild lion. He called me a liar. I called him a liar. We were at it two hours. It was evident he had read the chapter in the book over night. He again said he was going to get my job. He also said he would sue for libel if it were not for his official position. But he was going to resign after the election, he said, and then he was going to do a lot of suing for libel.

"We went over the chapter paragraph by paragraph. He denied statement after statement, and pointed out what he said were inaccuracies. He was particularly excited over the statement that he got his medal for bravery two hours before the armistice. He said this was wrong—it was five hours before the armistice."

Mr. Pearson said that on arriving at his post at the state, war and navy building the next day he heard gossip that he was to be fired. Shortly thereafter he was summoned to Baltimore.

"I was shown into Mr. Moore's office," said Mr. Pearson. "Others present were John Owens, chief of the editorial page, and Fred Essary, the head of the Washington bureau. Mr Moore said my usefulness to the paper was ended and I had better resign. I said I would prefer to be discharged, as there was no reason for me to resign. He said that was all right and he handed me a check for a month's salary. In the ensuing conversation it developed that Mr. Hurley had complained about me. I was told that he had dropped the complaint regarding the Baker incident, but had declared his war record had been misrepresented in the book."

MRS. E. N. HURLEY KILLED IN CRASH; INQUIRY IS BEGUN

Two Others of Family Are Injured by Train.

An inquest was opened yesterday into the death of Mrs. Florence Amberg Hurley, 47 years old, wife of Edward N. Hurley, prominent Chicagoan and former head of the United States shipping board, who was fatally injured earlier in the day when the automobile in which she was riding was struck by an Illinois Central freight train at the Butterfield road crossing at Berkeley, 13 miles west of the loop.

In the automobile with Mrs. Hurley were her son-in-law, Attorney William A. Ryan, 30 years old, who was driving, and her daughter, Mrs. Mary Helen Hurley Ryan, 26 years old. The inquest was continued until Sept. 14 to give time for a thorough investigation of the tragedy.

Mrs. Hurley Dies in Hospital.

Mr. Ryan escaped with a dislocated left elbow. Mrs. Ryan, who is to become a mother in a month, suffered shock and severe bruises. They were taken to the Westlake hospital in Melrose Park, where Mrs. Hurley died 30 minutes after the accident.

Mr. Hurley was notified of the accident while attending a directors' meeting of the Central Illinois Public Service company at 20 North Wacker drive. He sped to the hospital by automobile, but arrived five minutes after his wife's death.

Funeral services for Mrs. Hurley will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning from the family's town residence at 3400 Sheridan road to Our Lady of Mount Carmel church, 590 Belmont avenue. Burial will be in Calvary cemetery.

Details of the Accident.

The Ryans and Mrs. Hurley were driving from the Hurley estate in Roosevelt road just west of Wheaton for a shopping tour in the loop when the accident occurred. Mr. Hurley had spent the night at the town residence.

Ryan had turned northeast in Butterfield road from Roosevelt road. As he drove on to the Illinois Central tracks at the crossing, which is near the boundary line of the villages of Hillside and Berkeley in western Cook county, the automobile was struck by the northwest bound freight train of fifty cars. The automobile was dragged 300 feet along the right of way and when it was thrown clear of the train it struck a wooden mile marker. Ryan and his wife were thrown from the car before the final crash. Mrs. Hurley was still conscious when she was lifted from the wreckage.

Signal Bell at Crossing.

Ryan told his law partner, James G. Condon, who visited him at the hospital, that he saw the freight train but was unable to avoid the accident when the brakes on his car failed to hold. The crossing is protected by a warning bell atop a cross arm signal, which is situated just southwest of the railroad tracks. Engineer A. L. Clark of Freeport, in charge of the freight train, said the bell was working.

Laddie Novotny, a former trustee of Berkeley and president of the village's board of education, condemned the warning bell as valueless.

"The bell cannot be heard far enough to be of any value to motorists," he said. "We have been fighting for four years to get a decent crossing signal, and have taken the matter before the commerce commission and officials of the railroad without results."

Police last night had been unable to find any witnesses to the actual crash. They promised to continue the search on the request of Mr. Hurley.

"I wish you would," he told Policeman Walter Topp of Berkeley. "I intend to make a thorough investigation of the matter."

Resident Tells of Accident.

Edwin Plumb, who lives near the scene of the tragedy, was first to reach the scene. He helped the engineer and Fireman George Smith of Freeport to lift Mrs. Hurley from the car. When he went to the aid of Mrs. Ryan her first request was that her father be notified, Plumb said.

Edward Walsh, who lives 300 feet west of the crossing in Butterfield road, joined Plumb in aiding the injured and called an ambulance in which Mrs. Hurley and her daughter were taken to the hospital. A passing motorist took Ryan to the hospital.

"I heard the crash," Plumb said, "and looked up to see the automobile, with one wheel hooked under the front of the locomotive, come bounding along the right of way. Several signposts were knocked down by the car before it was torn loose from the engine by the mile marker.

Mr. and Mrs. Ryan Thrown Out.

"Ryan was thrown out of the automobile 100 feet from the crossing, and his wife was thrown out just before the car was halted. Mrs. Hurley moaned, 'My back,' over and over as we lifted her from the car.

Engineer Clark and Fireman Smith made brief statements at the scene and continued with the train to Freeport, where they will make complete reports of the accident to railroad officials. They said the train was traveling 30 miles an hour, but made no estimate of the speed at which the automobile was moving.

Attorney Andrew J. Ryan, father of the injured man, visited his son at the hospital but declined to make a statement. John R. Hurley, a son of the Hurleys, joined his father at the hospital shortly after the accident. Edward N. Hurley Jr., and Raymond Hurley, stepsons of Mrs. Hurley, are both out of the city.

Edward Jr. Sailing from Europe.

Edward Jr. is sailing from Europe and it was not know whether a cable reached him, friends of the family said. Raymond is due to return soon from a motor trip to the west, it was said. Mr. and Mrs. Ryan live on the 237 acre Hurley estate near Wheaton in a home built for them by Mr. Hurley as a wedding present.

Mrs. Hurley was the second wife of Mr. Hurley. His first wife, Julia, died in 1900. The second Mrs. Hurley was the daughter of the late Attorney John H. Amberg. Her mother was a member of the Plamondon family, noted for years in Chicago society. She was active in Catholic charities and well known in society. On June 26 Mrs. Hurley entertained Mrs. Woodrow Wilson just before the opening of the Democratic national convention.

Mr. Hurley has been active in both business and governmental affairs. He organized and developed the pneumatic tool industry in the United States and Europe. He also served as a vice chairman of the federal trade commission. He was awarded the Distinguished Service medal by Gen. Pershing for meritorious and distinguished service in shipment of troops and supplies during the war.

Of late years he has turned his attention to civic affairs in Chicago and was responsible for bringing the Democratic and Republican conventions to Chicago. He also has been active in promoting the World's Fair of 1933.

Deputy Coroner John J. Butler took only testimony necessary to issue a death certificate at yesterday's session of the inquest, which was held in the Carroll undertaking rooms at 1158 North Clark street.

Sues Husband for Title to Home

PAULINE STARKE.

Divorced in 1931

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—Pauline Starke, movie star, today sued her ex-husband, Jack White, to obtain title to the home at 1107 Ysidro drive, which she has been occupying since her divorce from the director in June, 1931. She claims title to the pretentious home on the grounds that White gave her a promissory note for $22,000, securing it with a mortgage on the home, but has since then paid only $200, which fails even to carry the interest.

POLICE 'SAFETY' DRIVE ASSAILED BY WEARY JUDGE

1,055 "Speeders" Tried in Traffic Court.

A weary and exasperated judge heard the last of 1,055 cases in the Speeders' court at 11th and State streets last evening after a court session which began at 9 o'clock in the morning. For nearly ten hours, without intermission, a stream of citizens, the vast majority of them charged with petty violations of the traffic law, had paraded before the bench.

The average time given to each defendant was 33 seconds, including the calling of the case by the clerk, the taking of evidence and the disposition by the judge. At the traffic bureau in the city hall another 400 persons appeared to pay fines for parking law violations, a court hearing not being necessary.

Many Stay in Jail.

Exhorted to enforce the campaign against "reckless and careless driving," Chicago police had arrested approximately 1,500 drivers over the week-end. Most were required to put up $25 cash bonds, and those unable to put up this bond were held in jail, some of them since Saturday afternoon. The week-end holiday with no courts in session meant two days and three nights in a cell for some of these violators.

Judge William E. Helander, presiding in the Speeders' court, was fuming when a reporter interviewed him yesterday afternoon. The large courtroom was jammed with perspiring humanity. Attorneys, witnesses, and policemen, in addition to the more than 1,000 defendants, swelled the crowd to 1,500, a record for the Municipal court.

Justice Is Administered.

The clerk calling names from the bench could barely be heard in the rear of the courtroom. Bailiffs stationed there repeated the names in a yell. Many defendants, unable to force a passage through the crowd, were literally carried to the bench. Justice was administered amidst the yelping of the hoarse bailiffs and the mutterings of the crowd.

"The whole situation is ridiculous," commented Judge Helander. "The police used no judgment nor discretion in making arrests. At least 900 of the 1,000 cases are those of persons who have not obtained state or city licenses. Fifty such violators have been held in jail over the week-end. Another fifty cases were those of persons who had just purchased cars the previous day and obviously could not have obtained licenses.

Few Are Speeders.

"I doubt if 25 of the 1,000 cases are those of speeders, persons who make the streets unsafe for pedestrians and other motorists. Such reckless drivers are the ones who should be hit in a safety campaign."

A motorcycle policeman approached the judge.

"I worked all night, your honor," he said. "And here it is 4 p. m. I need some sleep. Can't you call my case, now?"

"Don't blame me because you've had to wait," responded the judge. "Blame yourself and your fellow officers for making all these foolish arrests. If the police had used some judgment, this farce would not be going on."

The procedure in the cases of drivers arrested for not having licenses was to continue the case to allow the driver to get a license. Many of the drivers complained that they couldn't get licenses because they had put up $25 cash bonds. Under the law, however, the bond must stay posted until the case is disposed of. It was a puzzle which many of the motorists couldn't solve.

A number of drivers did not respond when their names were called. Capiases were issued for their arrest.

Police Commissioner Allman announced that the drive to enforce traffic laws will continue throughout September as a part of the campaign sponsored by the National Safety council to reduce motor accidents.

CAMPAIGN TO JAIL AUTO THIEVES GAINS AN ARDENT RECRUIT

The campaign to send auto thieves to jail, which was announced Monday by Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court, gained a recruit yesterday. The recruit is Assistant State's Attorney Richard Jackson whose car was stolen from in front of the Criminal court building during the day.

"I'm going to ask to be appointed special prosecutor of auto thieves," Mr. Jackson said last evening as he prepared to ride home on a street car. The appointment of a member of State's Attorney Swanson's staff to prosecute auto thieves has been urged by Attorney Joseph Braun of the Chicago Motor club.

The retiring county grand jury made special mention of a campaign against auto thieves in its report to Judge Harry Fisher, whom Judge Prystalski succeeded as chief justice. The report urged that Police Commissioner Allman be informed that automobiles are being stolen from the vicinity of the Criminal Court building despite the fact that special police guards are stationed there to prevent such occurrences. The commissioner was asked to arouse his men to a better performance of their duties.

Park Ridge Board Hears Charges Against Sergeant

The police commission of Park Ridge last night held another hearing on charges brought against Sergt. R. A. Wittey of the Park Ridge police. Wittey is alleged to have allowed persons to loiter about the police building, typed letters for a colored man on police stationery and returned a police photograph to a robbery suspect. The board took the case under advisement.

LIEUT. WILLIAMS WILL APPEAR IN LEGION AIR MEET

Lieut. Al Williams, famous acrobatic flyer, sent a telegram to American Legion chiefs in Chicago yesterday announcing that he would appear in the Legion air meet next Sunday in Sky Harbor airport. The aviator has been participating in the national air races at Cleveland in his radio-controlled plane, a Curtiss P-1, powered with a Jupiter 600 horse power engine, which he will bring to Chicago.

Flyers of six countries, who took part in the Cleveland races and who will fly at the Legion meet, will be guests of the World's Fair today. They will be taken for a ride in the Goodyear blimp above the exposition grounds and will be entertained at a luncheon.

The visiting aviators are Col. George Kossowski of Poland; Lieut. Pacido d' Abrau of Portugal; Lieut. Jean Assolant of France; Lieut. Andrea Zotti of Italy; Emil Krops of Germany, and Commander R. L. I. Atcherley of England.

REVEAL THEFT OF $24,000 IN COUNTY FUNDS

County officials last night revealed the theft by forgery of $24,000 of county funds by three employes, who have made restitution of all except $200 of the stolen money. Under agreement with the state's attorney's office the officials waived prosecution of the men.

The forgers are Jean Fennely, 45 years old, former assistant bookkeeper in the county treasurer's office; James Eagan, 31 years old, former clerk in the controller's office, and Daniel Healy, 44 years old, former keeper of the controller's vault. The shortage was discovered June 27 after an audit.

The men were questioned and confessed. They had copied checks which were not called for promptly and forged duplicates for amounts ranging from $25 to $300.

During the investigation the forgers promised to make restitution. After payment was made County Treasurer Joseph B. McDonough and County Clerk Robert M. Sweitzer, who is also county controller, interceded for the forgers and prosecution was waived.

JEAN HARLOW CALLS FAREWELL NOTE 'MYSTERY'

Second Message Sought; Inquest Today.

Ambition Key to Jean Harlow's Life and Loves; Husband's Suicide Sure to Injure Film Career

BY ROSALIND SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—There is no doubt that the keynote of Jean Harlow's character is ambition. Nor is there any doubt that the sensational suicide of her husband of two months is the worst blow her film career could suffer.

When interviewed by this writer before her marriage to Bern, Miss Harlow spoke of the "happiness that our marriage will bring into both our lives."

Her plans about her future as a wife were indefinite; but her plans for a career were very definite. She intended, she said, to go on the stage when she had made a success of her picture career.

Called Marriage of Ambition.

That her marriage to Paul Bern was one of ambition was the concensus of discussions here. She had money. It was not money that Jean stood to gain, filmdom's watchers pointed out. But her career was languishing until Paul Bern negotiated the transfer of her contract from the Howard Hughes company to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, where her dead husband was an executive.

Once started on her renewed career at her husband-to-be's studio, Jean Harlow had her first starring vehicle, "The Red Headed Woman," and the best stories in the market were being bought for her as vehicles. This is the sort of aid that Jean needed—not money but influence, and Paul Bern had that to offer.

In the early days of her marriage Jean told some intimates that Bern had not measured up to her ideal of an impetuous bridegroom. The old story of April and December, with December jealous and watchful, developed into a psychological problem. A Hollywood drama by Freud—that is what Hollywood is calling the Bern-Harlow case.

Bern Shows Worry.

That something was preying on the mind of Paul Bern from the day of his marriage was obvious. Only a few days after the marriage this writer saw the pair at a theater. Bern's face was haggard but his bride, smilingly, leaned on his arm, undisturbed by whatever was affecting her husband.

That Paul Bern loved his wife deeply it is not possible to doubt. Bern had nothing to gain by the marriage, unless he loved the sensuous beauty who revealed new limits to censorship in her frank acting in "Hell's Angels," her first big rôle. That Bern had hoped his wife's beauty and appeal would bring into his life an element that had been absent in his prior hermitlike home life is obvious.

Bern always had been fascinated by the exotic women of pictures. Pola Negri, Nita Naldi, Estelle Taylor, Barbara LaMarr, Mabel Normand, Jetta Goudal and many others had been his good friends with never a breath of gossip touching any of these friendships.

That he finally married a charmer like Jean is only explainable by believing that he wished to emerge from the ascetism that had characterized him for years.

Hint of Quarrels.

The current word had been that Jean did not find this happy consummation working out. Jealousies, questionings, airing of differences drove the highly sensitive and shy man into a mental state which resulted in tragedy. At least, this is the theory of their film friends.

The same situation drove the high spirited, beautiful girl to her mother's house many nights.

No matter how modern the marriage, nor how busy Jean was at the studio, unless there was discord, friends reason, she would hardly have stayed at her mother's so often. She could not have been unaware of Bern's mental distress, Hollywood believes, when it was so obvious to casual observers.

Revelations made by the Berns' Negro gardener, Clifton Davis, yesterday before a conference with studio executives silenced him, hint that Bern was in torment over the situation between him and his young wife.

Bern Popular in Filmdom.

Bern was universally liked in the film colony; something that can be said of only two or three others. His friends and well wishers were both men and women.

Bern had been a friend in need to so many worried and harassed actresses and actors; he had gone out of his way to do so many quiet deeds of kindness such as providing lunch money for hundreds of destitute Los Angeles school children, that no one was surprised when, upon marrying Miss Harlow two months ago, he deeded over his palatial home and a fortune in other valuables to his bride.

Even when the explanations for Bern's strange farewell message, written in his diary, and untold today, finally are forthcoming, as explanations eventually are, the sad and unusual circumstances surrounding Bern's end are sure to cast a depressing influence upon the starring career of his 21 year old widow.

wrong' he apparently believed he had done me is all a mystery. I can't imagine what it means.

"Paul often talked to me of suicide as a general topic. Never, however, did he intimate that he himself contemplated such an act. There was nothing between us that I can think of that would have caused him to do this."

During the visit of the three policemen a fourth officer made notes, and so did Mendel Silberg, attorney for the actress. Marino Bello, Miss Harlow's stepfather; Louis B. Mayer, head of the M.-G.-M. studios, and Howard Strickling, publicity chief for the studio, also attended the conference.

Once Kept from Suicide.

Another incident in the tangled web of facts, conjectures and theories in the case was the statement of John Gilbert that he had once interfered to prevent a previous suicide by Bern. Gilbert said the circumstances surrounding the incident were "too delicate and intimate" to discuss further. He did say, however, that it had occurred about the time of the death of Barbara LaMarr.

Gilbert said Bern had told him that his philosophy of life was "to live to bring happiness to others, particularly those close to me." When Bern concluded that he could no longer confer happiness on others, he was "content to lay down the mantle of this life," Gilbert said.

Mayer and Irving Thalberg, another of the M-G-M studio magnates, had commented on Bern's abstraction and strange appearance during all of last week, they said today. Mayer said: "We thought he needed a rest. I had never seen him act so strangely before. Something evidently was preying on his mind."

Meanwhile the story leaked out of the Bello home that Jean, overcome by the shock of her husband's tragic end, had tried to throw herself from a high balcony, on Monday night. Mrs. Bello and a nurse restrained her and physicians later administered sedatives.

Mayer in Awkward Position.

The promise of testimony that would explain away some of the mystery from Dr. Jones to Mayer placed the film magnate in an unusual position. Bern had been Mayer's close friend and Mayer had relied greatly on the dead man's sagacity as a film writer, director and producer. Mayer had been responsible for Bern's lucrative contract as an associate producer for Mayer's corporation. If the physician has anything unusual to say about Bern, it would be Mayer's own dear friend whose memory must stand the shock.

But, on the other hand, Mayer had to remember the tens of thousands of stockholders and the many millions of dollars represented by the film corporation. His worries also included Miss Harlow's unexpired contract, her half completed current film, which today was marking time, and her as yet only partly distributed finished pictures. Mayer's studio stands to collect or lose millions of dollars in the next year's time.

All this may have flashed through the magnate's mind as he pointed to Dr. Jones' cable and commented merely that the physician's statement, whatever it is, will have to count for itself when the time comes.

Bello, Miss Harlow's stepfather, said, "It is untrue that Paul and Jean ever quarreled, as it has been said they did, over deeding to Mrs. Bello and myself the Easton drive home that Paul deeded her as a wedding gift. Why, already I have more than Paul had. There would have been no reason whatever for giving us the house.

Tells of Suicide Threat.

"I have been informed that several of Bern's close relatives committed suicide. Had I known this, I never would have approved of the marriage. I have been told that only three weeks ago, Paul said he did not expect to live out a normal span of life, but might end it all.

"If I had known this," Bello said bitterly, "everything might now have been different."

Miss Harlow's stepfather said that Bern and Miss Harlow had never quarreled, to his knowledge. He said that it was on Bern's suggestion that Miss Harlow went to her mother's home last Saturday night to spend the night, and had stayed over with her mother on Sunday night. The reason for the couple separating for two days, Bello said, was because Miss Harlow had been working late at night and answering morning calls at her studio, and the Bello home was nearer the film grounds than the Easton drive residence.

Bello's statement that many of Bern's close kin had taken their own lives was supported by information at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio, where both Bern and his wife were employed. At the studio offices it was said that Bern's mother, and three of his sisters, had ended their own lives. A fourth sister, Mrs. William Marcus of Los Angeles, and one brother, Henry Bern of New York, who is flying here to attend the coroner's inquest on Thursday, are the only members of the family now surviving. Henry Bern is due by air tomorrow.

Arrange for Funeral.

Mrs. Marcus was declared to be too prostrated to talk over funeral arrangements today. Due to her incapacity, arrangements for the funeral and the inquest were taken over by several of Bern's friends of the film industry, Irving Thalberg, David Selznick, John Gilbert and Louis B. Mayer.

In spite of the young widow's desire that the ceremony be as quiet and private as possible, the great number of the dead man's friends and the fact that public curiosity leaped avidly at the sensational and unusual circumstances of the suicide held up the completion of final funeral arrangements.

Victor Fleming, directing the film, "Red Dust," in which Miss Harlow was starring, today laid plans to proceed with scenes in which Miss Harlow was not needed, for the next ten days. Miss Harlow recently was placed under a seven year contract to the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film company, with contract provisions that her employment might be ended at the conclusion of any particular year. Whether she will go on in films will be determined in the future, it was said.

She is expected to inherit considerable wealth from Bern in addition to the realty and valuables that Bern made over to her in their two months of matrimony.

Brother Reaches Kansas City.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Henry Bern, New Rochelle, N. Y., business man, arriving here tonight by airplane on his way "to help with the investigation" of the death of his brother, Paul Bern, said it was difficult for him to conceive that his brother committed suicide. He added, however, that "any man will commit suicide with provocations. He [Paul] lived under tension always," Bern said. "Tension, tension, almost unbearable tension. I have seen him work. I know."

"Motives?" Bern put the question to himself. "I know none. Most of the things that have been said about motives probably are untrue."

Upholds Barring Radical Magazine from the Mails

New York, Sept. 6.—(AP)—The barring from the mails of two issues of the American Freeman, a radical magazine published by the Haldeman-Julius Publishing company, was upheld today by Federal Judge Robert L. Patterson.

SHERIFF TO TAKE FURNITURE OF GLORIA SWANSON

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—Sheriff's deputies today were empowered to remove the taffeta curtains from Gloria Swanson's barroom, take away her Napoleon plates, Pompeian coffee table, 17th century map of Paris, and other luxurious household appurtenances, all except one bed, one wash stand and one chair.

The court in dissolving a restraining order obtained by the actress' lawyers, permitted removal of the effects in order to satisfy a judgment against Miss Swanson for the unpaid balance on $60,000 worth of furniture. Miss Swanson had contended her expensive furniture was necessary to an actress in that it surrounded one with the visual appearance of success, and placed one in the proper mood to perform an actress' functions.

Faded colors, ruined fabrics

—the tragic consequence of using cheapened soap flakes!

Community Drive worker... veteran golfer and horsewoman... charming hostess, entertaining in her lovely antique-furnished home with gracious ease.

Things cheap to buy are often fearfully expensive—cheapened soap flakes, for example! Often such flakes contain free lye and other harsh ingredients ... and oh, the damage they can do to dainty colors, beautifully fashioned fabrics!

Wise women know this danger—take no chances. They entrust their costly washables to no other soap or flakes but American Family. Because it's pure! Because it's safe! Because it saves them countless dollars!

In Chicago, Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen says: "We've used American Family for years—I could almost say by the carload. Because with this soap I never have to worry about things fading or shrinking or going to pieces, as I've heard women say of their silks and linens. In the kitchen, too, this is the best all-round cleanser imaginable. Things come clean almost the minute they touch the suds."

In Grand Rapids, Mrs. Eber W. Irwin testifies: "I really couldn't afford to have my lingerie, tub silks and chiffon hosiery laundered in any but this double-sudsing soap. It's so gentle with them they never fade—and they wear for just ages."

In Milwaukee, Mrs. F. Gordon McGeoch adds: "And how these rich suds do hustle through dishwashing. Silver, crystal, china sparkle in no time—without the least polishing. We always order both American Family Flakes and Soap by the dozen packages."

Why risk your precious clothes in the ruthless suds of cheap, lye-laden flakes? Why invite destruction to your costly washables ... when American Family is not only safe but easily the most economical flakes you can buy.

Use it exclusively, and save the fresh new beauty of your clothes ... save those dollars thrown away in ruined garments ... save those hours of leisure stolen from you by sluggish soaps!

Created especially for the hard water of this Great Lakes region, American Family makes double the suds of ordinary soaps. And it's the pure, rich double-suds that makes the difference!

ARREST VETERAN SAFECRACKER IN VAULT ROBBERY

James Morton, 3 Companions Seized in Cicero.

CRIMINAL COURT.
Joseph Mikula, obtaining money by false pretenses, sentenced to 1 year in the Bridewell; Dan Walsh, burglary; sentenced to 1 to 10 years in Pontiac reformatory by Judge John Fryzielski.

James Morton, 43 years old, safecracker who has served terms in nine penitentiaries in the United States, and three companions were held last night at the detective bureau as suspects in the burglary Saturday of the safe deposit vault of Koch & Co., 2603 South Halsted street.

The four men were arrested Monday night in Morton's basement flat at 1850 South 61st avenue, Cicero, in which police confiscated an elaborate equipment of safeblowers' tools. The other prisoners and the addresses which they gave are William Evans, 35 years old, 1546 South St. Louis avenue, whom police had known as a pal of the late George (Red) Barker; Charles Conroy, 25 years old, 3939 West 22nd street; and Willie Conroy, 46 years old, 5631 West Madison street, a brother of Charles. Charles Conroy and Evans also have prison records.

Suspected in Forgery.

Wire tapping operatives of the state's attorney's office had had Morton's flat under surveillance for the last month, and the four men were arrested originally as suspects in the forgery of county tax warrants. Discovery of the safecrackers' tools, with the previous records of the men, led police to believe that they were implicated in the Koch burglary.

The arrests were made by Roy Arnold and Stephen O'Meara, investigators for the state's attorney, Deputy Chief of Detectives Walter Storms and a squad of Cicero police. The four men were viewed by members of the two families who were held captive for 14 hours by the Koch burglars, but they were unable to identify them.

This, however, did not free the prisoners from suspicion. The witnesses saw only two of the eight men who looted the vault, and they were not permitted to see the expert members of the gang who handled the acetylene torch which burned the way into the vault. A tank of gas used for such torches was found in Morton's flat.

Names Are Withheld.

Names of the renters of boxes in the vault were withheld from police yesterday, mainly at the request of the boxholders themselves, officials of the company said. Supervising Captain John Prendergast, in charge of the southwest side police area, said 337 rented boxes had been looted and 62 empty boxes opened, but no estimate was obtained of the amount of loot except a rough guess that it would exceed $100,000.

Many victims of the burglary called at the vaults yesterday. These are in the rear of a real estate office operated by Frank J. Koch and Arnold H. Brautigam, which was opened by Franz Koch, father of Frank, fifty years ago. A number of residents of the neighborhood had their life savings in the boxes, and it was said two west side aldermen and other politicians rented boxes there.

Gus Wendling, former Republican committeeman of the 11th ward, was among those who called there yesterday.

"My 91 year old mother, Mrs. Joseph Fritsch, who lives at 3301 South Morgan street, had $2,900 in the vault," he said. "She had saved it over many years and had intended to use it to have masses said for her after she dies. The loss of it may cause her death."

Put Savings in Box.

Another loser was Adam Zembroski, 70 years old, 307 Hamilton avenue. He said he came here from Poland 43 years ago and worked as a cabinetmaker in Pullman and later opened a fish store at 2545 South Halsted street.

"I saved and finally bought the building in which I had my store. Now I am old and can work no more. I had my savings in three banks. They closed. What I had left I put in this safe box. I knew Koch like a brother and I was sure my money was safe. Now it is the end. I have seen men walking the streets begging dimes. What else can I do? There is a mortgage on my building and my wife is sick."

Constance Binney Weds Lawyer

CONSTANCE BINNEY (MRS. HENRY WHARTON JR.).

Recently Divorced

New York, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Constance Binney, former stage star, and Henry Wharton Jr., a Philadelphia lawyer, were married at the city chapel today by Deputy City Clerk James J. McCormick. Archibald Jackson of Scarsdale, N. Y., was the only witness. The actress and Charles E. Cotting, Boston banker whom she married five years ago, were divorced recently at Reno.

Miss Binney retired, after a brief but unusually successful stage and screen career, to marry Cotting. The actress made her first big success in "Oh, Lady, Lady," and later appeared in "39 East" and "Here Comes The Bride."

In her divorce suit she charged Cotting with extreme cruelty. They effected a property settlement out of court.

Wharton is the son of Henry Wharton, president of the Pocahontas Coal company of Philadelphia.

PROBES REPORTS OF OFFERS TO FIX CITY CONTRACTS

Sprague Told of Proposal to Coal Dealers.

With bids for contracts to supply the city with coal for the remainder of the year scheduled to be opened on Sept. 16, Col. A. A. Sprague, commissioner of public works, yesterday gave his attention to reports of offers alleged to have been made to coal companies that usually compete for the city business.

It is reported that the offers have been made by a person who says that he is a representative of a large contractors supply company. He offered, according to the reports, to get the city contracts for those he visited, to see that the city pays its coal bills promptly, and to soften the severity of the tests to which the coal is subjected. In return he asked for payment to his company of 5 cents a ton on all coal delivered to the city.

Sprague Seeks Information.

"I would like to have more information on this," said Col. Sprague in discussing the reports. "If they are true it is evident that this party is promising to something that he cannot deliver.

"As for the bidding, the contract must be let to the lowest responsible bidder. In the past bids have been submitted in which could be detected a purpose to make one bidder low and the others high, but I have always rejected those bids. And, as for the ash and moisture content tests provided for in the specifications, there will be no tinkering with them."

The city purchases more than $800,000 worth of coal each year for use at the pumping stations, fire and police stations and other municipal buildings. It buys coal on the basis of the number of heat units furnished by one cent's worth. The price averages approximately $2.50 a ton.

The City Specifications.

The city specifications provide a limit on the ash and moisture content of the coal. If the amount of ash runs over the specified limit the coal dealer is penalized, and a reduction is made in the price of the coal for moisture over the percentage set up in the specifications.

Payment for coal has been slow, according to City Controller Szymczak's records. Unpaid coal vouchers totaling approximately $200,000 are being held in the controller's office.

ROBS WOMAN IN HER HOME.

A robber, described as 6 feet 2 inches tall, yesterday held up Mrs. Mary Jerding in her apartment building at 7111 Merrill avenue and forced her to surrender $230 she had collected from tenants.

THREE MEN CONFESS WHOLESALE FORGING OF PAY ROLL CHECKS

Three men were arrested yesterday by state's attorney's detectives and confessed the wholesale forging of pay roll checks. The prisoners are Richard Lanhauer, 32 years old, 2616 Hampden court, an ex-convict; La Vern Beauvers, 29 years old, 417 South Oak Park avenue, Oak Park, and Joseph Holmes, 41 years old, 507 Deming place.

Chief Investigator Pat Roche of the state's attorney's office said the men had passed 13 checks totaling $1,000 in Chattanooga, Tenn.; Atlanta, Ga., and Birmingham, Ala. These checks were drawn on Montgomery Ward & Co. and the men had made photostatic copies of checks of Swift & Co., the Chicago and North Western railroad, the Wilson Packing company, and the Hefner commission company in preparation for a more ambitious campaign, Roche said.

The arrests were made on complaint of the Rapid Engraving company, 527 South Wells street, where Lanhauer had taken a photostatic copy of a Swift & Co. check to have an engraving made. Officials there became suspicious and the state's attorney's office was notified.

Detectives Walter Wendt and Leonard Nevins arrested Lanhauer when he called for the completed plate. Beauvers was seized outside the engraving company and led the detectives to the third member of the gang, Holmes.

Lanhauer confessed that he originated the idea for the plot. He interested Beauvers, who was employed at the Quick Service Box company, 3701 South Ashland avenue, of which Beauvers' father is an officer. According to investigators, Beauvers stole checks of concerns with which the box company did business.

ONE IS CHARGED WITH ARSON IN BLAST MYSTERY

Frank Marino, 2028 La Crosse avenue, was charged with arson yesterday and two others were held for further questioning by Fire Attorney Thomas J. Sheehan and Police Lieutenant David Fitzgerald, who are investigating three mysterious explosions and fires that occurred in the Cragin district over the holidays. A fourth blaze of mysterious origin broke out yesterday in the district, strengthening the belief of the investigators that an arson ring is at work.

SCHOOL LAWYERS URGE REPEAL OF N.S.F. CHECK LAW

Want Legislature to Act in Special Session.

Attorneys for the board of education will recommend to that body today that the provision for the payment of teachers by "N. S. F." checks be repealed at the special session of the legislature. Outright repeal of this legislation will go a long way toward clarifying the teachers' pay situation in Chicago, according to Ralph Condee, assistant school attorney.

Mr. Condee made the announcement of the law department's stand yesterday afternoon at a meeting with attorneys and representatives of several teachers' organizations. He also presented a substitute proposal, which would leave the issuance of N. S. F. checks to the discretion of boards of education. This plan was discarded at the behest of the teachers' representatives.

Present at Conference.

Those attending the conference included Ald. Wiley W. Mills [37th], attorney for the Chicago High School Teachers' association; I. T. Greenacre and Thomas Mason, attorneys for the Chicago Teachers' federation; Leo Hasenauer, attorney for the Chicago Federation of Women High School Teachers; Aaron Kline, president of the Principals' club, and R. R. Smith, Chicago representative of the Illinois State Teachers' association.

"We will have to consult our clients," said Ald. Mills at the conclusion of the conference. "They are not certain whether they want a repeal or change in the law."

The N. S. F. check provision was an amendment to the general revenue act and was enacted at the special session last spring by the passage of Senate bill 152. This legislation provided that "the taxes for the educational purposes of any school district may also be collected in the orders or warrants payable out of the educational fund for the wages of teachers and other employes of the board of education."

Banks Reject Warrants.

After the law was adopted Chapman and Cutler, security experts, advanced an opinion that the "N. S. F." checks would impair the value of tax anticipation warrants. Subsequently, the Supreme court upheld the validity of the law. However, the banks, relying on the opinion of the security experts, have refused to buy the 1932 tax anticipation warrants of the school board and payment of salaries has been blocked.

Another measure that the school attorneys have drafted for the special session has to do with bonds. Mr. Condee explained that the school board will be obligated to the extent of $4,200,000 on bond interest and redemption Jan. 1. The measure would empower the board to call upon the city council to issue warrants in order to obtain cash for the payment of the obligations.

An emergency clause was tacked on both the repeal and the bond measures by the law departments in order to make the legislation, if passed, effective at once.

While the school attorneys wrestled with legal difficulties, the school administration prepared for the opening of the schools on Monday. The new Smyser elementary school at Montrose and Melvina avenues, which has a capacity of 1,116 pupils, will be operated on an experimental basis, according to Superintendent William J. Bogan. Under this plan stress is placed on individual development.

Runaway Silver Fox Is Recaptured Near Its Home

Tootsie, a silver fox which had been sought since Saturday when it chewed its way out of a cage at the rear of Ben Ruhig's fur shop at 1059 Argyle street, was returned home yesterday. The fox was found Monday by Summerdale police near the store.

POLICEMAN USES GUILE; GETS GUN; SHOOTS ROBBER

Policeman John Boyle of the Stanford avenue station, off duty and in civilian dress, stopped his automobile last night at 53d street and Blackstone avenue. A colored holdup man stepped forward, threw open the door of the car and demanded money.

"I'll have to get out to reach my money," said the policeman.

As he left his seat, Boyle drew his pistol from the holster. The Negro, although armed, fled when he saw the weapon. Boyle pursued him to 53d street and Harper avenue, where he fired, striking the fugitive in the back. He was taken to the Chicago hospital, where his wounded was described as serious. He was identified as Frank Johnson, 31, of 6505 Evans avenue.

ASSEMBLY MAY HEAR POMERENE ON R. F. C. LOANS

May Be Invited to Attend Special Session.

Atlee Pomerene, chairman of the board of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, may be invited to appear before the special session of the Illinois general assembly which begins its official existence this afternoon.

Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg of the 13th district, one of the leaders of the house, said yesterday that he was seriously considering the introduction of a resolution inviting the former Ohio senator to appear before a joint session of the two chambers at the earliest date possible and explain specifically the attitude of the Reconstruction corporation on the question of additional relief funds for Illinois.

E. J. SCHACKENBERG.

Schnackenberg said he would present such a resolution if the suggestion received encouragement from his fellow members. Representative Michael L. Igoe, minority leader, was told of the plan and immediately said he would support it. It is believed the suggestion will receive general approval.

Reported Willing to Appear.

"At a conference held during state fair week," said Representative Schnackenberg, 'we were told by Corporation Counsel Sexton and by DeWitt Billman of the legislative reference bureau that former Senator Pomerene told them he was willing to appear before the assembly and explain the attitude of the Reconstruction Finance corporation in reference to furnishing funds to the various states for the purpose of relief.

"Congress appropriated $300,000,000 for that purpose and so far as we can learn here it intended that the money should be made available immediately where the need for it is extreme. Yet the representatives of Illinois who went to Washington with proof that the state has gone a great distance to meet the emergency and with a request for substantial aid were told that Illinois must show first that it has exhausted all its resources before it can claim its full allotment of the appropriation.

Position of R. F. C. Board.

"Chairman Pomerene was quoted as saying that was his position and that he was authorized to say that it was the position of the board. In other words, apparently, a flat rule has been laid down and it is one that it is almost impossible to comply with arithmetically.

"I mean by that that nobody can say without an exhaustive and expensive investigation just what are the resources of a state for relief and just when they have been exhausted. Illinois has gone much further than many other states and has received only $9,000,000 from the federal appropriation. On the basis of population it is entitled to 18 millions, and on the basis of its needs it is entitled to 30 or 40 millions.

"This is not a dole to the states under the control of one man but an appropriation of an emergency character. I feel that the funds should not be tied up by an arbitrary rule which the states cannot meet on short notice. If Mr. Pomerene is willing to tell us just what we can do to meet his demands I'm in favor of asking him to do so."

Obstacles to Revenue Acts.

Representative Schnackenberg also discussed the difficulty of enacting new revenue measures in the three legislative weeks possible before Oct. 1, when the present relief funds will be exhausted.

"Take the sales tax, for example," he said. "There is decided opposition to it that probably will take definite form. In addition to the thousands of families now receiving relief there are many other thousands who need relief but have not asked it.

"Add a 2 per cent sales tax to their burdens and they will crash and have to have relief. It would increase the demand far beyond its present extent."

The legislator went on to say that it will be extremely difficult to pass any new revenue measure at this time and his views on this were supported by Minority Leader Igoe.

EX-PUBLIC DEFENDER IS FOUND GUILTY OF MURDERING WOMAN

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Frank J. Egan, ousted public defender, and Albert Tinnin, his ex-convict associate, were convicted today of the murder of Mrs. Jessie Scott Hughes. The jury recommended life imprisonment. The jury had deliberated 72 hours and 10 minutes. Notice of appeal was filed.

Joseph E. Dalmon, laundry owner, delivered the jury verdict as foreman.

The state charged Egan, former public defender, ordered Tinnin and Verne Doran, young paroled burglar, to kill Mrs. Hughes so that Egan, in financial difficulties, might benefit from her estate. Doran gave state's evidence, testifying that he and Tinnin slugged Mrs. Hughes at her home, ran an automobile over her body in her garage, and then left the body in a street to make it appear she was the victim of a hit and run driver.

The defense contended Doran alone was guilty and had implicated Egan and Tinnin to save himself. Doran faces trial later.

Before the jury came in Judge Frank H. Dunne announced he would appoint Acting Public Defender Gerald Kenny to represent Egan in place of Attorney Vincent Hallinan, who was found guilty of contempt of court during the final arguments and barred from further participation in the case.

Head of Company Sues Brother and Attorney

Michael P. Masterson, head of the Cowing Pressure Relieving Joint company, manufacturers of a building joint, filed the praecipe of a $250,000 damage suit in the Circuit court against his brother, Peter Masterson, 6445 Lakewood avenue, Mrs. Rose Wise Cowing, 4743 North Lincoln avenue, and Attorney Thomas Hart Fisher yesterday. Mrs. Cowing is the widow of John P. Cowing, inventor of the joint. Peter Masterson is trustee and holder of the Cowing patents and Attorney Fisher is counsel for Mrs. Cowing in a $280,000 suit against Michael Masterson which now is being heard before a master-in-chancery.

Rugby Captain Rescues 8 Swimmers; Own Life Saved

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Dr. Angus D. McLachlin, captain of the University of Western Ontario's rugby team, was revealed today as the rescuer of eight swimmers from an undertow in Lake Erie yesterday. After his last plunge into the undertow, during which he saved two by holding them up until a lifeboat had been launched, McLachlin had to be rescued himself.

MOTORSHIP'S USE OF CANAL POINTS TO SEAWAY BOONS

Craft Makes Its 24th Trip of Season.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Commercial navigation of the Sag canal already has started, betokening activities in preparation for the opening of the Illinois waterway, which is nearing completion. The motorship, Material Service, which cost half a million dollars, made its 24th trip of the season yesterday from Lockport on the sanitary canal to Harlem avenue and the Sag channel, bearing 2,700 tons of sand and gravel. It is the first use for large tonnages of the Sag channel which eventually will be the outlet of the industrial harbor to be created in the Calumet district.

The $500,000 motorship, owned by the Leathem Smith-Putnam Navigation company, is a pioneer development in waterway and lake navigation. It is 250 feet long, with a 40 foot beam and a 15 foot moulded depth. It was built at Sturgeon Bay, Wis., three years ago, and is equipped with Winton Diesel engines. It piles not only the sanitary canal and the Sag channel, but it goes out into Lake Michigan and delivers cargoes at Michigan City, Benton Harbor, Kenosha, Waukegan, South Chicago, and Indian Harbor.

Its capacity is 2,400 tons, but on the Sag canal the load is lighter, as the channel does not permit a draft of more than 12 feet.

Has Loading Facilities.

The ship carries its own terminal facilities, for it is equipped with self-unloading devices, conveyors, and apparatus that washes the gravel as it is unloaded. All a shipper needs is an unloading site on the bank, and a steamshovel to load the materials into trucks; the ship does the rest. It loads by machinery and unloads the same way, and in its hold it carries more machinery than most of the great lake freighters. Its operations are thus so elastic that it can deliver cargoes almost anywhere along the bank, at spots most convenient to the construction job for which the cargo is to be used, saving much haulage by truck.

It can unload 2,400 tons in three hours, and it can handle any kind of coarse cargo—sand, cement, coal, gravel, sulphur, or grain.

The cruise yesterday started from the Paul Ales gravel plant at Lockport and ended at Harlem avenue, seven miles up the Sag channel, where the building material was delivered to the Material Service corporation for use on a road job. Up the sanitary canal the ship plowed along in the wake of an oil barge at five miles an hour. Out on Lake Michigan it has a speed of ten miles. Up the Sag, which is only 60 feet through the rock cut, the speed averaged about a mile and a half an hour.

Plan to Widen Channel.

The government is planning widening of the Sag as part of the contemplated industrial harbor development near the Illinois-Indiana line.

Capt. C. D. Brown, master of the motorship, has sailed the great lakes and the St. Lawrence for 45 years, and as a sailing master is familiar with all the ports from Quebec to St. Joseph, Mich. The chief engineer, Odin Johnson, is reputed to know all there is to know about Diesel engines. The ship carries a crew of 24 men, and in the galley is one of the best cooks on the great lakes.

To avoid the opening of bridges, the unloading apparatus is put down flat between ports, and the motorship can go under any bridge with a 16 foot clearance. Coming from Lockport to the mouth of the Chicago river, the only bridges it opens are at Kedzie, State, Harrison, and Canal streets and the Pennsylvania railroad bridge.

Plans are now being prepared by the Leathem Smith-Putnam Navigation company for a new boat for use after the opening of the Illinois waterway. It is to have broader beam and lighter draft—a 3,000 ton capacity on a 9 foot draft.

Capt. Brown, who sailed the lakes in the old days of the lumber schooners, holds that one result of the opening of the waterway should be a development of water borne commerce between the ports along the route as well as long haul business to the market terminals.

"The possibilities are without limit," he said. "For one thing boats with refrigeration would enable producers of eggs, butter, poultry, and kitchen produce, fruits and early vegetables to reach markets at low transportation cost which now are closed to them."

ACT TO TAKE OVER APARTMENT BLDG. FOR TAX DEBTS

Attorney for County to Bid at Foreclosure Sale.

The county board yesterday gave Edward M. Winston, special tax attorney, authority for action which will in effect put the county and other local governments and the state in the real estate business.

Attorney Winston was given authority to bid in the Aquitania apartments, 832 Argyle street, at a foreclosure sale on a tax judgment today for the amount of the delinquent tax bill, $163,000. If there are no bids the county will be given a master's certificate to the property.

This will be held by the county as trustee for all of the taxing bodies which have bills for unpaid taxes against the building. Bondholders and owners of the original equity in the building will then have two years in which to redeem the certificate held by the county. If it is not redeemed within that period, the county, as trustee, will be given a master's deed, giving it clear title to and possession of the apartment building.

$1,200,000 Bonds Issued.

The foreclosure is for unpaid taxes from 1924 to 1927. The building, built shortly before the beginning of the tax delinquency period, was covered by a mortgage bond issue which originally amounted to $1,200,000.

County Assessor Jacobs appeared before the county board and obtained permission to transfer $40,000 originally appropriated for printing neighborhood lists of real estate assessments and mailing them to property owners, to the employment of extra help and payment of overtime in preparing personal property assessment rolls for 1931.

The personal property rolls will contain between 850,000 and 900,000 names, about three times as many as those included in any previous assessment, Assessor Jacobs said. He added that the real estate assessments will not be in condition for mailing notices to property owners during the present year.

Tax Books to County Clerk.

Under the law reorganizing the tax assessment system the assessor sends his books directly to the county clerk, who extends the taxes and prepares tax bills for the first half of the tax. After this is done, the books are sent to the board of tax appeals. Taxpayers who obtain adjustments in assessments from that board will receive the benefit of them in paying the second installment of their taxes.

The county commissioners yesterday adopted a resolution introduced by Commissioner George A. Miller expressing the appreciation of the board to the family of Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick for her gift to the county of 83 acres of land near Riverside for the county zoological park.

The board adopted the resolution of Commissioner LaBuy recommending an amendment to the state constitution at the special session to allow all the 147 Chicago parks to be merged into one district as a means of reducing governmental expenditures. Copies of the resolution will be sent to Gov. Emmerson. At the same time the board passed Commissioner LaBuy's resolution to introduce a bill for a sales tax.

IRELAND FIDGETS AS THREE ARMIES FACE EACH OTHER

Two Independent; Third Interested in Music.

BY HUGH CURRAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Sept. 6.—Disarmament conferences do not seem to mean a thing in Ireland these days, where the cry is rather "bigger and better armies." Two of them, the official Free State army and the unofficial Irish republican army, have existed side by side for the last ten years. A third has been formed within the last three weeks, and nobody seems certain under just what heading, legal or illegal, it may be classed.

The latest army is known as the Volunteer wing, attached to the Old Comrades' association, an organization sympathetic to former President Cosgrave and opposed to President de Valera. Recruiting has been so enthusiastic that it is announced that organizers will be necessary in each county to cope with the supply of raw material.

The three forces are known as the Green, the Red, and the White armies.

Official Army Noted for Music.

The Green army is the official Free State army, serving now, with somewhat mixed feelings, under the De Valera government—after ten uninterrupted years of Cosgrave's administration. It is 5,000 strong, and is chiefly noted for the excellence of the music dispensed by the army music school, under the direction of Col. Fritz Brase, formerly of the German army.

It dates its origin from the period following the Anglo-Irish treaty in 1922, when, under the late Gen. Michael Collins, it fought and defeated the anti-Free State irregular army under De Valera. It has since rested on the laurels won in that civil war, and save for an occasional mutiny among the officers, has behaved itself and concentrated upon music.

The Red army, also known as the Irish republican army, the irregulars and sometimes just the gunmen, after their defeat remained under arms secretly, although the Cosgrave government had placed it under official ban. On gaining power, De Valera dissolved this decree.

White Army Opposes Communism.

Officially the White army is a noncombative organization directed to opposition to the spread of communism.

The situation is fraught with highly interesting possibilities. Three armies stand assembled within the confines of the nation. Only one of them has a legal right to represent itself as an army at all. If the other two get to fighting, will the official army be ordered to train its guns on the other two? And will it obey the orders?

And if all three armies are involved in one big fight, what spoils go to the victor?

GREAT BRITAIN SLOWLY SINKING INTO OCEAN, SCIENTIST DECLARES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 6.—London is slowly sinking into the clay beds forming the substrata on which the city rests. The Bank of England is 7 inches lower than it was 65 years ago. St. Paul's cathedral is tilting so alarmingly that it is bound to fall eventually, and the new London county council building on the bank of the Thames will rise and fall with the tides.

These statements were made today by Capt. T. E. Longfield of the ordinance survey before the British Association for the Advancement of Science at York.

Indeed, the whole of Great Britain is settling into the sea, according to Capt. Longfield, at a rate of 9 inches every 100 years. The cliffs along the coast at one time were 70 feet higher than they are now, he said.

"The evidence seems conclusive that the level at the high tide 2,000 years ago must have been 15 feet lower, relative to the land surface, than at present," he declared.

CENTRAL EUROPE ASKS U. S. TO CUT INTEREST RATES

Also Seeks Permission to Evade Trade Pacts.

[Copyright, 1932, By the New York Times.]

STRESA, Italy, Sept. 6.—The central European states which together with the great European powers are meeting here in an effort to work out a scheme for their economic and financial rehabilitation, disclosed a certain measure of unanimity today at the second session of the conference.

It is expected that they will reach an agreement to grant agrarian preferences to those central European countries that export agricultural products and also to reduce the rates of interest on their foreign debts.

It would then rest with the United States, Argentina and Canada whether these preferences, openly designed to give the European grain producer a preferred position in European markets, should be exempted, as desired, from the most favored nation clauses of those nations' trade treaties with Europe.

U. S. Wields Large Powers.

Since she is by far the largest individual investor in central Europe, the United States will also be able to exercise a large power of veto over the proposed debt arrangements.

There are no delusion on this point among the delegates here. M. Madgearu, Rumanian minister of trade, today asked:

"How do the Americans think they can get their money out of Europe if they do not allow the European states to have these special preferences? Rumania has continued paying until she has now not only an unfavorable balance of payments but also of trade with the United States."

Italy Backs Favored Treatment.

The most favored nation clause produced one champion today in the person of Senator de Michelis, Italy's chief delegate. Italy, he said, held fast to the most-favored nation principle.

Italy is willing to hear all propositions, but will examine them on the basis, first, of whether they damage Italian interests, and, second, whether they damage those of third parties, he said. De Michelis made it evident that the third parties he had in mind were the United States, Canada and Argentina.

Adam Rose of Poland, on behalf of his own country, Estonia, Lattvia, Hungary, Rumania, Czechoslovakia, Juro-Slavia an Bulgaria, today presented resolutions adopted recently at Warsaw by those countries. These resolutions proposed the abolition of trade restrictions, the granting by creditor states to debtor states of trade quotas large enough to permit them to discharge their debts in goods, grants of agricultural preferences, the creation of a fund to relieve banks embarrassed by uncollectable agrarian debts and the creation of an international mortgage bank and also of an international agrarian bank.

AS YOU DESIRE ME to make skin as you desire it

this much OLIVE OIL goes into each cake of Palmolive →

RUN your finger tips over your face. Answer yourself, honestly: does your skin feel smooth, soft, delicate? Does it speak instantly of youth? Does it fulfill your own ideas of beauty? Then how can you really appeal to others?

Youth can be yours

Every woman can have a young, inviting skin. Don't doubt that, for one minute. Experts insist that you...whatever your age . . . can keep your skin firm, yet yielding; smooth, soft, simply by following a daily treatment they outline.

Beautify with olive oil

Use olive oil in soap. Use it in Palmolive Soap, say more than 20,000 experts. Because Palmolive alone makes generous use of that invaluable beauty ingredient—olive oil. Work that fine, youth-fostering lather right into the skin. Use plenty of cold water for rinsing. Keep your skin clean, refreshed, revived by this daily care. Use Palmolive for the whole body. Remember, complexions do not end with the face and throat.

Watch skin-charm return

Then, watch the renewed youth of your skin. Surely, definitely there will be new softness, new bloom. Because that is what Palmolive brings. You will then have the key to skin-charm . . . that alluring something which makes you keeps you desirable.

AN ACTUAL PHOTOGRAPH
Palmolive contains only vegetable oils—no artificial coloring. Photo shows actual amount of olive oil that goes into each 10c cake.

There were all kinds of smoking tobaccos

. . . tobaccos made for cigarettes and pipes; granulated tobaccos. But there was plenty of room for a tobacco made solely for pipes.

If you will look on the packages of tobacco, you will find that a great many of them say "for pipe and cigarettes"; but look at the Granger package! It says:

GRANGER ROUGH CUT
Pipe Tobacco

Granger is made of the best pipe tobacco that grows. It is made by Wellman's Method. It is cut right for pipes—rough cut. It burns slower and is a cooler smoke. Just try it!

THOMAS STOPS FALLING HAIR

Hair in your comb and brush means that your scalp is not physically able to withstand the ravishing attacks of the baldness producing germs. Unless you immediately rid your scalp of these causes of abnormal hair fall, you are bound to become bald.

Thomas treatment overcomes the causes of falling hair and gently stimulates the tiny glands, deep in the scalp, which cause hair to grow normally. When Thomas treatment starts, hair fall stops, dandruff ends and hair grows again as Nature intended it should grow. Thomas treatment is reliable, dignified and proved by more than 16 years of success. BERLIN, Sept. 6.—"Germany will not participate in disarmament negotiations until the equality in armaments which was promised her in the Versailles treaty is guaranteed. Should it be impossible to negotiate directly with France on this point, this new situation will make it necessary for the German government to make other decisions."

This statement was issued today by Baron Konstantin von Neurath, German foreign minister, in connection with the publication of the text of the German "aide memoire" to France on armaments.

The document, which asks for equality in armaments, was handed to the French ambassador, Andre François-Poncet, last week.

Demand for Treaty Rights.

Von Neurath explained that the purpose of its publication is to "prove to the world that Germany is not clamoring for an increase in armaments but only for equality of rights as provided in the Versailles treaty."

"If heavily armed nations will not reduce armaments," he said, "it is a distortion of the truth to speak of Germany's thirst for military power when she declares that her equality rights can be achieved only through modification of her present military system.

"It is futile to try to console us with a promise that in the course of years disarmament of other nations will be achieved and our equality thus reached. We have waited for it for more than ten years. The question of our equality of rights must be settled. Nobody can expect Germany to be satisfied by further discrimination incompatible with her honor and security."

In the "aide memoire" Germany demands that she be allowed to possess the same categories of arms as other nations. She also asks a reduction of the term of service of her soldiers, which is now 12 years, freedom in the organization of an army, and the right to train militia to keep internal order and to serve as border guards and coast guards.

An Appeal to France.

"The German government will take due consideration of the financial situation in the reich in carrying out the proposed measures," the "aide memoire" promised the French.

It concluded with an appeal to France to recognize the "loyal and moderate character of Germany's intentions.

"It will greatly help clear the political atmosphere if military discrimination against Germany is removed, since it is felt as a humiliation by Germans and prevents the establishment of a quiet balance of power in Europe," the document says.

Gen. Kurt von Schleicher, minister of defense, made several more startling assertions today as to what is going to happen unless Germany is granted equality in armaments. He spoke to newspaper men at Koenigsberg in East Prussia, punctuating his pungent remarks freely with a series of emphatic gestures.

Not Second Rate Nation.

"I mean everything I have said," Von Schleicher stormed. "We will stand no longer for being treated like a second rate nation."

Meanwhile, the date for the next round of the fight between the reichstag, headed by its National Socialist president, Hermann Goering, and Chancellor Franz von Papen's government, was set for next Monday. The new parliament will convene then for the second time to hear the chancellor present his program for economic relief.

Should the reichstag reject the Von Papen government in a no-confidence vote, the chancellor undoubtedly will order its dissolution.

France in Warning to U. S.

PARIS, Sept. 6.—(AP)—France has informed the United States that the cause of disarmament and international conditions generally would be endangered if Germany's request for arms equality were approved, it was learned today from an official source.

Indications were that Premier Herriot would eschew direct negotiations with Berlin over the German request and would transfer the issue to the league of nations and eventually to the disarmament conference.

Collusion between Germany and Italy was charged tonight in the Herriot organ Ere Nouvelle whose editorial said that just as equality rights would give Germany military supremacy, naval parity, another form of equality rights, would assure Italy hegemony in the Mediterranean.

The editorial concluded that it was doubtful if the combination would ever succeed, "for against the German-Fascist front, a Franco-Anglo-American front had been formed to defend peace and place an obstacle in the way of all nationalist enterprise."

Meanwhile the cabinet probably will meet tomorrow for another discussion of Germany's threat that she would not participate in further sessions of the disarmament conference unless she obtained satisfaction on the issue of arms equality.

Air Mail Memorial Is Placed in Grant Park

A memorial, in the form of a wooden propeller, symbolic of the heroism of air mail pilots, was placed in the Monroe street parking space in Grant park yesterday. The ceremony commemorated the flight of Edward V. Gardner, the first air mail pilot to land in Chicago. His plane grounded at the site of the marker on Sept. 6, 1918. Capt. B. B. Lipsner, first superintendent of the air mail service, was in charge of the ceremonies. Postmaster Arthur C. Lueder and William B. Carlisle, postmaster in Chicago at the time of Gardner's arrival, were present.

BRAZILIAN NAVY AIRPLANES BOMB FORT IN HARBOR

Claim to Have Wrecked It; Rebels Deny Damage.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Sept. 6.—(AP)—The ministry of marine tonight announced that seven navy planes had bombed and destroyed Fort Itaipu, at the entrance of Santos harbor.

The navy had an agreement with the Sao Paulo rebels not to indulge in hostilities, but the ministry said the rebels had machine gunned airplanes dropping manifestos over Montesserrat. Federal authorities believed the navy might now abandon its semi-neutral attitude.

A communique tonight said the federal forces had made gains towards Sao Paulo from both the north and the south. The capture of Taquery, 40 miles west of Bury, was announced. The government also claimed to have captured Megymirim, an important railroad center, from which six lines radiate, and Pinheiras. The federals claimed that increasing pressure on Cruzeiro was forcing the rebels to shift their troops southwestward.

New Clash in Gran Chaco.

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Sept. 6.—(AP)—An official communique today said that strong Paraguayan patrols had attacked a defense post protecting a small fort in the southern zone of the Gran Chaco and were repulsed and pursued by Bolivian troops.

CHICAGOANS ARE SAFE.

Assurance of the safety of Chicagoans in the zone of the revolt in Ecuador was received in a cablegram today by Paul Rader, Chicago evangelist, from Quito, Ecuador. The message came from Clarence Jones, a Chicagoan. It said:

"All safe after four days of shell fire. Please notify families."

Other Chicagoans who are in the danger zone of the revolution reported as safe after the attack in the vicinity of Quito are Mrs. Clarence Jones and their three children; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Erle Williams.

SEEK TO SETTLE LAUNDRY DISPUTE BY ARBITRATION

The laundry controversy in which two rival owners' associations and the drivers' union have waged a three cornered fight, reached the arbitration stage yesterday after a meeting of the interested groups in the state's attorney's office. A series of conferences will be held next week in the Hotel Sherman at which time efforts will be made to settle wage contract disputes with the assistance of Edwin Dumey and Charles Lounsberry, assistant state's attorneys.

The dispute centers on a split in the owners. The Laundry and Dry Cleaners association of Cook county, a newly organized group, refused to meet the demands of the drivers' union for different working conditions in return for a reduced wage scale. At present the Chicago Laundry Owners' association members are paying the drivers $30.50 a week, while the new group pays $40.50. However, the Chicago Laundry Owners' association has made certain concessions as to working conditions in return for the pay reduction.

According to union officials, the wage scale, due to the difference in work measurement, really presents a difference of only three dollars. The union officials said they were reluctant to sign a separate contract with the Cook county association, as it would mean the hiring of more business agents by the union.

ROYALIST LEADER DEMANDS OUSTER OF GREEK CHIEF

ATHENS, Greece, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Removal of Premier Venizelos from office was demanded by P. E. Tsaldaris, royalist leader, in an interview today with President Alexander Zaimis.

Rumors of a threatened coup by a military association preceded the action of the Royalist party head. Tsaldaris criticized the premier for pre-election activities which he said were carried on in collaboration with the military group. He asked the president to appoint a premier who would insure an "uninfluenced election."

The president reserved his decision until he could communicate with the veteran premier, who is soon to return from Crete.

McKEE CUTS HIS SALARY AS N. Y. MAYOR $15,000

Wins 1st Test of Strength with Tammany.

New York, Sept. 6.—[Special.]—Joseph V. McKee, New York's new mayor, emerged from an hour's conference with Budget Director Charles L. Kohler late today and announced that he was cutting his own salary as mayor from $40,000 to $25,000, and had instructed the budget director to prepare for the tentative 1933 budget a schedule under which no commissioner appointed by the mayor would receive more than $12,000.

McKee announced that he had instructed Kohler to prepare such a schedule to become effective Oct. 1. He apparently contemplates an immediate reduction of the higher bracketed appointees rather than to wait until the new budget is finally approved.

There are twenty-seven commissioners affected by the new schedule, including Kohler. McKee was asked if his order applied to the sanitation commission, headed by Dr. William Schroeder, personal friend of former Mayor Walker. "You bet it does," he replied.

McKee Beats Tammany.

Dominated by McKee, the board of estimate and apportionment was put to its first test of strength today and voted down the straight Tammany members of the board, 9 to 7.

Taking a determined stand to break the monopoly of the city printing enjoyed by the Martin B. Brown Printing and Binding company, the new mayor marshaled his forces and had the bid awarded to the Burland Printing company, the low bidder, over the protests of the straight Tammany forces in the board. McKee found support from Controller Berry and Borough Presidents Lynch of Richmond and Harvey of Queens and acting Borough President Flynn of the Bronx.

The line-up of the borough presidents behind the mayor was as unexpected as it was dramatic. Mr. McKee had not been expected to muster such strength thus early in his career as mayor.

As evidence of a changed attitude on the part of bankers toward the financial integrity of the city, McKee made arrangements for a new loan of $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 at an interest rate of 5¼ per cent instead of 5½ formerly paid by the city.

Walker Support Weakening.

While McKee was openly defying Tammany, John F. Curry, leader of the Hall, and John H. McCooey, Brooklyn chieftain, were dining together and trying to decide whether or not Walker shall be given the mayoralty nomination for the November "vindication" election.

Although previous reports were to the effect that Walker had been promised the support of Curry and McCooey if he would resign and run again, it was noteworthy that neither Curry nor McCooey would express any conviction—at least not for publication.

The Democratic leaders are now going slow in reaching their decision, because of the apparent fear that their support of Walker in face of his bitter attack on Gov. Roosevelt would split the party in this state and leave Tammany in the position of "running" out on the Democratic presidential candidate.

McCooey for Roosevelt.

McCooey particularly seems to be worried by this outlook. In fact, he conferred today with James A. Farley, state chairman and manager of Roosevelt's presidential campaign, and, according to Farley, agreed to take a desk at the Democratic headquarters and assume an active rôle in the Roosevelt campaign.

This action on McCooey's part appears to place him in a position where it would be difficult for him to support Walker's vindication fight while at the same time serving as a high mogul in the Roosevelt councils.

Nevertheless, Walker came back to town from his Labor day retreat and with smiles aplenty announced that nothing had happened to change his plans for seeking revenge on Roosevelt at the polls.

WOMAN AID OF SPENCER IS PUT ON PROBATION

Miss Constance Selbach, 26 years old, who was arrested with Harvey Raymond Spencer, now serving a six months' sentence in the Bridewell after taking photographs of girls in the nude, was placed on probation for one year yesterday by Judge Justin McCarthy in the Jury court.

Miss Selbach was charged with a statutory offense when she told police that she lived with Spencer at the Hyde Park Manor hotel, 5510 Harper avenue.

She was present in the apartment when he induced girls who answered advertisements for models to pose in the nude, police said. These photographs later were sold on the street, according to police. Spencer is married.

G.O.P. Campaign Fund in Red; Report Shows $9,000 Deficit

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—With three months of active collecting past and gone and only two months left to go the Republican campaign fund is in the red.

The report of the Republican national committee to the clerk of the house of representatives today not only showed a $9,000 deficit but it displayed a startling lack of the big contributions for which G. O. P. campaign chests have been famous.

From June 1 to Aug. 31 contribution to the Republican national committee totaled only $76,628.57. Other receipts plus cash in hand on June 1 brought the total to only $88,628.26. The committee had found it necessary therefore to negotiate a $15,000 loan from the Commercial National bank of Washington.

Expenditures Exceed Income.

Expenditures from June 1 to Aug. 31 aggregated $97,631.09 and the balance on hand Aug. 31 was $5,997.17. The difference between that balance and the $15,000 loan showed the national committee owing $9,002.83.

Of the total received in contributions $68,406 came in in donations of $100 or more, and $7,619.57 in lesser amounts. The sale of tickets and the program concession at the Chicago convention brought in $4,000, the report showed.

Several Chicagoans on List.

The largest contribution received was one of $10,000, from former Senator Lawrence C. Phipps of Denver, Colo. Among other contributors listed by the report were the following:

$6,000—Joseph R. Nutt, treasurer Republican national committee.

$2,500—E. T. Weir, Pittsburgh; Walter E. Frew, New York.

$1,000—Sanford T. Crapo, Detroit; R. W. Woodruff, Atlanta; R. A. C. Smith, New York; C. L. Bradley, Cleveland; W. A. C. Smith, Cleveland; B. C. Cobb, New York; A. G. Bean, Cleveland; A. C. Ernst, Gates Mills, O.; L. W. Blythe, Chardon, O.; R. C. Royal, Cleveland; Horace Manning, Evanston, Ill.; George D. Bailey, Grosse Point Farms, Mich.; Albert H. Denton, member U. S. shipping board.

$500—John C. Fleming, Chicago; George E. Scott, Chicago; Frederick C. Hack, Chicago; Walter H. Jacobs, Chicago; Philip Elting, collector of customs, New York; William S. Bennet, Evanston, Ill.; former Senator Henry J. Allen, Wichita, Kas.; J. C. Stewart, New York; George de B. Keim, secretary Republican national committee; Everett Sanders, chairman Republican national committee.

$100—T. Philip Swift, Chicago; John V. Farwell, Chicago.

$25—Edward J. Brundage, Chicago.

MISSING FINANCIAL AGENT OF WALKER SAID TO BE IN KANSAS CITY

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 6.—(AP)—A Kansas City lawyer and former public official said today he had been visited at his office recently by a man who stated he was Russell Sherwood, much sought reputed financial agent of former Mayor Walker of New York. The visit took place a few days before the mayor resigned.

The man was described as about 45 years old, had some gray hair, and weighed about 170 pounds. He explained he had money and asked for a place of refuge from persons he said had hounded him in old Mexico and New Mexico.

"Two detectives caught up with me on a ranch in New Mexico where I believed I was safe. The brother of the rancher was the county sheriff, and through him I escaped from the detectives by feigning illness, being taken to a hospital and fleeing from it," he was quoted by the Kansas City attorney.

A furnished apartment was given the man to stay in here, and he was assured his presence and identity would be kept secret, the lawyer added. After one night he disappeared.

FLYING FAMILY FINED $180 FOR ILLEGAL LANDING

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Sept. 6.—(AP)—George Hutchinson, American flyer leading a party of eight from New York to London over the Arctic air route, was fined 1,000 kroner [$180] by the governor of Greenland today for landing in Greenland without a permit.

The governor notified the Danish government that Hutchinson's conduct since arriving at Godthaab had been exemplary and that he had expressed sincere regret for his error. The governor said he did not know yet when the Hutchinsons would continue their flight.

The Hutchinson party includes Mrs. Hutchinson, their two small children and a crew of four.

ROOSEVELT ACTS TO SMOOTH OUT POLITICAL SNARL

Sees Upstate Leaders on Visit to Fair.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Utica, N. Y., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt was the guest of honor today at the New York state fair here, and he used the occasion to do a little missionary work towards straightening out the New York state political imbroglio.

H. H. LEHMAN. [A. P. Photo.]

The governor received Democratic leaders from Oncndaga and the surrounding counties and urged them to give their support in the gubernatorial nomination race to his friend Lieut. Gov. Herbert H. Lehman.

Tammany hall, irked at the governor's treatment of its pet, former Mayor James J. Walker, has talked of getting Lehman's scalp in revenge. The governor today was unable to get definite promises of Lehman support from the up-state leaders, but he felt satisfied things would work out. He has expressed confidence that the whole flux of difficulties in the state political picture would be ironed out, as they must be, it is believed, if Mr. Roosevelt is to romp home next November with New York's 47 electoral votes.

Another Tammany Threat.

Another Tammany threat, the removal of the Roosevelt campaign manager, James A. Farley, from his position as state Democratic chairman, apparently collapsed today, according to word received by the governor. This matter was to come up at a meeting of the state committee in Albany Friday, but it now appears that the only action which will be taken by the committee will be the picking of a convention city. The best information is that Albany will be selected, although the Roosevelt forces were understood to have preferred Buffalo.

During the morning, just as the governor was starting out by automobile for a visit to the home of his kinsman, Col. Henry L. Roosevelt, at Skaneateles, Reformer O. R. Miller, clergyman head of the Syracuse Civic Reform league, squeezed his way to the governor's car and handed him a letter protesting against betting at the fair grounds race track.

Governor Sees No Betting.

Betting is unlawful in New York state. Gov. Roosevelt did not see any betting at the track because crowds prevented his seeing the big spaces under the grandstand where the bookmakers held forth. A stroll through this betting arena showed more bookmakers than bettors, additional evidence that prosperity hasn't yet turned the corner in these parts.

The governor returned to Albany in a special car this afternoon. Tomorrow he will motor to Rutland, Vt., to attend the state fair there.

WHEN YOU TASTE HILLS BROS COFFEE, YOU'LL REALIZE THE IMPORTANCE OF PERFECT ROASTING

By preventing under-roasting and over-roasting, Hills Bros' patented process insures a perfect flavor for every pound

"A little at a time"—instead of in bulk—is the secret

Hills Bros.
The Original Vacuum Pack
Red Can Brand
COFFEE

As the accuracy of the hour-glass depends upon an even, continuous flow . . .

a little at a time

. . . so the uniform flavor of Hills Bros. Coffee is produced by Controlled Roasting — the patented process that roasts evenly, continuously . . . "a little at a time."

Did you know that roasting is largely responsible for the flavor of coffee? If coffee is under-roasted or over-roasted, it isn't so delightful and delicious as it might be.

A cup of Hills Bros. Coffee tells you what perfect roasting does . . . because you'll taste the finest flavor. Hills Bros. Coffee is always roasted to the correct degree.

Instead of roasting in bulk—the common practice—Hills Bros. use their patented Controlled Roasting process. The coffee flows through the roasters in an even, continuous stream . . . a little at a time.

Batches of several hundred pounds naturally make accurate roasting difficult. But a little at a time, continuously, removes all chances of error! The coffee-berries are brought to matchless, unvarying flavor-perfection.

Hills Bros. Coffee is packed in vacuum cans, and can't go stale. The vacuum process of packing coffee is the only method that fully preserves coffee freshness—the air is removed from the can and kept out. It was originated by Hills Bros. over thirty years ago. There is no magic about a vacuum can—it will not make poor coffee good, but it will keep good coffee fresh.

If you haven't been drinking Hills Bros. Coffee, you don't know what you're missing! Order some today. Ask for it by name, and look for the Arab trade-mark on the can.

THE FARM BOARD AND ITS NEW ECONOMIC POLICY.

The farm board, like its soviet prototype, has gone in for a new economic policy. When the soviets go NEP they revive independent initiative. But the farm board's NEP is fraudulent. It guarantees the continuance of a ruinous collectivism.

The headlines about the farm board's new policy were accurate, but somewhat misleading. The first impression was that the farm board is getting out of the market at once. That is, of course, far from the truth. The fact is that the farm board has just been granted a credit of 50 million dollars from the Reconstruction Finance corporation with which to stay in the market for many months to come. The 50 million is intended to enable the board and its subsidiaries to clean up bank loans, pay storage charges and sit tight in possession of 2 million bales of cotton, 3 million bushels of wheat, and an unstated amount of contracts for future delivery of wheat. With some qualifications, the board has given its solemn pledge to sell no wheat until after the first of next year and no cotton until after March 1, 1933.

What this pledge may be worth remains to be seen. The board in the past has not hesitated to break its word and it may do so again. Meanwhile the country may find some cause for satisfaction in the knowledge that the board is obviously short of funds, having run through the greater part of its half billion dollar stake. That is why it had to turn to the Reconstruction corporation for a dole. Presumably the board will liquidate its holdings next year when, if all goes well, finis can be written in red ink at the bottom of the ledger.

But that is still in the future and meanwhile the farm board remains. It is a white elephant for whose keep the farmers and taxpayers are going broke. As long as it has control of millions of bales of cotton and millions of bushels of wheat, which it withholds from consumption, its holdings must serve to maintain the visible supplies and therefore depress the market. The policy which the board should have adopted months ago, when it was already obvious that the jig was up, was to dispose of its holdings as rapidly as the markets would absorb them without a wide open break in prices. That policy, and only that policy, would have moved the cotton and wheat into consumption and thereby cleared the way for the new crops. As it is, the evil moment has been postponed, but it has not been avoided and cannot be avoided.

Two undisclosed matters regarding the board's new policy deserve the careful attention of a congressional committee. One is why the board, despite the enormous sums placed at its disposal, has had to turn to another government agency for more money. Was the board insolvent, and, if so, is it proper for the government as banker to rescue the government as gambler from the consequences of its folly? That is a question which should prove of particular interest to our amateur commissars, who believe that the solution of all our ills is to be found in government ownership of business enterprises.

The other question is why the liquidation of the farm board's holdings has been postponed until next year. If the loss has to be taken, and it does, what purpose is served by postponing the evil day? Why bolster prices now for the temporary benefit of those who have cotton and grain to sell, if the temporary gain is to be achieved at the expense of those people who will have cotton and grain to sell next year? One explanation for this extraordinary policy will be offered by Mr. Hoover's opponents. He will be charged with using government funds to maintain prices until after election. The answer to that charge will be awaited with more than ordinary interest.

BOREDOM AND BIGOTRY.

Another phase of the communist revolution has begun to fade out. The official mandate that all literature, or rather all attempts at creative writing, must have for theme and motive the illustration of soviet ideas and activities, the advancement of the five year plan, etc., is now modified. Romance is to be permitted and, if not counter revolutionary in the opinion of the censorship, even encouraged. An article in the official organ, Izvestia, calls for "dreams, fantasies, castles in the air, and disagreements with realities." The proletariat must of course be indoctrinated with the philosophy of Marx and Lenin, but also inspired with dreams of the future. "Millions of toilers, especially millions of young people," says Izvestia, "must dare and must dream."

This mitigation of the official ban on creating freedom was inevitable. No people could tolerate very long the canned literary fodder prescribed by the bigots and politicians of the bolshevik dictatorship. While the first ardor of the revolution lasted real literature was unimportant. Propaganda was wanted. But no people, and we think especially no people so fresh and colorful in its esthetic reactions as the Russian, could put up long with the dreadful stuff which soviet politics demanded of every writer. A Russian author already notes in the Manchester Guardian a change for the better, and the Guardian's Moscow correspondent says that the new policy "symptomizes a general tendency to make life more interesting even during the struggle to achieve industrialization."

The fact, we suspect, is that boredom is creeping into the bolshevik Utopia. No doubt it is a bourgeois reaction and therefore contemptible, but the most terrible aspect of the bolshevik Utopia, more terible than the Cheka, is its possibilities, indeed its certainties, of boredom. To stand in queues for hours, to be herded in one room tenements with uncongenial neighbors, to be harangued perpetually by party comrades and educated and edified on all occasions according to the gospel of Marx and Lenin, would seem to us a dismal change from the evils of capitalism at its worst. We cannot wonder that Romance has been summoned, like an American engineer, to come to the aid of the soviet régime. The Russian people are long enduring, but they are capable of revolt.

THE COURTS AND CRIME.

It is significant that the inauguration of a new chief justice of the Criminal court is news. The replacement of one able and respected judge by another might be ignored as a mere matter of judicial routine. But the press and the citizens of Chicago realize that the office of chief justice of the Criminal court is of first rate importance in this community and that the character of the incumbent concerns every inhabitant.

It is gratifying to find in the new chief justice the qualities of personal integrity and professional ability which the office demands. Mr. Justice Prystalski assumes very heavy responsibilities. He must be a dynamic influence in the effort to make the safeguards of the community from crime more efficient. He must be a force for making law respected and life and property secure. He confronts persistent and powerful organization with ramifications wide and deep in the life of the city, possessing powerful if surreptitious influence in politics and resources greater at this time than ever in the past. He is in the thick of a battle for law and public order, for responsible government and private safety. But he has the support of a more alert and determined citizenship than the community has often shown. His hands will be upheld, his service understood and appreciated.

There are defects in the law and administration which hamper efficient service. It is a duty of the judiciary to point them out and lead to their correction. There is no opportunity for public service greater than that which the chief justice has before him, and we do not doubt that Chief Justice Prystalski recognizes its possibilities. He has much authority to make the law feared, as it too often is not, and to give to our people the protection for which they maintain courts of justice. There are formidable and ruthless agencies always at work to entangle and defeat justice; there are misguided influences at work to weaken and to pervert it. The criminal and his aids in politics and the profession of the law and the sentimentalist who is their unwitting ally must be resisted.

The community is making headway against the plague of crime. There are many problems to be solved only by wise legislation and by wise social action. But the administration of justice in the courts is in the first line of this war.

Editorial of the Day

BRETONS LOOK BACK 400 YEARS.

[New York Sun.]

Brittany and France were united in 1532 when Anne, the Bretons' queen, was married to King Charles VII. of France. Since that time Brittany, divided into five departments and its own name officially lost, has remained a loyal western bulwark of France. In the world war Brest, Lorient, St. Malo, and St. Nazaire, all old Breton strongholds, were ports at which American soldiers and their supplies were landed and many of our troops received their first military instruction on French soil. At Brest was one of our military hospitals and at other Breton points American soldiers spent periods of rest and convalescence. Brittany furnished to France in this war some of its best soldiers and the loss of Breton lives was proportionately as large as that of soldiers from any other part of the French republic.

To the world this appeared evidence that the differences and disputes which arose at the time of the union and continued as political irritants until after the French revolution were entirely forgotten. The Breton, however, has a long memory, as Clemenceau, who himself was a Breton from the Vendee, said, and some of the irreconcilable displayed this racial trait when at the celebration of the fourth centennial of the union a monument marking the event was destroyed by a bomb placed in its foundation, it is alleged, by Breton autonomists. The detail to which objection was made was the pictured representation of their queen kneeling and offering her crown to the French king. They contended that she was forced against her will to surrender her crown and lands to the autocratic power of France.

The Breton, in fact, has been a more or less difficult racial unit for France to assimilate. The people have clung most stubbornly to their native costumes and to all their native customs. Their "pardons" are an institution peculiar to their religious observances and are attended by people from all over old Brittany. They are deeply religious and have insisted upon their own conception of what constitutes religious laws and creeds. They boast of almost 7,000 saints, most of whom are not recognized in the official register of the church. Their greatest saint and the one to whose memory the most largely attended "pardon" is dedicated is St. Yves. To him most of the wonder working miracles are ascribed.

Their country has long been a painter's land. Americans, Anderson, Stevens, Alexander, Loeb, and others found there subjects for their brushes. There Breton, the teacher of many American artists, painted some of his most notable canvases, those picturing the religious processions being the most notable. Concarneau, Pont-Aven, Cancale, and St. Malo have been points of unusual interest to American travelers.

The Breton's occupation has been distinctly that of fisherman and sailor. They were among the first of European fishermen to cross to the Grand Banks, and their chief source of income today is from the sardine fisheries centering at Concarneau. Many of the admirals of the French fleet came from Brittany. Admiral Ronarc'h, who commanded the French ships on the Yser at the battle around Ypres in 1914, was a Breton.

The Breton is a Celt and he is proud of the fact. He takes especial pleasure in telling that landing in Wales or Ireland as well as in Scotland he finds people who know his language. And he will tell today how he rescued the sailors of a sinking Irish ship off the Breton coast and was glad to offer his service to "folks of his own race." Sentimentally this trouble may grow. It is not likely that it will ever assume national proportions of political significance.

THE END, NEVERTHELESS.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. FR. L.S.

SILAS HENRY CHASTLETON.

Tall Silas Henry Chastleton has gone
The last time through his picketed white gate;
The heavy, hand-wrought iron latch had dropped
Securely, fifty years or more upon
His comings in and goings out, and on
The mystery that had shut him from the world.

In a big, brick house across the street from him,
Miss Sarry Tewksley and Tess Overbeck
Took in their quilts and bulging feather beds;
Looped up the clothes line on a V-end board
As though The Falls had not a holiday.
"No, sir! You won't ketch me a-goin' to
The funeral of a hermit, hate nor love,
An' one that's left a widow, like as not."
"Now, Tess . . . I wouldn't . . ."
"Don't Tess me! For Prue
Descartes had a letter in her trunk
She was going to let me read, when he had gone,
And here he died the day her attic burned!
But he was always stubborn. Might have known
He'd not relent with dyin'.
There's the toll."

The bronze bell in the old First Methodist,
That Si had given, the year that wheat was high,
Tolled tribute. He had always said, "Church bells
Is like the heart of man had ort to be,
A'singin' gay like, up above the ground."

Tess frowned, and raised her thin, silk-covered hand,
Half-gloved, with fingers cut off knuckle-length,
Removed the veil she always wore outdoors—
Untied the wide apron of organdy,
And loosed the velvet band about her throat.
"Just lift those wooden slats. They always was
A little short for the mahogany.
By rights, they fit tight in the walnut 'stead.
Yes . . . I am glad we didn't go . . . and you . . .
Should be the same. You've kept your word to me,
Help me clean house, despite the funeral
You never was much for excitement, though."

Slim Sarry sniffed a tear, said firm of lip,
"I've kept my word . . . but Si was good. He'd like
To know that I was there.
In which chest drawer
Will I find bolster covers with tucked ends?"

The church was packed. Cold curiosity
Replaced scarce sympathy and mourning hearts,
And gossip flew from tongue to tongue like crows.
One said, now that a will had been disclosed,
"He got his gain from makin' liniment
Or tinkerin' with some new lightnin' rod
Or findin' ways to strengthen weakened trees.
But nothin' panned out. Nothin' ever did."

While Si had loved the growing nature things,
No person did he love . . . small tots, of course,
That wandered to his garden in the spring—
Squares of red tulips . . . mounds of hyacinth.
And when they came, Si'd fill their reaching arms
With colored cups fit for a banquet board.
They'd rush home to their mothers in disgrace,
For no one talked to Silas Chastleton.

And strange it seemed, in that hushed place of prayer,
That one should lie so silent . . . still in death—
With not a flower to scent the atmosphere:
For who'd send flowers?
And Silas' handsome face
Framed with white hair against a satined cloth
Was quiet as an acolyte at prayer.

When down the aisle walked Sarry Tewksley with
A hand bouquet of thick, dark larkspur bloom,
With fernlike carrot top, and ribbon grass,
The congregation stared and held its breath.
She placed them in Si's hands, and faced about—
Ran boldly from the church and threw herself
In bitter weeping on his wooden steps.

The weekly paper, called the Democrat,
Bore news of Silas' death and said that he
Had left a fortune in a distant bank.
His will was read, in obituary black,
"Since in the spring of eighty-two when I
Would say no word . . . secure no legal nail,
Was 'quitted of that murder at The Falls,
No person in the town that was my home
Has spoken to me, springtime or in fall.
But that's because their inhumanity
Ain't yet been through the sieve of sufferin'.
It will be by and by, but, anyway,
When other orders found here in this will
Is carried out teetotal, then I want
The one that brings me flowers at the end
To have my every penny: house an' all
My worldly holdin's.
Since spring is long, and winter's
Pretty risky at the best." Next day,
When Sarry killed herself above Si's grave,
She left a note for her friend Tess, that said:
"Why didn't you take the tulips he sent you?"

RACHEL MACK WILSON.

HIZZONER MAYOR CERMAK promised Londoners they would drink real beer at our great Carnival of Progress here in Chicago next summer, as the necessary changes would be made in the prohibition law, no matter whether Mr. Herbert Hoover or Mr. Franklin D. Roosevelt won. But suppose, your honor, that our peerless leader, Mr. Norman Thomas, is elected? Of course, the intelligentsia have come out for Mr. Norman Thomas, and that is enough to beat any candidate, but still, in a time like this, when nobody seems to know an election campaign is on and to care a damsite less, strange things may happen. And if Mr. Norman Thomas will not join with the two old parties and give us hope of real beer at our great fair next summer, then we shall have to leave Mr. Norman Thomas prone on his face, a very awkward, not to say trying, position.

CAL COOLIDGE came out in the Sat. Eve. Post for the reelection of Mr. Hoover and the Republicans are shouting so hilariously over it that they must have expected him to come out for King George or Comrade Stalin. R. H. L.

THE ECLIPSE AND THE EYES.

OBSERVING the eclipse was a favorite outdoor sport on the last day of August. The ordinary man who made any preparation for taking a look did not go beyond smoking some glass through which he was to take a peek. Those who did not want to use smoked glass got out their variously tinted automobile goggles. Whether a person used one or the other, the common experience was that the eyes would not stand looking directly into the sun until the face thereof was pretty nearly obscured by the moon.

That smoked glass is of some service in protecting the eyes can be accepted. When the air is obscured by smoke it is an established fact that certain parts of the sun ray are completely filtered out. The part filtered out is that which, on the one hand, when it falls on the skin is most beneficial in producing vitamins while, on the other, it is most harmful when it strikes the visual purple of the retina.

However, not even smoked glass was found to be complete protection to the delicate seeing curtain of the eyeball when the sun was shining bright. Those who used their variously tinted automobile goggles found them even less efficient than smoked glass. The ordinary, inexpensive blue glass, amber glass, or other tinted glass used in this type of goggles are not based on scientific principles and they are of very limited service. There is no part of the body machinery that equals the rods and cones, the visual purple—the seeing part of the eye—in delicacy of anatomical arrangement and in chemical balance.

A beam of light is a compound. Some parts of it have one action, some another. The physicists have worked out many facts about the qualities of the different parts of the ray. They know just how to filter out certain parts for one purpose and other parts for other purposes. They know how to build goggles, or glasses, which will take out the parts which harm the rods and cones of the retinas. Welders use glasses built for that purpose as a necessary protection. If they did not they would be blinded in short order. If eclipses came every day goggles for eclipse observers would be on the market and, using them, we could look in the face of the naked sun and not pay for it by being blinded.

I presume within certain limits glasses can be colored scientifically so as to afford far more protection to the eyes than those we now make use of. The Eskimo is said to avoid snow blindness by squinting his eyes almost shut and also, at times, by wearing something like blinders, with a very narrow, horizontal slit through which he looks out over the snow. Men who live where the sun glare is very bright, or in other countries were the snow glare is blinding, generally have radiating crow's feet wrinkles at the outer corners of the eyes, the result of habitually squinting the eyelids to make a very narrow fissure.

Old-fashioned glass blowers had the same facial expression due to squinting to protect the eyes when they watched the ball of molten glass. In spite of doing that, glass blowers had more than their share of cataract. Perhaps some day glass blowers, furnace tenders, and others who must look into very bright lights will wear scientifically constructed goggles as welders now do.

In India and Egypt the natives have an inordinate prevalence of cataract. Some day they or their government may think it cheaper for them to wear scientifically protective goggles than it is to pay for the incapacity and poverty caused by cataract.

RELIEF FROM POISON OAK.

J. T. E. writes: I have suffered from poison oak for 42 years and catch it so easily that I feel I should give the public my remedy for a cure as well as a preventive.

To prevent: After being exposed to it bathe all over in hot salt water as hot as the body will stand.

To cure: The only thing that has ever cured me, after I have tried many remedies, is to use powdered sugar of lead mixed with water until it becomes milky. Use a piece of sterilized cloth to break all the blisters and allow cloth to absorb all juice, not letting the fluid touch any part of body. Burn the cloth. Then apply sugar of lead with a cloth until blisters turn white; several applications are usually necessary. See that sugar of lead is strong enough to burn blisters.

GETS RID OF RASH.

E. T. writes: I was severely troubled with urticaria around the waist. I found that by softening the rash with dilute ammonia water [about 15 per cent] it disappeared at once and with it the itching. The skin returned to normal within two or three minutes. I had been taking codein tablets to help me get to sleep, but since dropping them have had no hives nor any suggestion of the trouble. For alleviation the ammonia seemed to be sufficient, at least in my case.

REPLY.

The use of opiates is apt to cause considerable itching, though the name, urticaria, is not quite justified.

Ammonia water is an old and accepted relief measure for mild itching disorders. Often it gives relief. More often it fails.

MONTHS BEHIND.

Mrs. J. W. writes: I was operated on four months ago and my wound has healed. Can I go for a walk?

REPLY.

I do not understand why you have not walked months ago.

FILE PARTITION PROCEEDINGS.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Four heirs share equally in a small tract of improved land. In what manner may one heir retain his share and not sell? Must all heirs agree to sale of a piece of real estate before same may be appraised and sold? Can heirs agree among themselves as to a division of property when there is an administrator or must property be sold before division? W. E. S.

Where the owners of undivided interest in real estate cannot agree any one of them is entitled to force public sale by partition proceedings. The cost of such proceedings, including the complainant's solicitor's fees, are chargeable against the proceeds of sale.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

WANTS ADOPTION CANCELED.

Wheaton, Ill., Sept. 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—In April of 1918 we adopted a little girl, then 6 years old. Now for various reasons we wish this adoption canceled. 1. What steps shall we take? 2. Must we be represented by attorney? This decree was granted by County court of Cook county A. K. J.

1. The simplest course would be to find some other persons who would be willing to adopt her. The mere fact that you have changed your minds does not entitle you to avoid the obligations of parenthood any more than in the case of a natural born child.

2. There is no statutory authority for retracting the adoption proceedings.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

UNPAID RENT.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My rent became due Aug. 1. I was unable to meet it and on the 23d went to the landlord and offered him $10, saying I would pay the balance on the 31st. He refused the money and served a five day notice. I have a sick husband who hasn't worked for three years and two daughters and a son. Only the one daughter works and she pays me $10 a week. At present I am doing some work that pays me $10 weekly. 1. Can they evict me? 2. Can they keep my furniture if I agree to pay him the rent from week to week? 3. Can he refuse to accept this? There was no lease signed. A. D.

1. Yes.
2. The exemption to the head of a family is $400 worth. To other persons $100 worth.
3. Yes.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

MIGHT BE PROSECUTED.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Please inform me whether a couple is legally married when the man gives an assumed name at the time of marriage. 2. Is it necessary to secure a divorce from him before remarrying after having been separated for eight years? L. C. C.

1. Yes, but he might be subject to prosecution for making false answer to the county clerk.
2. Yes.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

SEPTEMBER 7, 1916.

CHICAGO.—The United States senate at the personal demand of Senator James Hamilton Lewis rejected President Wilson's nomination of Dixon C. Williams for postmaster at Chicago. The plan now is for all factions of the Democrats to join with Senator Lewis and Gov. Dunne in prevailing on the President to appoint a German to succeed Postmaster Campbell. This was the original agreemen between Lewis, Dunne, and former Mayor Harrison. Democratic leaders believe there is a chance to win back thousands of Germans in Chicago to the Democratic ranks if they are recognized by President Wilson in the naming of a new postmaster.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The senate indulged in one of the wildest sessions in its history during a debate on the corrupt practices bill fathered by President Wilson and Senator Gore of Oklahoma. At one point a personal encounter between Senators Ashurst of Arizona, a Democrat, and Curtis of Kansas, a Republican, was averted only by the interference of Senator Smoot of Utah. At another time Senator Ashurst called Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania a liar.

NEW YORK.—A strike was declared on the Interborough Subway and Elevated lines tonight. Two hours later employés of the New York railways, for the second time in five weeks, declared a strike on the "green car" surface lines in Manhattan. President Theodore P. Shonts of the Interborough announced that the lines would be kept running and that the company would "fight the union to a finish."

CHICAGO.—In response to a telegram from President Shonts of the Interborough Rapid Transit company of New York, James T. Waddell left for that city on a special train to take charge of the strike on the elevated and subway lines there. Waddell, who has had charge of similar work in various big strikes in the past, said he had nearly 5,000 strikebreakers already in New York.

PARIS.—Further gains are reported by the war office south of the Somme river. The greater part of the village of Berny-en-Santerre was captured as well as the northern portion of Vermandovillers. North of the Somme there was a violent artillery duel. In the region between Chaulnes and Chilly the French captured more trenches and pushed their first line to the outskirts of Chaulnes and along the railroad between Chaulnes and Roye.

BERLIN.—The town of Clery on the Somme river, three and a half miles northwest of Peronne, has been captured from the Germans by the forces of the entente allies, the war office statement says. The statement continues: "The battle on both sides of the Somme continues with undiminished intensity. Twenty-eight British and French divisions are engaged in the attack. North of the Somme their attacks have been sanguinarily repulsed."

LONDON.—The Bulgars in fierce attacks are trying to force the Danube in the Doburaja. They have taken by storm seven of the works defending Tutrakan. The Rumanians, however, are making a strong stand there. Whether King Ferdinand's line will hold depends in large part on how soon the Russians can join the defense in force.

PETROGRAD.—Russian troops captured a Teutonic fortified position in the region of the lower Gorodenka river in the direction of Halicz, Galicia, and drove the Austro-Germans toward the northwest. The Russians made further gains in the Carpathians on the Hungarian frontier.

CHICAGO.—The Rev. William J. Ohan was installed as pastor of the Bethany Presbyterian church, Humbolt boulevard near Cortland street.

CHICAGO.—The National Association of Master Bakers, meeting here, has doomed the nickel loaf of bread. Because of increased prices of materials the association wants to enlarge the loaf and charge 10 cents for it.

PROBATION.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 31.—The articles and recent editorial in THE TRIBUNE concerning the misuse of probation in the Chicago courts have been of great interest to me and also very gratifying.

Many of us worked very hard during the general assembly of 1931 to have our probation laws amended and improved. While we were successful in the senate we were defeated in the house.

The permissive probation laws of Illinois leave much to be desired, of course, but I wonder if any system of probation, even so good as that of Massachusetts, could withstand abuse and misuse. I call your attention to the remarks of Dean Harno on the "evils of the lesser plea," on page 27 of our Probation Manual.

The theory of probation is absolutely sound, but in the mind of the public it suffers from maladministration. Probation is not a form of leniency nor can it apply to every situation. It was never intended for gunmen, burglars, pickpockets, rapists, and those who resort to crime for a business.

Mr. Brandon and I have both appealed to the Illinois Bar association for a greater interest in probation. About a year ago, we believe, as a result of our efforts, Judge James S. Baldwin of Decatur was appointed chairman of a committee to study the question. Meetings have been held and I understand considerable work has been done in this direction.

I would like to see the study and administration of probation have an important place in the curriculum of every law school. Men come to the bench who are utterly unfamiliar with its practice, even when they have graduated in law, while there is a group of judges, fine men as many of them are, who have had no experience in the profession. It seems absurd that men without legal training should be in a position to settle legal questions.

I hope THE TRIBUNE will not only help us in securing better probation laws but will also help us to see they are enforced after they are passed.

MRS. GEORGE THOMAS PALMER,

TAX STRIKERS' CHILDREN.

Chicago, Aug. 22.—The teachers as a group are anxious, even in the face of existing conditions, to continue to uphold the standards of service and the ideals of their profession. This will be possible only in the event that the teachers are made to feel that honest and united efforts, free from political considerations, are being made by the city government and the bankers, as well as by the board of education, to unscramble the finances of the city and to meet obligations.

If a suggestion is permissible as to one direction which such a united effort might take, a direction which would be in line with justice, regardless of its legality, it would be that the board of education with the support of the city council adopt a ruling that, in fairness to taxpayers, the families of Chicago who belong to the tax strikers' group be not permitted to send their children to the tax supported public schools.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—I love your Tracy pictures. They are so true to life. Most fiction writers make detectives out to be supermen, but Dick Tracy is just like a regular flatfoot. YEGG.

THE LEGION AND THE BONUS.

Chicago, Aug. 31.—Contrary to the statement in your editorial, "Bonus Patriotism," that the action of the New York department of the American Legion in voting for the immediate payment of the so-called soldiers' bonus does not represent deliberation and good sense and that the Legion is under the influence of a reckless and irresponsible leadership and is woefully misguided, the action of the New York Legionnaires and the action of the delegates to 34 other departments of the Legion, including Illinois, does, for the first time in many years, actually represent deliberation and good sense.

Also for the first time in many years the Legion's policies on the bonus, on the eighteenth amendment and on the so-called expeditionary force actually reflects the sentiment of the rank and file of the organization. It was no reckless and irresponsible leadership that caused delegates from 102 Illinois counties to vote unanimously at Danville, as they voted unanimously at Detroit and at Peoria last year, and as they will vote at Portland next week, for the immediate bonus payment, nor have they been woefully misguided in the dozen or more districts in each of the 35 states which overwhelmingly demanded the same justice and consideration that the government, through the Reconstruction Finance corporation and other newly constituted agencies, is meting out to the railroads, the banks, the insurance companies, etc.

For the first time in my memory the boys back home have taken the bit by the teeth and have let the so-called kingmakers, the administration's spokesmen, and those who have been recognized by the public as the leaders of the Legion know just how they felt on these very important, to the Legionnaire, questions.

The kingmakers may maneuver themselves back into control again at and after Portland, but during the last month and until the Portland convention is concluded the spear carriers in the chorus, 1,100,000 of them, have been running high, wide, and handsome

See you at Portland.

TOO MANY LIFE GUARDS.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Your generally enterprising organization is strangely dumb about the life guards. If these loafers in bathing suits merely confined themselves to life guard duties they would demonstrate that there are three or four times as many of them on the pay roll as are needed. They have to fuss around and be officious to give the politicians who run the parks an excuse for hiring so many of them. LATE BATHER.

MAYBE THEY'RE PRETTIER.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—On the average of twice a week, and sometimes oftener, I pick up the paper and see where another foreign stage and screen star has come to this country on a long term contract. What is the matter with all the material we have in this country? We hear of Americans starving in Hollywood, but still the outsiders flock in.

EDNA I. JOHNSEN.

A PRIZELESS PRIZE WINNER.

Prairie View, Ill., Sept. 1.—I had three garden exhibits at the 1932 Cook county fair and was awarded one first, one second, and one third prize. Since the fair closed Aug. 14 I have called at the Fair association office several times and have been told that I would get the premiums within two or three days, but so far have received nothing.

BOTH ARE NEWS IN THE TRIBUNE.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—Why is it that when a labor union breaks a contract the newspapers play it up strong, but when the employers [in this case the employers of union printers] break a contract there isn't a word in the papers about it? Is that playing square? E. M.

LET CONTRACTS FOR OUTER DRIVE EXTENSION SOON

Bids on Montrose-Foster Avenue Project Opened.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—The state highway department opened bids this afternoon for the extension northward of the outer drive from Montrose avenue to Foster avenue with a grade separation at Wilson avenue.

Proposals were also received for pavement on Roosevelt road, on Higgins road, on Ogden avenue, and on Cicero avenue and for municipal work in Joliet, Wheaton, De Kalb, Elgin, and Aurora.

The contracts provide for winter construction except when severe weather is prohibitive. State highway Engineer Sheets said he will insist that the work is started promptly and continued diligently to furnish maximum relief for unemployment and to obtain the improved traffic facilities as soon as possible.

May Award Contracts in 10 Days.

Following the usual routine, the contracts will be awarded within 10 days or two weeks.

The most important of the projects from a traffic standpoint is the mile of outer drive, two lanes of 40 foot pavement that will enable north side motorists to avoid the congested Uptown business district.

The apparent low bid for the pavement was $268,237 by the C. E. Carson company of Chicago, while the apparent low bid for the Wilson avenue grade separation was $64,821 by Mackie-Thomspon-Lamm, Inc., of Chicago.

Other Chicago Projects.

The other Chicago projects with the apparent low bids and low bidders are as follows:

ROOSEVELT ROAD—From Albany avenue to California avenue, .36 of a mile, $18,678, Central Paving company of Chicago; from Talman avenue to Campbell avenue, .07 of a mile, $8,517, Central Paving company.

OGDEN AVENUE—From Western avenue to Roosevelt road, .19 of a mile, $21,448, Central Paving company.

CICERO AVENUE—From 35th to 63d street, 3.29 miles, $145,695, Ready Coal and Construction company of Chicago; from 63d to 83d street, 2.53 miles, $57,873, Calumet Coal company of Chicago.

HIGGINS ROAD—From Canfield road at city limits to Austin avenue, 2.29 miles, $179,878, Arcola Construction company of Niles Center.

At three previous lettings, starting last June 15, Chicago contractors were the only bidders on the Higgins road job. All former bids were rejected by the state. Today's apparent low bid was $37,508 less than the lowest bid in June.

Paving for Other Cities.

Projects in other cities of the metropolitan area, with the apparent low bids and low bidders, are as follows:

WHEATON—Roosevelt road, .55 of a mile, $32,986, John Mackler & Co. of Chicago Heights.

DE KALB—Roosevelt road, .67 of a mile, $11,751, Trompeter Construction company of Peru, Ill.

AURORA—Route 22, .91 of a mile, $23,465, S. J. Groves & Sons of Libertyville.

ELGIN—Route 22, .38 of a mile, $16,694, S. J. Groves & Sons.

CHICAGO HEIGHTS—Lincoln Highway, .7 of a mile, $59,938, State Improvement company of Chicago; Dixie highway, .99 of a mile, $87,720, Jaicks Brothers of Chicago.

JOLIET—Joliet road, .62 of a mile, $35,122, Powers-Thompson Construction company of Joliet.

Other metropolitan area projects, outside of municipalities, were a gap on the Joliet road at the Baltimore, Ohio, Chicago Terminal railroad at McCook and widening on Cicero avenue from 63d street to 95th street, 1.35 miles. The apparent low bid on the Joliet road job was $54,756 submitted by Pickus Engineering and Construction company of Chicago. The apparent low bid on the Cicero avenue job was $22,701 submitted by Calumet Coal company of Chicago.

Burglars Break Into Two Evanston Homes

Burlars broke into two Evanston homes, those of J. Ward Hartke, 1616 Colfax street, a broker, and Edgar Houser, 1803 Chancellor street, during the Labor day holiday while members of the households were away. The loot in the two cases consisted of an old large size dollar bill, a silver dollar, a watch, some medals and an old army revolver.

Quality Merchandise at the right price is true economy

So long as canvas outwears chiffon it cannot be seriously claimed that the finest and most expensive things always give the longest service. But this much can be said: The better qualities in any line of merchandise usually rank as better because they give an additional satisfaction for the money.

Quality merchandise—as featured in this store and in this advertisement—generally gives that additional something—more so than less expensive grades bought either here or elsewhere. That's why we always recommend buying the finer things.

IOWA FARMERS MAKE READY TO RENEW STRIKE

Demand That Governor Declare an Embargo.

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 6.—(AP)—A resolution that members of the Farmers' Holiday association hold themselves in readiness for further strike orders was adopted here late today at a meeting of Iowa county officers of the association.

The move followed closely a resolution which called upon Gov. Dan W. Turner of Iowa to use every power at his command at a meeting of governors in Sioux City Friday to have instituted in the middle west "an embargo upon all foodstuffs from the middle western states at less than production costs."

Such an embargo, the resolution continued, if initiated immediately and effectively, "would relieve the wholly unjustified economic condition now forcing farmers, business men, and laborers into bankruptcy; it would establish the farmers on a cost of production basis, reemploy labor, and automatically reestablish the buying power for the public."

Contented with Embargo.

One spokesman for the association officers said that the officials would be content if the state executives would take some action such as declaring an embargo.

He refused, however, to predict the future course of the nonselling movement, which started Aug. 8 in Iowa and since has spread to several nearby states, if the governors did not institute the embargo, but pointed to the first resolution.

One delegate at today's session was quoted by the spokesman as saying that 20,000 farmers from four states would be in Sioux City at the time of the governor's conference and that the mayor of Sioux City had been asked a permit for a farmers' parade.

Quiet at Sioux City.

Sioux City, Ia., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—Comparative quiet reigned today in the Sioux City farmer strike area following the clash late Sunday night in which more than a dozen truck drivers were injured and several truck put out of commission.

The remaining picketers are evidently on the job in a half hearted way. Since the scrimmage Monday morning more and more trucks have been coming in, piloted by sheriffs' deputies and little real interference has been encountered.

Logs, barrels, telephone poles and other obstructions used by the picketers were removed by sheriffs' forces today, when trucks brought in 544 head of cattle, fifteen calves and 2,800 hogs. On Tuesday of last week they brought but 77 head of cattle, three calves and 38 hogs. A larger part of today's receipts were from Nebraska where picketing has been abandoned.

Several suites in the Martin hotel were being put in shape for the meeting of governors of middle western states and farm leaders who are expected to attend the conference here Friday called by Gov. Green of South Dakota.

Milk War Threat at Memphis.

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 6.—(AP)—A threat to pour 40,000 gallons of Memphis' milk supply into the Mississippi river was made in a dairy price war here today.

Fred Howard, business manager of the Independent Dairymen's association, told 150 producers that unless prices were raised by Saturday the milk would be dumped into the river as a protest.

10 Passengers Injured in French Train Wreck

PARIS, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Ten passengers were injured today when the Riviera express left the rails in the suburbs of Marseilles at a point where workmen were replacing a rail.

GRAFT CHARGES FLY IN BERWYN COUNCIL MEETING

Mayor and Alderman Under Attack.

Charges of graft and corruption abounded in a tumultuous meeting of the Berwyn city council last night. Mayor Frank Novotny met an attack upon himself and his Democratic colleague, Ald. Thomas Shea, by shouting down seven Republican members of the council with rulings of order taken from six volumes on parliamentary proceedings.

The meeting had been called to consider removal of $60,000 of the city's funds from one bank to another. The measure was proposed last month by Mayor Novotny and had the backing of seven Democratic aldermen. The seven Republicans had previously announced that they would not appear. They had charged the removal would cause expense to the city.

Ouster Move Reported.

Earlier in the day the Republicans abandoned their plan to prevent a quorum and sent word that they would be present. It was reported they would move to have Shea ousted from the council because of his part in the scandal created by the purchase by the suburb of the closed First National Bank of Berwyn for a city hall. Shea was granted immunity for giving testimony on which several officials and former officials were indicted.

Ald. Carl Anderson made a motion that Shea be removed from the council. Mayor Novotny held the motion out of order.

Makes Charge Against Mayor.

City Collector James Saul, a Republican, leaped to his feet and charged that he was forced by Mayor Novotny to sign a resignation at the time the mayor took office. He was allowed to hold his job, he said, on condition he turn over 15 per cent of his salary to the "mayor's business fund." Because he refused to do so, Saul declared, he has not been paid.

The mayor ruled Saul out of order. Ald. Anderson inquired as to what the business fund was. He, too, was ruled out of order. Anderson then insisted on presenting his motion concerning Shea. After demonstrations from the opposing spectators a vote was taken.

The seven Republicans voted for the motion, Shea alone voting against it, and the remaining six Democrats passed their votes. Mayor Novotny announced that the motion had failed to carry. His announcement precipitated a chorus of hoots from those outside the hall. The question of the transfer of the bank deposits was continued to next Tuesday.

COAL OPERATORS REFUSE TO DEAL WITH NEW UNION

W. J. Jenkins, president of the Illinois Coal Operators' association, yesterday issued a statement to the effect that the association recognized no union mine organizations in the state except the United Mine Workers of America.

"This association and its members," he said, "have a properly executed statewide wage agreement with the United Mine Workers of America, with which it has been doing business over a long period of years. We have every reason to believe that that organization will live up to its agreement.

"It is inconceivable that the Illinois Coal Operators' associations of its members will have anything whatsoever to do with the new miners' union which is reported to have been formed under the name Progressive Miners of America."

MANAGER OF CHURCH SCHOOL IS KILLED; WOMAN IS ARRESTED

Shakertown, Ky., Sept. 6.—(AP)—This quaint old community, founded by the Shakers more than a century ago and now a mecca for tourists, today sought the solution of what authorities believed was a murder. The victim was Robert Horn, 50, manager of the Presbyterian Pennybaker School for Girls, one of the town's oldest buildings and most noted landmarks.

Horn died from a pistol bullet wound in his left side. Mrs. Thurman Cox, 33, in whose home on the Pennybaker farm authorities were told the shooting occurred, was lodged in jail and charged with murder. Officials were told by workmen on the farm that there had been trouble between the woman's husband and Horn over crops raised on the school farm. Mrs. Cox refused to discuss the shooting.

WILMETTE BOARD TO RETAIN WOMEN MOVIE CENSORS

The village board of Wilmette decided last night to send a letter to movie executives in California who want to know by what authority the movie council of the Wilmette Woman's club is censoring films scheduled for two north shore theaters, the Wilmette and the Teatro del Lago, the latter in "No Man's Land."

The reply will cite the village ordinances which give the president of the board, A. J. Dixon, the power of censorship and provide that he may delegate this function to others. The letter will state further, the trustees decided, that the women took up their task voluntarily, but that their work meets with the approval of the board and is supported by public sentiment.

The two theaters have been submitting monthly lists to the woman's council. If the theaters fail to follow the council's recommendation the council adopts a hostile attitude.

Child Orphaned by Africa Fever on Way to Chicago

Boston, Mass., Sept. 6.—(AP)—The orphan son of two missionaries who died of yellow fever in Sikasso, French Soudan, Africa, arrived today after a 5,000 mile voyage on the freighter Zarembo, en route to the home of his maternal grandmother in Chicago. The child is Edward Anderson, 22 months old, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Edward Rudolph Anderson, who died on succeeding days a year ago. He was born in Africa. Edward was in the care of Miss Clara Klint of Peoria, Ill., a nurse attached to the Christian and Missionary Alliance.

Jailed for Feeding Glass to Lincoln Park Ostriches

Carl Carp, 48 years old, was arrested yesterday by Policeman Edward Westhouse for feeding broken glass to the ostriches in Lincoln park. Carp, who has been making his home under the park trees, was unable to explain to Judge Alfar M. Eberhardt and was ordered to the psychopathic hospital.

RE-CREATE $1,700 JOB FOR GARY POSTAL CLERK

Washington, D. C., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Re-creation of a $1,700 clerkship in the Gary, Ind., postoffice to provide a place for Ben H. Kerr, who was reinstated at the direction of President Hoover, was ordered today by Arch Coleman, first assistant postmaster general.

Kerr's reinstatement was ordered by the President, who said "The fact that civil service employés differ with my views does not necessarily constitute 'political activity' under the law which forbids such action."

Upon Kerr's dismissal his job was abolished in pursuance of the department's policy of not filling vacancies unless they were absolutely necessary. His reinstatement necessitated the special order re-creating the clerkship.

Honest druggists warn men that self-treatment won't cure these dangerous ills!

Druggists exert a powerful influence on the public health, as they are constantly being asked for advice on medical questions. Ignorant of the seriousness of social diseases, persons afflicted with syphilis or gonorrhea frequently apply to them for advice, or for advertised or "patent" remedies.

Investigation among druggists reveals that the majority do not sell such nostrums, and that they refuse to "counter prescribe." Honest pharmacists invariably warn against self-treatment and urge the sufferer to consult a reputable physician or clinic at once! But, unfortunately, a number of unscrupulous druggists are guilty of the shameful and entirely illegal practice of encouraging victims of syphilis or gonorrhea to attempt to cure themselves.

This is an extremely dangerous situation, for improperly-treated syphilis may lead to heart disease, nervous breakdowns, hardening of the arteries, apoplexy, blindness, deafness, epilepsy, paralysis or even insanity! And uncured syphilis is also the principal cause of stillborn, deformed and feeble-minded babies.

Gonorrhea, too, can prove very disastrous unless completely eliminated. It may in time be the cause of sterility, crippling rheumatism, prostate troubles or other serious disorders. Furthermore, much infantile blindness and a large proportion of the pelvic operations performed on women are the result of this disease!

Both afflictions, however, can be cured, but only by the qualified physician. Even long-standing cases of syphilis can be often arrested and health-wrecking consequences prevented. Thus every man who has an active social disease, or who has reason to believe that an early infection has not been cured, should immediately consult a reliable doctor or come to the Public Health Institute.

Organized NOT FOR PROFIT by public-spirited citizens, the Public Health Institute specializes in the treatment of social diseases at fees that are surprisingly low. A complete examination for gonorrhea and syphilis, including Wassermann and Kahn blood tests, costs only $3.00, while six consecutive treatments for gonorrhea cost but $4.00. Even those lacking immediate funds will be looked after.

The Public Health Institute possesses every necessary scientific facility for the cure of venereal diseases. It maintains separate departments for men and women, where treatment is administered in complete privacy by a staff of experienced physicians who have been licensed by the State Board of Medical Examiners. To insure the greatest possible privacy, each new patient of the Institute is assigned a number and thereafter is known by that number rather than by name.

Dr. Rupert Blue, former Surgeon General of the U. S. Public Health Service, once said: "Improper treatment of a social disease may ruin a person's health beyond repair." This being true, why risk destroying your health when either your family physician or the Public Health Institute will give you dependable medical attention at fees within your means?

Gentlemen

We are sure you will be pleased to know that Knox the Hatter is adding to the Fall schedule eight full-page newspaper advertisements which will be used exclusively in the Herald Tribune.

In the boom year of 1929 we used 32,496 lines with your newspaper and this year we believe we will use more than double this amount. Surely this is a stronger endorsement for your paper than any words we might write.

Our advertising effort is being directed to show that Knox is the hat authority because the majority of better dressed men and women insist on this distinguished label. We have had repeated evidence of the Herald Tribune's appeal to these better class families which we desire to reach.

Earlier in the year we launched the Knox 1932 "Vagabonde" (•Reg. U.S.Pat.Off.) Felt Hat for women. Through a full page announcement presented exclusively in the Herald Tribune, we felt immediately a definite and highly satisfactory response. Later, the results from our advertising of the "Vagabonde" (•Reg.U.S.Pat.Off.) Soft Felt Hats for men were most gratifying.

This campaign of eight full pages in the Herald Tribune is one of the most impressive programs ever undertaken by Knox the Hatter in 94 years of its history - and so far as we know, it is the largest number of full pages ever published exclusively in a national newspaper by any hatter.

Very truly yours,

President

FHM:HUA

This letter tells clearly and definitely the important position which the New York Herald Tribune has long held in the advertising plans of Knox the Hatter.

Year after year, the schedule in the Herald Tribune has been increased. This campaign of eight full pages just launched by Knox the Hatter is appearing exclusively in the Herald Tribune and is the largest hat campaign ever placed by them in a single newspaper. This is a milestone in the history of Knox advertising in the Herald Tribune. For more than eight decades the advertising of this concern has appeared in this newspaper—certainly a remarkable tribute to the Herald Tribune's ability to produce results in every kind of business weather.

Knox the Hatter is but one of a great number of advertisers—advertisers to men, to women, and to New York families—who have found the way to successful sales in New York through the pages of the Herald Tribune. Its circulation covers an essential part of New York's market—a part which no advertiser can afford to miss—a vast "City Without Slums."

Let us give you facts about the Herald Tribune and what it can do for you in making profitable sales in New York.

GILBERT PARKER DIES, 69; NOTED FOR HIS NOVELS

Writer Taken by Heart Failure in London.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Sir Gilbert Parker, for forty years before the public as novelist, politician, traveler and lecturer, died today of a heart attack. He was 69.

The author of "The Right of Way," "Judgment House," "The Promised Land" and a score of other works, he was a frequent visitor to the United States, where he lectured in New York, Chicago and other cities. He was a resident in New York for two and one half years early in the war as British director of American publicity. In 1929 he was in Hollywood to collaborate in the filming of one of his novels.

Born in Canada.

Sir Gilbert was born on Nov. 23, 1862, at Camden East, Ontario, Canada, the son of Capt. J. Parker. He took his college degree at Trinity, Toronto, and until 1886 familiarized himself with the Hudson Bay country and northern Canada, which supplied characters, incidents and locations for many of his works.

For four years he was in Australia, where he became an associate editor of the Sydney Morning Herald. At other times he traveled to south sea islands, the orient, Europe and Egypt. In 1895 Sir Gilbert married Amy Van Tine, the New York heiress of Ashley Van Tine. She died on Sept. 13, 1925.

Sir Gilbert came to London in the early '90's. He made his residence here for forty years. He we elected a member of parliament from Gravesend in 1900 and served the district until 1918.

Made a Knight.

A knighthood was conferred on Parker in 1902 and in 1915 he was made a baronet. In 1916 he was a member of the privy council. He was the frequent recipient of honorary degrees. He instituted the Imperial University conference in London, 1903, and was chairman of the South African association for 9 years.

Although some poems, travel stories and history included among Sir Gilbert's works, the main portion of his writings were novels, which began in 1892 with "Pierre and His People." Hardly a year passed from that time without one or more publications under his name, though the frequency slackened during the war and during the last ten years. Critics assert that his early works included some of his best writing, though his later productions were more widely known.

HAROLD TEEN—THE LAD HAS STAMINA

"TOO POOR" TO BUY PEDDLER'S LICENSE, BUT HE HAS $7,516

George Kanopars, 72 years old, 873 Milton avenue, pleaded that he was too poor to buy a license to peddle individual pies at the Navy pier, when he was asked concerning this delinquency by Policeman John Frye yesterday afternoon, but $7,516 was found in a hidden pocket of his trousers.

"I'm saving that to go back to Greece," Kanopars explained. "I can't waste any of it on licenses."

The Greek consul in Chicago will be notified of Kanopars' arrest.

DENEEN TO HOLD BAIN RESIGNATION FROM PARK BOARD

Former Senator Charles S. Deneen does not intend to present the resignation of John Bain as a member of the South Park board to the Circuit judges, he stated yesterday when he returned to his office following a vacation. The Circuit judges choose the members of the board.

"Mr. Bain wrote that resignation last spring when he was about to undergo two serious operations," Mr. Deneen said. "It was feared that he might not survive the operations, or if he did, that he might be incapacitated for months.

"I did not present it to the judges at the time because I was advised that it might have an adverse effect on his recovery, and also that it might affect his trial, then approaching. He has recovered his health now and I feel that I have no right to present the resignation since he is now capable of resigning himself, if he is so inclined."

Bain, convicted a month ago of taking part in the conspiracy which wrecked his chain of twelve banks, is now appealing a sentence of from one to five years in the penitentiary, imposed by Judge M. O'Connor. He was originally sponsored for appointment to the park board, seven years ago, by Senator Deneen.

PRINTERS TO GO BACK TO WORK; PARLEY STILL ON

About 800 printers employed in 30 "key" job shops, who were called out on strike by the executive committee of the Chicago Typographical union Sept. 3 after an arbitrary wage reduction instituted by closed shop book and job printing employers, will return to work today. The men will receive the old wage scale of $1.29½ an hour pending negotiations by committees of employers and printers on the arbitrary scale of $1.10 an hour.

Negotiations opened yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock and continued until after midnight in the offices of the Franklin association at 330 South Wells street. During the session several compromises on the scale were offered by both sides and rejected. The terms of the return to work were made as a condition by the union to further negotiations, which are to be resumed this afternon at 2 o'clock.

The will of Mrs. Nellie M. Bilhorn, honorary president of the Woman's Church Federation Protectorate, has been admitted to probate it was learned yesterday. The will leaves most of the $210,000 estate to Peter M. Bilhorn, her husband, evangelist and writer of religious music, of 4413 Malden street. He was appointed executor. Mrs. Bilhorn died in the American hospital May 25. She was the first president of the protectorate founded in 1917 to protect and assist needy Protestant women in Chicago.

KILLS SELF WITH BULLET.

John Fedler, 65 years old, 4920 North Avers avenue, shot and killed himself yesterday in the basement of his home. He is believed to have been despondent over ill health.

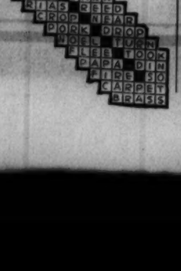
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED.



VISIONS FLEET OF OCEAN AIRSHIPS LIKE THE AKRON

His Plans Discussed by Designer Arnstein.

BY HUGH SEXTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Akron, O., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—The rigid airship Macon, sister of the Akron, is half completed in the large hangar of the Goodyear Zeppelin corporation, and Dr. Karl Arnstein, designer of the two airships for the navy, is looking forward to the construction of a fleet of similar airships for commercial lines across the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

The Macon will be completed next spring, Dr. Arnstein said today, and if legislation that has passed the house and is out of a senate committee is adopted, the postoffice department will be able to contract for transoceanic air mail and development of the two routes can proceed. It is his hope that the way will be cleared for this program by next spring.

There are only about 150 men, half the number that worked on the Akron, at work fabricating and assembling the Macon, he said.

Data On Load Carrying.

"About two weeks ago we were asked for data on the load carrying abilities of commercial airships along a Pacific ocean route," Dr. Arnstein said.

"But all such estimates are based upon the route to be flown, and the weather conditions encountered on that route. So we have sent a man to Washington to study the route and its weather for the past five years. With that information, we will be able to build airships to fly that particular route most economically and efficiently."

The two ocean routes Dr. Arnstein spoke about have been charted and studied closely by the Pacific Zeppelin Transport corporation and the International Zeppelin Transport corporation. He conceded that the Pacific route would be the logical one to be placed into operation first, because of the greater time saving by air due to the long distances, and the smaller amount of competition from fast steam vessels.

Adding to German Designs.

The mishaps that have occurred to the Akron do not reflect in any way upon its airworthiness, he said, but were attributable to human error in combination with pioneering in both the design of the airship itself and the new mechanical ground handling apparatus.

"It would have been easy to copy the ships we had built for years in Germany, but we did not do that. We pioneered and have contributed greatly to the design of lighter than air ships. We are continually approaching the ideal, when we will but press a button and the ship will roll out of its hangar."

Couple Are Married in Elopement to Waukegan

Mis Ruth Theorell, 22 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Theorell, 649 North Cicero avenue, was married to Robert Allen Brigham, 24 years old, son of Mrs. O. D. Brigham, 308 South Elmwood avenue, Oak Park, in an elopement to Waukegan last Saturday, it was learned yesterday. The Rev. Thomas A. Goodwin, pastor of the Congregational church of Waukegan, performed the ceremony in his home. Mr. Brigham's father, now dead, was a manufacturer of railroad supplies. The bride's father is an undertaker.

Edwin L. Brown, Pioneer in Illinois Electric Light, Dies

Bloomington, Ill., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—Edwin Lester Brown, 80, father of E. O. Brown, manager of the Bloomington division of the Illinois Power and Light corporation, died at his home in Elmwood. Mr. Brown constructed the first transmission line in Illinois. Edwin Lester Brown had lived next door to William Cullen Bryant in Cummington, Mass., and had been a friend of Whittier, Greeley and Ingersoll. He came to Peoria in 1856 and for a time was president of the Illinois State Electrical association.

Mrs. Mary Merrick Ball, Former Theater Star, Dies

Harvard, Mass., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Mrs. Mary Merrick Ball, 64, who under the name of May Merrick amused Boston theater goers a generation ago, died at her home here today. She had been ill several months. Mrs. Ball played for several seasons with the Boston Museum company and with the Boston Theater company. She played her best known rôles in "The World," "Michael Strogoff," and "Rud Luck."

Poison Liquor Kills Three Seamen; 4 Others Made Ill

New York, Sept. 6.—[Special.]—Deadly wassail, which the police believe was a mixture of painters' alcohol and milk brewed over an open fire, killed three unemployed seamen and prostrated four others today after a Labor day party in the desolate metal dump known as Hoover City in Brooklyn.

RETURN VERDICT IN CONNELL DEATH.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of death at the hands of parties unknown yesterday in the case of Joseph [Rabbit] Connell, shot to death Aug. 10 outside his speakeasy at 1140 Hickory street, on Goose island.

BILL TELLS JUDGE WHY HIS SHOTGUN WENT TO BALL GAME

William Cunningham, 20 years old, 5504 Schubert avenue, explained to Judge Brooks of the Boys court yesterday why he had introduced a shotgun into a baseball game in which nothing else more serious than the slugging of a few umpires had occurred.

"The Central Aces, which is my team," he said, "were playing the Sloan Boosters at Parker and Central avenues. The score was tied in the eighth and we had a man on first with one down. Our batter hit to the second baseman, who touched the bag and tried to throw to first. But the runner rattled him and the peg was wild. So the second baseman socked the runner and everybody else got stormy, too. So I went home and got the gun, not to shoot but just to get the game started in a friendly way again."

Judge Brooks delivered a short lecture on the lack of sportsmanship involved in bringing firearms to ball games and dismissed Cunningham.

FRANK J. PARKER, AIR BOOTLEGGER, SEIZED IN LOOP

Frank J. Parker, 38 years old, known as the airplane bootlegger and reputedly a millionaire, was arrested near Randolph and State streets yesterday by Lieut. Joseph Ronan and Sergt. Arthur Katt of the detective bureau.

With him at the time were John Steele, 34 years old, 3166 Hudson avenue; Ezra Levin, 40 years old, 5631 Dorchester avenue, a chemist, and Howard Shockey, 45 years old, 4949 West Adams street, who described himself as a promoter.

Parker declared that he was no longer in the rackets around Chicago, adding that he owned three distilleries in Canada. Also, he asserted, he was dickering to sell the Citizens' brewery at Throop street and Archer avenue. He admitted that he owned the building, which was raided in June by federal operatives, who seized a large still, but asserted he had leased it.

"But that's not all," he continued. "Shockey and I are on a big deal to give Chicago a real subway. It will cost $250,000,000, and we'll run all the elevated trains underground and make the whole thing self-sustaining."

Parker was served with a subpoena to appear before the federal grand jury, presumably in connection with the brewery raid and he and his companions were freed.

CUBAN POLICE OFFICIAL SLAIN BY BOMB; 8 HURT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Sept. 6.—Maj. Francisco, Echenique, army supervisor of the Marianao police, was instantly killed, Maj. Estanislao Mansip, Capt. Jose Navarrete, Lieut. Manuel Lavoy, all police officials, and five civilians were seriously injured this morning when a 37 pound bomb exploded. The blast occurred as the officers were examining the bomb.

A patrolman had discovered the bomb behind an ornamental bush and telephoned police headquarters. The officers appeared and Maj. Echenique cut the wires connecting the bomb with the dry batteries. Believing there was no further danger, he began to remove the bomb when it exploded.

An inspection revealed that the connections were faked and that the bomb had been fixed to explode upon being touched. Maj. Mansip is not expected to recover. A bomb was hurled into his home last week. Heriberio Wilford, 18, son of John T. Wilford, publisher of the Havana American, was arrested.

Charles F. Hippner, 61, Beverly Builder, Dies

Charles F. Hippner, 61 years old, president of the Northwest Beverly Improvement association and a lifelong resident of the Beverly Hills neighborhood, died yesterday in his home, 9040 South Claremont avenue, following several months illness. Mr. Hippner was a mason contractor. His widow and two sons, Charles Jr. and Edward, survive. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow in Trinity Lutheran church, 100th street and Beverly avenue.

Rev. S. P. Englund, Former Melrose Park Pastor, Dies

The Rev. Simon Peter Englund, former pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church of Melrose Park, died yesterday at Marinette, Wis. He was about 45 years old and had left Melrose Park for another pastorate twelve years ago. He is survived by his wife. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 3:30 p. m. from the chapel in Forest Home cemetery.

Charlevoix, Mich., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Norman Ance, high school athlete last year, today saved six passengers aboard his small sail boat when it was swamped by a sudden squall on Lake Charlevoix. With him were Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Rockwell of Winnetka, Ill., and their four children, ranging in age from 9 to 16 years.

ARREST DEPUTY FOR HANGING IN PEKIN JAIL

Officer Is Formally Charged with Murder.

BULLETIN.

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Deputy Sheriff C. O. Skinner of Tazewell county was lodged in jail here tonight on a charge of murder as the result of the death of Martin Virant, East Peoria miner, in the Tazewell county jail last Thursday. The deputy was arrested in Pekin. He was brought here, Tazewell county officials said, "because feeling was running high."

Pekin, Ill., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—Deputy Sheriff C. O. Skinner was charged with the murder of Martin Virant, East Peoria coal miner, in a warrant obtained this afternoon by State's Attorney L. P. Dunkleberg. The warrant was issued after Dr. William D. McNally of Chicago declared that Virant did not hang himself in a jail cell here, as the deputy sheriff had claimed.

After examining Virant's body and the cell in which he was found dead, Dr. McNally, noted pathologist, said the man did not hang himself and that he was probably dead before he was strapped up by his own belt. Dr. McNally said he could not determine whether Virant died of a beating at the hands of deputies or of poisoning until further examination of a section of the brain and of the stomach contents is made in his Chicago laboratories.

Victim Accused Deputy.

Virant, who surrendered when he learned that he was wanted for questioning in connection with the murder of Lewis Newlan, also of East Peoria, testified at the coroner's inquest into that killing that he had been knocked down and kicked by several deputies while being held in jail, but he named only Skinner. Coroner A. E. Allen and Prosecutor Dunkleberg asked whether the charge placed against Skinner meant that the other deputies would be absolved.

"It does not," they replied.

Skinner was reported out of town and the warrant was placed in the hands of Chief of Police Ralph Goar. Sheriff J. J. Crosby said he would notify the chief upon Skinner's return.

Coroner Allen went to the cell in which Virant was held when he was notified by Skinner that the "material witness" had hanged himself. He said he found the body supported but not suspended by the belt, for the feet rested on the floor and the knees sagged. There were evidences of a severe beating on the head, but the face was not purple, as it would be in case of death by hanging.

Find Rib Broken.

An autopsy performed upon the body by Dr. Allen disclosed a broken rib and a concussion of the brain. Whether these injuries resulted in death or virant died of poisoning Dr. Allen and Dr. McNally said further examination would show. They declared that the deputy sheriffs sought permission from Sheriff Crosby to administer "knockout" drops so they could take Virant's finger prints.

Publish Third Book of Hugh Walpole Series

"The Fortress" Continues Family Strife.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"The Fortress," by Hugh Walpole. 584 pages. [Doubleday-Doran.] Published today.

THE third volume of that vast tetralogy of the Herries family which Hugh Walpole began with such lustiness and vigor in "Rogue Herries" and continued in a slightly calmer tempo in "Judith Paris" continues the amazing life of the heroine of the second volume to her one hundredth birthday celebration. It, like its predecessors, is a book which may be read quite apart from what went before or will come after, for each of the volumes is an entity in itself, a chronicle of a period in English history as much as a tale of human passions.

HUGH WALPOLE.

Like the previous volumes, "The Fortress" has as its tensest passion, hatred. The feud between two branches of the Herries family drags itself through the years to a tragic finale, and, as this book closes, the reader sees being planted before his very eyes the seeds of another feud which will probably bristle through the pages of the concluding volume, which is to bear the title "Vanessa," and which, according to a note at the end of this book, it is hoped, "will be published in the autumn of 1933. It will be chiefly concerned with the lives of Vanessa Paris and Benjamin and Ellis Herries"—which promises the reader of "The Fortress" a certainty of the family strife to which he has become accustomed in the first three volumes of the tetralogy.

Mr. Walpole has two supreme gifts as a writer, the gift of knowing and making his readers know how deeply rooted in their soil his characters are, whether that soil is of the Cumberland rocks of the Herries chronicles or the intangible spiritual loam of the cathedral towns or the airy orchid roots of the drawing rooms of London, as in "The Duchess of Wrexe." There is always something solid, firm, intermurtured about his characters and their backgrounds.

The soil of the Herries chronicles is the actual soil of Cumberland. As a nurturing force and as a menacing one it is almost as much a character in these books as the human beings which populate them so extensively that the reader must have his wits about him, or turn often to the family tree in the back of the book to keep their relationships clear.

The other special gift which Hugh Walpole has—and it is a strange one in conjunction with his special knowledge and understanding of places and their influence on human beings—is a gift for the macabre. It is a newer phase, perhaps, of his work, one of his later years, but it is none the less marked, that he does the sinister, the menacing, the terror-compelling nuances of human character to a turn.

Both of those gifts are supremely evident in the Herries volumes. "The Fortress" is macabre in the feud between the two branches of the family, culminating in the death of three people—the first who died naturally by the cumulation of her fear of disaster and the other two who died by force through the same fear and its reactions. The fortress itself, from which the book takes its name, is a vast, cold, horrible house built to spy upon the members of another branch of the family, and nicknamed by the countryside "The Fortress." Under its battlements the other Herries live, some in fear, some in defiance, always with Judith Paris at their head.

The story of the vast Herries clan is the foreground of the three volumes, but the foreground is no more minutely depicted than the huge background of England from the seventeenth century to the present day. The date of the last chapter of "The Fortress" is 1884. From the beginning of "Rogue Herries" to the end of "The Fortress" the whole social history of England is enacted as it is participated in by the countless members of one of the great families of the country.

Mr. Walpole will, when he has finished the tetralogy, have drawn a panorama of English social life which by its very minuteness is impressive and memorable, and which will take its place with "The Forsyte Saga" as a great chronicle of the great ages which lately succeeded each other to produce the present.

Brand New Book TARZAN TRIUMPHANT by Edgar Rice Burroughs ILLUSTRATED $2 a COPY

A Memorable Start for a New Publishing Season..

For the first time in our memory, both N. Y. Times and Herald Tribune, on August 27th, devoted the entire front pages of their Book Sections to a novel. This was THE SHELTERED LIFE which is, according to the press, not only the first important novel of the Fall, but one of the first novels of America. "A memorable record of a social scheme," says Fanny Butcher. Although published little over a week, Chicago booksellers report this great novel among the books most in demand in their shops.

Good Morning!

Well, more power to King Vidor! Apparently he doeth all things well!

To say "King Vidor made this picture" is practically equivalent to according that picture a favorable review; for this brilliant and sensitively attuned young man not only sees and feels keenly, but has the gift of projecting his reactions into the minds and emotions of others. His divers productions have given us many enjoyable hours—will you ever forget "Street Scene"?—and now the old play in which, twenty years ago, Lenore Ulric scored a stage success, has been resurrected by him and, because he saw it so, glows with new beauty from the screen.

The film will charm you from first to final beat of its South Sea island tom toms. It is impressive, credible, fascinating, and faultlessly played by a cunningly selected cast. It has swing, rhythm, flashing movement, still suspense, lureful scenery and photography.

The old fashioned dialogue has been modernized, and it is a white man of 1932 who meets and loves, and loses to hungry Pele, the island princess who has saved his life but is "for white man, tabu."

You may, in your lifetime, have beheld something lovelier than Dolores Del Rio as "the Bird of Paradise"—but I doubt it.

"Around her shone
The nameless charms unmarked by her alone.
The light of love, the purity of grace,
The mind, the music breathing from her face.
The heart whose softness harmonized the whole
And, O, that eye was in itself a soul." —Byron.

She gives a positively inspired performance. And the ecstatic, appealing, starry eyed radiance of her. . . !

One understands now, if one didn't before, the allegedly insatiable demand by Hollywood studios for the services of Joel McCrea as leading man. In this picture he's Johnny Weismuller, Ronald Colman, Robert Montgomer, and a couple of others rolled into one.

John Halliday and "Skeets" Gallagher deserve especially honorable mention.

The finale is logical—all things considered.

And when the story's finished—IT—IS—FINISHED! That is Mr. Vidor's way. He is one of the few directors who believes that the masses have good sense and prefer being convinced to the dubious satisfaction of the traditional "happy ending."

"RICHTHOFEN."

German production.
Presented at the Cinema theater.

The Cinema has reopened with a German film—silent, synchronized and with English subtitles—in which the Teuton actor, Carl Walther Myer, impersonates the late Richthofen, "Red Knight of Germany."

The footage is largely occupied with reproductions of the hero's air exploits and his activities at his squadron's base. There are excerpts from news reels and the producers have managed to inject heart interest via the fictional romance between a French girl and the German flying lieutenant supposed to have been Richthofen's best friend.

"Richthofen" is interesting historically and not bad histrionically. The photography is poor, the players' makeup terrible, and the subtitles stilted. There are some memorable scenes of which, possibly, the most striking is the news reel bit showing the dead hero's return to the Fatherland and his funeral in Berlin at which Von Hindenburg was one of the chief mourners.

This little theater's admittance prices have been reduced. The attendance yesterday must have delighted the heart of the management.

See you tomorrow.

Autumn Styles Draw Women to City's Shops

New Hats, Coats, Dresses Get Attention.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

AMONG the bright spots in town during the next few weeks will be the small shops along the boulevards and avenues—the small and swanky little snares that remind the prowling shopper of the famous, well advertised shops of Paris.

These shops are as numerous and as feminine as the pearl buttons on long French evening gloves. Their windows, filled with fancy feminine frills and fripperies are as tempting as French pastry.

In them, or behind the heavy plate glass windows, the passing window shopper looks for the "finds" of the current season . . . the newest confection called a hat, a deceptively simple swirl of velvet of the new crushed and crinkled variety, a hat that looks harmless enough when it is balanced on a window trim, but devastatingly dangerous on the right crop of head curls.

In another, you will see the fur trimmed coat of the year . . . shoulders and sleeves practically submerged under luxurious fur. A new coat of the newest, thick, velvety wool, made in the newest and most approved form fitting silhouette.

Beside it swanks the pet of any woman's fall and winter wardrobe, the afternoon suit. A suit that is really a costume, consisting of a slim black broadcloth princess dress with a bodice top of white and silver brocade . . . a coat with a most flattering high standing collar of frosted silver fox, so ingeniously designed as to use the entire scarf without mutilation, the head on the right side of the collar and the long thick silver white tail on the left. With it, is worn or carried, something new—a squarish silver fox muff.

Other small shops are showing the newest and most unusual angora wool costumes . . . they are so soft and lovely that they deserve the name of costume rather than that of sports dress. These angora woolens are available in some of the most delectable colors ever offered color conscious shoppers . . . a lovely old blue shade with just a suggestion of silver sheen . . . rich garnet red covered with a gray mist . . . almond green frosted with green silver and cool grayed browns that are impossible to describe.

You will find clever one piece dresses and two piece affairs of skirt and blouse and the more pretentious costumes of long sleeved dress matched to a short jacket. These are the new daytime and street and sports clothes that will be worn by all well dressed spectators who fill the boisterous grandstands this fall.

These cozy little shops seem to specialize in distinctive evening gowns and costumes. When you enter you see the really glamorous things that the appreciative clothes hound invariably dreams about. Long slinky sinister black gowns . . . sleek, gleaming, velvets . . . sparkling metallic brocades . . . picturesque starched chiffons for the debutante . . . and long draped heavy silk crepe costumes in dull white and pastel tints.

All the distinctive clothes as designed by world famous designers, the originals, and the more than clever American adaptations, are now being unwrapped from their tissue-stuffed boxes and hung in a glittering, breathtaking array in all the shops and stores of Chicago.

Bartle Bulls Return from World Cruise

Bartle Bull and his wife, the former Rosemary Baur, arrived back in Chicago yesterday after an extended honeymoon tour which took them around the world and lasted nearly a year. Their stay in Chicago will be only for several weeks, however. They will be guests of Mrs. Bull's mother, Mrs. Bertha Baur, at her Astor street residence until Oct. 1, when they will start out again with their dozens of trunks and bags, for a permanent residence in England.

Completely surrounded by their innumerable pieces of luggage, the young couple whose marriage last November was one of the highlights of the social season were greeted at the station by Mrs. Baur and whisked away speedily to her home. Mrs. Bull, vivacious in a smart blue wool suit with a dash of crimson, wore a modish blue hat at the proper angle, sporting a red quill. She pointed out to the delegation of friends and interviewers one trunk filled with approximately 15,000 feet of moving picture films taken in the course of their rambles in far places.

"Our best shots were made in Bali and at Angkhor," she related. "I'm feeling wonderful, but I did have typhoid in Java—from drinking some bad water."

Tennis Claims Share of Time of Fall Bride

Sophia Harrington in Knollwood Finals.

BY JUDITH CASS.

NO wonder Sophia Harrington couldn't win the important tennis match she played at the Knollwood club Monday—the wonder is that she ever got as far as the finals in the women's singles this year—with her mind full of plans for her trousseau and her wedding to "Jake" Bischof on Thursday, Sept. 22.

And her tennis worries for this year aren't over, either, for next Sunday she and Mrs. Wilbur Calhoun Smith have to play Mrs. Franklin G. Clement, the winner of the women's singles, and Mrs. William B. Freer, for the women's doubles championship at the club.

If Miss Harrington and Mrs. Smith win this time it will be their third successive victory and it will mean that they will receive a lovely big cup.

The Harrington-Bischof wedding is to take place at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon at the Church of the Holy Spirit in Lake Forest, where the Harringtons have a house this summer, after which there will be a reception at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Harrington. Only the relatives and a few friends are invited to the ceremony with a larger company invited to the reception.

Two Sisters in Wedding Parties

Miss Mary Bates Harrington, who will be leaving shortly after the wedding for the Shipley school at Bryn Mawr, is to be her sister's maid of honor, and Ann, the youngest daughter of the family, and Mrs. Richard H. Fleming [Betty Marshall] are to be the bride's other attendants. Warren Bicknell Jr. is coming from Cleveland to serve as best man for Mr. Bischof, and ushering will be Augustus W. Bennet of Newburgh, N. Y., John W. Blodgett Jr. of Grand Rapids, Charles M. Hines, and Davis Kales of Chicago, and John B. Ryerson of Cooperstown, N. Y., formerly of Chicago.

Mr. Ryerson, by the way, is coming to Chicago for the pre-nuptial festivities as soon as he is ready to leave the National Amateur Golf tournament at Baltimore, which starts next Monday and ends on the 17th, so his friends here are hoping they won't see him until the 18th for in spite of their anxiety to see him, they hope he will not be put out of the tournament until the finals.

The first of the parties for Miss Harrington and her husband-to-be is a dinner that Mrs. Fleming will give Friday night at the Wilmette studio of her father, Benjamin H. Marshall. The former Janice McNear and her husband, Lieut. Warren Towle Jr., who are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. McNear, will share honors with Miss Harrington and Mr. Bischof at the party. Mr. Bischof and his bride will be at home after Nov. 1 at 73 East Elm street.

Marie Smith Bride Today

The first of the autumn weddings that society has been looking forward to all summer is taking place this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Kinney Smith of 10 East Schiller street.

The bride is Miss Marie Smith, and the bridegroom is Hyde Gillette. The Rev. Father Edward Mullally of St. Mary's church will read the service in the presence of the families and a few friends, but more friends have been invited to the reception that will follow.

Miss Smith's only attendants will be her sister, Mrs. Randolph Payson [Elizabeth Smith] and Mrs. Payson's four and a half year old daughter, Betty. Edwin Gillette will act as his brother's best man, and ushering will be Harlow N. Higinbotham, Alexis de Tarnowsky, John M. Blair, and Thomas P. Field.

Mr. and Mrs. Gillette will live in Barrington after the first of October. Mr. Gillette's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Fraser Gillette of Pasadena, formerly of Chicago, are here for the ceremony, and also his sisters, the Misses Helen and Marietta Gillette, who made their debuts here last season at a tea given for them by their aunt, Mrs. William Shippen Jenks.

September Is Month of Brides

September certainly has taken the place of June as the month of brides this year, for there are many more weddings scheduled for this month than there were for last June. The improvement in business conditions may be partly responsible for this, for most young men do have to be making money to keep their brides before they enter the matrimonial ranks even if their fathers are well to do and generous, too.

Tonight the young John Noyeses are giving the bridal dinner for his sister, Miss Florence Noyes, who is to be married to George T. Senseney tomorrow afternoon at St. Chrysostom's church. The dinner is to be at the Saddle and Cycle. Following tomorrow's ceremony, which is to be witnessed by as large an assemblage as the fashionable church on Dearborn parkway will hold, there is to be a small reception at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest High Noyes of 1242 Lake Shore drive. Mr. and Mrs. Senseney will be at home after Oct. 15 at 55 West Burton place.

Academy Will Mark 75th Year

That fashionable boys' preparatory school, Lake Forest academy, will celebrate its 75th anniversary during the coming school year. Next Wednesday Robert J. Thorne, president of the board of trustees; Headmaster John Wayne Richards, and the Rev.

The Death Watch

By Edgar Wallace

SYNOPSIS.

Peter Dunn of Scotland Yard is in pursuit of a band of thieves who some years before had robbed the Canadian Bank of Commerce in London. The robbers went to jail for the theft, but the loot was never recovered. Peter's buddy, Inspector Sam Allerway, was dismissed in disgrace, accused of taking a bribe from the head thief, and killed himself. Peter, the only baronet in the service, kept right on working after he came into his title and fortune. It was his form of fun and he wanted to vindicate Allerway. The year after the robbers were released Peter, on a vacation, cruising on the Thames, recognizes a servant in a supposedly haunted house as one of the robbers. He stays to investigate. The house is owned by Mr. Hannay and is one of two identical villas lying side by side. Hannay's has been improved, while the other is deserted and decayed. Neither Hannay nor his daughter, Pat, believe the ghost stories, but the servants leave one by one. Pat has an unpleasant encounter with a huge, ugly new gardener and orders him dismissed. Mr. Herzoff, a scientist living in the neighborhood, is a guest of Hannay's. Peter meets Pat Hannay several times in the course of his investigation and falls immediately in love with her.

INSTALLMENT XV.

A WINDOW BARRED.

Pat drew aside, peering around the edge of the window sash, and saw the gardener halt on the lawn about half a dozen yards away. He was smoking a cigar; she saw the red glow of it as he took it out of his mouth.

"Are you up there, miss?" he asked in a croaking whisper.

She did not answer. Evidently he had heard her voice and had come across to investigate. What was he doing there? If Higgins had spoken the truth he had no right to be in the grounds of Chesterford. Perhaps he had come back for something he had left behind. She found a dozen uneasy explanations and was relieved when he turned and walked back the way he had come, presently to be swallowed in the darkness.

"Your voice carries too far, young lady." It was Peter's sibilant whisper. "That was a narrow squeak."

"For me or you?"

"For me—therefore for you," said Peter. "Two guns, eh?"

"What do you mean?" she asked bewildered.

"One on each hip—I saw them. Now go in, shut the window and draw the blinds, and don't put on your light."

She sat in the darkness for a long time. Then she heard a sound that brought her heart to her mouth. A ladder was being put against her window. She sat and quaked. She had fastened the casement. She dared not look and only a shadow, which almost seemed imaginary, showed on the curtain. Then she heard a soft, thudding sound, as though somebody was hitting a piece of iron with a hammer which had been carefully muffled.

A home-made ladder led to the depths.

Her first thought was to fly downstairs, but terror held her; and in her terror was that curiosity which is natural in a healthy girl.

After about ten minutes the hammering stopped. She heard the rasp of feet on the rungs of the ladder and the scrape of it as it was taken away. She went carefully to the window, drew the curtain aside a fraction of an inch and looked out. She could just see the man . . . it was the gardener!

Then she saw what he had been doing. Across her window stretched, in the shape of a St. Andrew's cross, two steel rods. They had this effect, that they made it impossible for the window to open.

Peter had seen the maneuver, watching at a respectful distance. He waited till Standey had carried the ladder back to a big greenhouse, then he crept forward and saw the work he had been doing.

Something pretty bad was going to happen tonight. He wondered just what it would be.

Peter had a lot of work to do and he had already lost a considerable amount of time. He got back to the hut in the wood, fitted a jimmy together and wrenched off the staple which held the door.

He was not unprepared for what he saw—a yawning hole in the middle of the hut, roughly supported by tree trunks that must have been cut for the purpose. A homemade ladder led to the depths. He went down quickly, reached the bottom, and saw the black mouth of a tunnel.

The floor was of rock and ascended, but the going was dangerous. At the very stir of his feet great lumps of earth fell from the roof and he was glad to get back to the ladder and the outer air.

He reached the little lane and went on foot for a hundred yards. Near where he had parked his car four men were waiting for him.

"Well, Peter, have you found anything?"

It was the voice of his chief inspector and with him were another Scotland Yard man and two heads of the Berkshire police.

"The whole gang is here," reported Peter, "Lee Smitt, Red Fanderson, and Joe Kelly. Smitt is posing as a professor with a knowledge of the occult. The curious thing is that he's been a member of this golf club for about twenty years. He has probably visited the country before and I shouldn't be surprised to find that he's a member of some of the most exclusive clubs in town. Fanderson's been working as a gardener—I believe he did some gardening when he was in Dartmoor—and Joe Kelly is back at his old job—butler-valet, with the grand old name of Higgins."

"We can pinch 'em," said his chief thoughtfully, "and charge 'em with returning to the country after being deported——"

"I'm not here to pinch 'em for being deported," said Peter almost savagely. "I'm here to wipe out the lie that put Sam Allerway into a suicide's grave. That's highly dramatic, but it's highly sincere. If you pinched them now you wouldn't get the stuff. Eight hundred and thirty thousand Canadian dollars, all lying snug."

"Where?" asked one of the Berkshire chiefs.

"In Hannay's house."

"I don't see how it can be in Hannay's house," said one of the men. "Why should they have put it there?"

"I'll tell you why later."

"How did you stumble on this, Peter? When you phoned me yesterday I thought you'd gone crazy."

Peter Dunn told the story of the night when the little cruiser was tied up to Hannay's land.

"It was just a ghost story told by an hysterical maid," he said, "until the butler came down to return the rug. The moment I heard his voice I knew it was Kelly. I'd heard it in court—there was no mistaking it. I identified the gardener and Lee Smitt the next day. They've got nerve, but they're desperate. There are eight hundred and thirty thousand Canadian dollars, and that's a lot of dollars."

"Why should it be in Hannay's house?" The question was asked again.

"I'll tell you all about that one of these days," said Peter. "I'm going back now. Whatever is going to happen will happen tonight. I want the house closed on all sides, including the river."

"The Bucks police are sending a motor boat patrol," said one of the Berkshire men. "I've got fifty plain clothes officers within half a mile. When do you think you'll want us and how are we to know?"

Peter Dunn explained his plan of operations; but, like many other carefully made plans, it was doomed to failure. Happily he did not know this as he went back quickly towards Chesterford and its strange guests.

Doris Blake Answers

Parents Are Best Judges.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am 16 and if I come home after 9 o'clock I get an awful scolding. Shouldn't I be allowed to stay out to at least 9:30?

"E. M. S."

Your parents are in a better position to judge than I. You'd better try to please them.

Common Weakness.

"Dear Miss Blake: I love a married woman who has three children. I am 18 and she is 23. Please make a suggestion. HAPPY."

You would, because of your youth, fall in love with an older woman. But you'll get over it shortly. It's a common disease of youth.

Sour Cream Is Tasty Dressing for Vegetables

Combination Is Known as "Farmer's Chop Suey."

BY MARY MEADE.

Have you met "farmer's chop suey?" It's no stranger to most of us, but perhaps the name is less familiar than the dish itself. Actually it is a delicious new kind of vegetable salad with a knowing combination of "the last of the garden"—curly greens, wafer thin slivers of carrots, onions, beets, cabbage, cucumbers—really almost anything at all that will blend crisply and crunchily together to form a perfect harmony of texture, color, and taste.

But just vegetables aren't all. For to be a true "farmer's chop suey" a salad must be dressed in that most luscious of delicacies—sour cream. On some unimaginative bills of fare you may have heard this termed a "health salad." Don't do it. It immediately gives the diner the sense of being doctored, in the kitchen, never drag it to the table], cold fresh cooked or uncooked vegetables for spring, summer, and fall salads, given verve and distinction by the tang of freshly soured cream, are being heralded as excellent appetite teasers and health promoters by dietitians and doctors alike. Sour cream and sour milk do much toward keeping our digestive tracts and general physical tone in tiptop order. And fresh vegetables, beside their important job as bulk givers to hurry up the assimilation of other foods, supply important amounts of health insuring vitamins and blood and bone building minerals.

The dressing, first of all, is a simple sour cream combination which is excellent on either vegetable or fruit salads. This is the recipe I use:

SOUR CREAM DRESSING.
1 cup freshly soured cream.
2 tablespoons sugar.
3 tablespoons vinegar.
¼ teaspoon salt.
Dash of paprika.
Dash of cayenne.

Whip the sour cream until stiff, no longer. Stir in the vinegar, sugar, and seasonings slowly. Beat until thick.

Another sour cream dressing which is delicious with either vegetables or fish goes this way:

SAVORY SOUR CREAM DRESSING.
1 cup thick sour cream.
2 tablespoons each sugar, vinegar, and salad oil.
1-3 cup tomato catsup.
¾ teaspoon salt.

Blend carefully the sugar, vinegar, and salt. Beat the catsup and add the cream gradually, beating constantly.

The vegetables? There are so many possibilities that it is a job to select even those to mention. However, here are a few of the best combinations. The proportions depend on individual tastes.

VEGETABLE COMBINATIONS FOR FARMER'S CHOP SUEY.

1. Cucumber, green pepper, tomato, onion, and radish all sliced fine and tossed with sour cream dressing.

2. Diced celery and cooked kidney beans, made tangy with chopped pickle and blended with the savory sour cream dressing given above.

3. Finely grated raw carrots, fresh tomato cubed, finely minced onion, plus sour cream dressing.

4. Shredded cabbage, slivers of green pepper, diced celery, and chopped peanuts. Savory sour cream dressing.

5. Shredded cabbage, diced beets, minced onions. Sour cream.

6. Diced potatoes, chopped celery, diced cucumbers, minced hard cooked eggs. Season with salt, and dashes of cayenne, mustard, and paprika. Serve with savory sour cream dressing.

Different Ages Set Children Worlds Apart

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

"I have a girl 3½ and a boy 1½. I find they do not always agree. Quite often one bites, pulls hair, or slaps the other. I have scolded, punished, and tried to explain why it is wrong to treat each other in this way. I have not been able to stop it. Can you please tell me what to do? I need all the help or advice I can get, so I am inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for . . ."

And here followed the names of several of our booklets. What we need next is a booklet on just this subject. But, since we haven't one, here are a few suggestions:

It is perfectly natural for mothers to feel that children, just because they are of the same family, should play happily together day in and day out.

Think about these two children, as far as their powers are concerned and their interests—3½ and 1½ years old. In years they are not far apart; in development they are miles apart. The baby of a year and a half has mastered walking, is still learning to talk, is absorbed in the tremendous job of gaining control of his big muscles. He is concerned with new skills and has no social sense, no understanding of give and take. He cannot be a satisfying and constant companion for a child of 3½.

Their needs are different, and scolding, punishing, and talking of right and wrong will not solve the trouble. First, each child should have playthings suitable to his age.

Second, the children should not be constantly together.

In addition, if the mother would treat the older of two young children as a companion, take some time to be alone with her, and take the attitude that the younger is some one for them both to take care of, it would help a great deal.

Tell of Rare Old Testament Published By Edith McCormick

The last of the many cultural contributions of Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick was brought to completion too late for her to witness its accomplishment.

A few days before her death, it was learned yesterday, the University of Chicago Press issued the first copy of the reproduction of a Thirteenth century Byzantine manuscript of the New Testament, written in Greek.

The original manuscript was purchased by Mrs. McCormick for her private collection at behest of Dr. Edgar J. Goodspeed of the university, who discovered it in a Paris book shop.

Having acquired the manuscript, Mrs. McCormick loaned it to the university and provided $15,000 for its reproduction. In gratitude, the university hastened publication and sent the first copy off the press to the suite in the Drake hotel where she lay dying. The copy arrived a few days before her death on Aug. 24 at a time when she was too ill to enjoy it.

Boys Know Less than Girls of Home Expenses

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"My daughter is keeping company with a young man who has no trade. He works for his father. He receives his board and ten dollars a week for expenses and clothes. He talks about trying to do this and that, but it only remains talk.

"Meanwhile my daughter and he are in love and want to get married. On what? I am not in a position to support a couple just married as so many parents unfortunately have to do. They even have to pay expenses when a baby is born.

"Now, I do not expect any son-in-law to support me, but I do want him to be able to pay rent and support a wife. There surely must be some duties a future husband should be taught. And that's what I write to you about, Miss Blake. Why aren't boys taught from early youth that marriage has expenses attached to it? Why aren't they taken into the family conferences just often enough to be made to realize that money is necessary to keep a home?

"Boys are brought up in far worse ignorance than girls on the financial end of domestic life. Understand, I am not one of those mothers who thinks a son-in-law should be able to support a girl beyond his circumstances. But I do think boys should be trained to know exactly what their circumstances mean in a marriage connection. We parents are willing enough to lend a helping hand when fate or misfortune overtakes a young couple. But what paralyzes me is the blissful state of ignorance of so many young males about the meaning of supporting a wife. Mrs. W. A."

You're right, Mrs. W. A. Boys should be trained to a knowledge of money in connection with their own future married careers. You are right, too, in your premise that boys are more illy equipped to face the financial features of home maintenance than girls.

How One Woman Lost 20 Pounds of Fat

Lost Her Prominent Hips—Double Chin—Sluggishness

Gained Physical Vigor—A Shapely Figure.

If you're fat—first remove the cause!

Take one half teaspoonsful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning—avoid fatty meats and starches—in 3 weeks get on the scales and note how many pounds of fat have vanished.

Notice also that you have gained in energy—your skin is clearer—you feel younger in body—Kruschen will give any fat person a joyous surprise.

But be sure it's Kruschen—your health comes first—and SAFETY first is the Kruschen promise.

Get a bottle of Kruschen Salts from any leading druggist anywhere in America (last 4 weeks) and the cost is but little. If this first bottle doesn't convince you this is the easiest, SAFEST and surest way to lose fat—your money gladly returned.

A Chicagoan Invents Own Fishing Nets

Ties Legs of Trousers to Capture Smelts.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

ANGLERS in the vicinity of Portland, Ore., are commenting enthusiastically on the ingenuity displayed recently by a certain well known Chicagoan while on a visit to the city of the rose.

Anxious to see the Multnomah and Bridal Veil falls showering down from dizzy heights, he set off alone by motor up the Columbia river highway early one morning. Crossing the Sandy river just a mile or two below the Columbia gorge, he noticed men, women, and children with nets, wire baskets, even bird cages fishing something from the stream.

Curiosity getting the better of him, he stopped to learn that the "something" was smelts—and smelts happen to be one of his particular weaknesses.

Without a second thought he nosed his car about and made for the nearest town to equip himself with a fishing net. But the "postmaster-clerk-soda jerk" proprietor of the one and only crossroads store soon informed him that all of his bird cages and wire baskets had been sold and that his two remaining nets would sell for nothing less than $10 each.

"A gyp," repeated this Chicagoan to himself as he spied a particularly husky looking pair of blue serge trousers in a corner—price $1.89. "I'll take those instead, also a ball of twine."

Five minutes later he was back on the banks of the Sandy river pulling in trouser leg after trouser leg of the silvery catch. The twine had served its purpose in making pouches of the trouser legs.

That day he passed up the Columbia river trip, but then why not when he could present to his host and hostess smelts fresh from the Sandy river and unique—at least in the catching?

Another note or two from a "potpourri" gathered here and there along the Pacific coast and in the Canadian northwest. James William French, big game hunter in Canada's Rockies, is carrying a grizzly's claw in his pocket this summer "for the sake of good luck." He rescued it last spring when he trapped a bear that was fording the Thompson river. The bear bit off his own claw.

Mr. French made a place for himself here in Chicago five years ago when he led the party that trapped a herd of white Rocky mountain goats, several elk, and one or two mule deer for the Field museum. Julius Friesser and Holling C. Holling, both of the museum staff, were with him at the time.

If you haven't seen these goats, pay them a visit one of these days for, as Mr. French explains, singularly they don't amount to so much but as a herd they're an achievement.

In northern California one of the favorite boasts these days concerns the eucalyptus tree. It is even predicted that it will soon mean as much to the state as gold did back in the days of '49. Several of San Francisco's beneficent citizens have set out large forests of the tall, slender giants recognized by their constantly peeling bark.

The eucalyptus grows rapidly—very rapidly for a tree. It demands little or no water; its wood is unsurpassed for building such things as ships and fences, and its oil is useful as a medicine. Reasons enough for the tree's value.

There is the traveler who, upon hearing the eucalyptus boast with its explanation, inquired quite seriously:

"And the ukulele, is it made from the erysipelas tree?"

THE STAGE

Harry J. Powers Sr., Chicago representative of the Erlanger theatrical interests and manager of the Illinois theater for many years, held a conference with the bondholders' protective committee of that playhouse yesterday to discuss plans for its future operation. Mr. Powers stated that no productions are available for booking this season. However, arrangements are being made by Mr. Powers and Judge Mitchell Erlanger of New York to stage nonmusical plays at the Illinois during the Century of Progress exposition which opens next June.

Title to the property has passed to Ralph De Swart, secretary of the bondholders' committee. The Illinois theater was dedicated early in the fall of 1900 with Julia Marlowe in "Barbara Frietchie" as the attraction.

Three changes in the September theatrical schedule were announced yesterday, as follows:

"Cynara," with Philip Merivale as its star, will end its current engagement at the Grand Opera house Sept. 17 instead of Sept. 24.

"Of Thee I Sing," recently announced for a première at the Grand Opera house on Sept. 25, will come to that theater a week earlier, opening Sept. 18.

"The Passing Show," which had been booked for an opening at the Apollo theater next Sunday night, will not arrive until Sept. 18 or later.

Mrs. Sidney Y. Ball, Mrs. R. C. Hibbard to discuss plans for a benefit moving picture preview and dance to be given tomorrow in Mrs. Hibbard's garden. Proceeds will go to the league's fund for the publication and distribution of candidates' records this fall. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Herbert W. Prince will welcome new boys and returning students at a convocation in Reid hall.

The opening day of school will mark the beginning of the diamond jubilee celebration and also Dr. Richards' twentieth year as headmaster. The academy was founded in the then primeval forest by a group of prominent pioneer Chicagoans who felt the need of a middle western school where their sons could be prepared for eastern colleges.

One of the first year boys this year will be Horace Farwell Ferry Jr., whose father, uncles, and granduncles attended the school. His granduncles, John V., Francis C., and Arthur Lincoln Farwell, all prepared for Yale at the academy. Clayton Mark III., who will enter his third year this year, is also following in his father's footsteps and will enter Harvard after his graduation. His grandfather, Clayton Mark, is one of the trustees of the school.

Among other prominent Chicagoans who have prepared for college at Lake Forest academy are Dr. Lewis Linn McArthur, Frederick T. Haskell, William A. Bond, Robert W. Hamill, Howard F. Gillette, Scott S. Durand, Ezra J. Warner, Harold C. Smith, Alvin B. Swift, Edward W. Everett, and James R. Offield.

Janet Fairbank to Give Recital

The gold chairs from a caterer's that were taken to Mrs. Clyde M. Carr's lovely residence in Lake Forest four times during the summer for lecture-recitals by Lee Pattison will be taken there again on Thursday, Sept. 22, for a recital by Miss Janet Fairbank, and I predict that even a larger crowd than assembled for the popular Mr. Pattison's affairs will be on hand to hear Miss Fairbank sing. Invitations for the recital are in the mail today and Mrs. Tiffany Blake is in charge of the sale of tickets.

Miss Geraldine Foster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Foster of 1512 Dearborn parkway, has left for Montreal to join a party of five girls who are sailing for Europe preparatory to entering Les Fougeres at Lausanne, Switzerland, chaperoned by one of the mistresses from the school. Miss Marguerite Foster has returned from a visit with Miss Susan Follansbee at the Mitchell D. Follansbee's summer place near Traverse City.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Sheldon and Miss Peggy Sheldon of Winnetka are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Nell C. Ward at their camp on Batchawana bay in Ontario. The Wards will be in Chicago for a few days early in October on their way to Memphis, where they expect to spend the winter, having rented their apartment on Lake Shore drive for the next year.

The Edwin L. Lobdells will return tomorrow from Estes Park and will go out to the Exmoor club in Highland Park to enjoy the last of the summer before opening their Prairie avenue house. Their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Reed, and their two daughters have motored out to Estes from Evanston and are occupying the Lobdell house there for a few weeks.

John S. Coonley and his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas I. Underwood, will return this week from Gull Lake, Minn., where they have been visiting friends from Minneapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Carroll Kennedy of 50 West Schiller street are being congratulated upon the birth of a daughter, Zoe Carroll Kennedy, on Saturday at the Presbyterian hospital. The baby is named for her great-grandmother, Zoe Page, widow of Col. J. Augustus Page of New York. Mrs. Kennedy's mother, Mrs. E. Huthaway Turnbull, is here from Greenwich, Conn., visiting the Kennedys'.

WEDDING

Mrs. Franklin Pierce Lindsay of Hammond, Ind., formerly of Topeka, Kas., announces the marriage of her daughter, Marian Anne, to William R. Ritterbusch, son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Ritterbusch of New York, on Aug. 31 at the Thorndike Hilton chapel of the University of Chicago. The Rev. Robert McEwen of the university officiated. The bride is a graduate of the law school of the university and is secretary to Judge Thomas W. Swan of the United States Circuit court in New York. She formerly was secretary to Judge Evan A. Evans of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—President and Mrs. Hoover have returned from their prolonged weekend at their Rapidan camp.

The Austrian minister and Mme. Prochnik and their family have returned to the legation from Rehobeth Beach where they had a cottage all summer and entertained numerous parties. The minister's second daughter, Valerie, will be listed among the season's debutantes this year.

Mrs. Champ Clark, widow of the former speaker of the house, who made a recent visit in Washington has returned to her home in Bolling Green, Mo.

Mrs. Katherine Guy Hopkins announces the engagement of her daughter, Anne Hopkins Hope, to James Waters Allison of Richmond, Va. The wedding is expected to take place in the early autumn.

Museum Gets Bonefish.

A specimen of the bonefish of the Florida keys has been added to the exhibits in Albert W. Harris hall at Field museum, it was announced yesterday. The fish was caught and presented to the museum by Col. Lewis S. Thompson of Red Bank, N. J.

Eyebrows Are Groomed to the Very Last Hair

Unusual, Startling, They Arouse Interest.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

"Funny," says the girl, matching a tawny lipstick to her beautifully suntanned skin, "funny eyebrows! Never saw anything like them. Heavy from the nose to the middle of the line. From there the thinnest thread line right down to the corner of the lower lid."

"It did make her look interesting, though," responded the companion with the gold vanity trimmed with black.

Eyebrows surely have gone interesting looking. They may be startling, unbecoming sometimes, freakish at others—but interesting! They just go to show that you never can tell what's going to happen when women begin concentrating on any particular feature. Eyebrows certainly have seen a lot of tampering of recent days. Is it the Garbo influence?

The thing about them that is interesting to me is the way in which you get used to them, get to looking for some new twist, pruning or turn to them. And finding that the extremely thin line may even grow on you—providing it's growing on the right young girl. I still think that women who aren't satin smooth of brow and childishly free of wrinkled lids should permit a little width indulgence to eyebrows. At least, it is best not to focus attention too closely to the lined or wrinkle blemished skin. Too, over an eye not as young as it was in its heyday, the extremely thin line isn't kind. And if those commonly seen perpendicular lines between the eyebrows are present, the fuller line of eyebrow is much the better.

All the movie girls I have seen and talked with lately show signs of eyebrow consciousness. They're groomed to the last minute hair, the line extended invariably with pencil. Jean Harlow's takes the most startling turn, as you have noted yourself, no doubt. But, of course, these girls are all young and youth's other gifts would make forgiveness possible, I suppose, did the eyebrow run a perpendicular course right up the middle of the forehead.

French Hostess Knows the Charm of Purple Velvet

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS. — [Special.] — Fashionable Parisienne hostesses are choosing frocks in velvet for their first dinner parties and at-homes of the fall social season. They are discarding their favorite black and white, and ordering deep, rich purple. Perhaps this shade is being chosen because the royal purple suggests that woman reigns supreme in her own home.

One of the most stunning purple hostess frocks of the season has been designed by Maggy Rouff, whose pet color has always been this shade. This frock, sketched today, is in one of the new, dull transparent velvets that adds subtlety to this particular color. A V-shaped yoke forms the upper bodice, which has a softly, draped cowl neckline. The front of the bodice descends into the skirt in a V-shaped band. Gathers are placed at either side to hold in the bellless waistline. The sleeves are merely loops of the velvet attached together a few inches below the shoulder and are in one piece with the shoulder yoke.

The small sketch shows the back of this frock, with its narrow collar close around the neck, and its back exposed in a U-shaped décolleté. From the point of the décolleté, half a dozen tiny velvet covered buttons perform an ornamental as well as practical duty. Tiny gathers are placed at either side of these buttons. The skirt has a deep V-shaped yoke, with fullness starting from the point of that band.

Child Haven Home Will Benefit from 'Have a Heart' Day

One of the forty-three institutions which will benefit from the proceeds of the annual "Have a Heart" tag day on next Monday is the Child Haven Home for Children, 8323 Yale avenue. The home cares for thirty-five dependent children placed in its care through the courts, and at the present time, according to its president, Mrs. Frank Specht, is desperately in need of help.

Miss L. Ellen Babcock, president of the Chicago Federated Charities which is sponsoring the tag day, repeated her plea yesterday that the public donate their dimes and nickles. She warned against accepting any substitute tag.

You Can Lose Fat a Pound a Day on a Full Stomach this way

Do Just These Two Simple Things—Fat Melts Away

Science has made important discoveries in fat reduction. The average fat person can now rip off a pound a day—four to seven pounds every week—on a full stomach, with never a hungry moment. Thus it is foolish now to stay fat.

This is what you do: Take a teaspoonful ordinary Jad salts in a glass of water a half hour before breakfast every morning. This reduces moisteure-weight instantly. Also cleanses the system of the waste matter and excess toxins that most fat people have, and banishes puffiness and bloat.

Then do this about eating: FILL YOUR STOMACH—eat your fill—of lean meats, vegetables like spinach, cauliflower, cabbage, tomatoes, etc., and lots of salads. Eat a lot. Eat all you can hold. Don't go hungry a minute! Cut down on fats, starches and desserts. Eat any fruit for dessert.

That's all you do. Fat seems to melt away. The coarse lines of overweight give way to the refined ones of slenderness. You lose as much as a pound a day. You feel better than for years. For in this treatment you achieve two important results. The Jad Salts clear your system of toxins. *The diet takes off fat with food that turns into energy instead of weight.

If you're tired of being embarrassed by fat, try this way. You'll be glad that you did. You can get Jad Salts at any drug store.

*Note particularly—the salts are urged purely as a poison-banishing agent—not as a reducing. The change in food does the work.

NORMAL SCHOOL WASTES MONEY, MYERS ASSERTS

Points to Present Surplus of 2,250 Teachers.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

"Expenditures on the Chicago Normal college at the present time are a complete waste of the taxpayers' money," said President Lewis E. Myers of the school board yesterday.

"Suppose an automobile manufacturer had turned out enough cars to supply the demand for the next four years. Then suppose he still went on manufacturing more. The directors would fire him as incompetent. Some of the stockholders would insist upon having his head examined in a psychopathic hospital, and others would want him prosecuted for wasting their investment.

"Is that much different from what we are doing at Normal college? We have about 1,700 teachers on the waiting list and about 550 supernumerary teachers waiting for jobs. A total of 2,250 unemployed teachers, which is probably a four years' supply. Yet we are manufacturing more teachers, and more teachers. For Normal college we appropriated $273,893 for this year.

Money Needed to Teach Pupils.

"We are spending that sum to make more teachers, while we haven't enough money to hire teachers to train the estimated 10,900 new pupils expected in the schools when they open next Monday. We are more solicitous about making more teachers, —an auxiliary function—than we are about teaching the pupils, the main purpose of the schools.

"We are spending $300 a year per student to train more teachers while neglecting to provide teachers for high school pupils who do not cost half of that amount."

The Normal college is shown by the board's records to be not only one of the most expensive branches of the school system, in cost per pupil, but its cost has risen faster and in a larger percentage since 1925 than that of any other branch of the service.

The following table shows the cost per student for instruction, operation and maintenance of the Normal college from 1925 to 1931, inclusive:

Year—	Instruction.	Operation.	Mainten.
1925	$180.06	$11.57	$ 6.49
1926	202.98	14.32	5.83
1927	238.88	16.09	5.76
1928	238.39	22.85	13.32
1929	243.46	23.60	7.76
1930	265.94	25.54	19.38
1931	287.64	29.89	15.62

This tabulation is based upon the average membership in the college. The school board has also compiled figures showing the per student cost based upon overage daily attendance, which is slightly lower than the total membership. Those figures combine the expense of instruction, operation and maintenance.

On membership the records show that the cost per student has risen from $199.02 in 1925 to $333.15 last year, an increase of 67.3 per cent.

This year the appropriations have been decreased, so that the cost will not be quite so high. If the appropriation is spent and the college has 1,000 pupils, the average cost will be 278.89. The superintendent's office, however, predicts that the enrollment this fall will be only 900, so that the cost is more likely to be in the neighborhood of $304.32. The rising per student cost of the Normal college, both on the basis of total membership and average daily attendance, is shown in the following table, compiled from the board's financial records:

Year—	Membership.	Attendance.
1925	$199.02	$293.96
1926	228.13	325.00
1927	261.53	305.92
1928	274.56	286.89
1929	275.02	280.94
1930	310.86	316.18
1931	333.15	333.87
*1932	278.89	.....
†1932	304.32	.....

*Figured on enrollment of 1,000.
†Reckoned on enrollment of 900.

The trouble, according to critics, is that Normal college is still operated on the theory that people can pay the taxes assessed, and that they should be compelled to pay them.

Educators Versus Experts.

That is the assumption of the leaders of the educators in the public school system, although every tax student—outside of the schools—believes that the people haven't the money with which to pay their assessments.

In 1930 the Normal spent $310.86 per student, as compared with $199.02 in 1925, a boost of 56 per cent. On the basis of 900 pupils, the cost this year will be $304.32, nearly 53 per cent above 1925. It so happens that only 53 per cent of the taxes for 1930 have been collected, and it is regarded as improbable that much more in taxes will be collected for 1932 than have been collected for 1930.

COURT DENIES PLEA OF TWO DAUGHTERS SUING IRVING T. BUSH

New York, Sept. 6.—[Special.]—Supreme Court Justice Untermyer denied today the motion of two daughters of Irving T. Bush, millionaire industrialist of New York, to restrain their father from disposing of a trust fund he created for them in May valued at several hundred thousand dollars.

The daughters, Mrs. Beatrice B. B. Bissell and Mrs. Eleanor T. B. Allen, both of Pasadena, Cal., declared through their counsel that their father was illegally withholding from Ward L. Sturges, trustee of the fund, real estate and securities which Mr. Bush had allocated to it.

Mr. Bush's lawyer stated that the assets of the fund still were intact and that Mr. Bush had not, since creating the fund, committed any act to interfere with its administration. While saying that he did not know why the daughters were bringing the action, the lawyer stated that Mrs. Marion Spore Bush, the industrialist's wife, had waived her dower rights to any of the collateral involved.

The same daughters have another suit against their father over another fund of about $1,000,000, the assets of which they ask he be not permitted to dispose of.

THREE SUSPECTS CAPTURED IN OIL TRUCK HOLDUPS

Three men suspected of membership in a gang that has robbed oil truck drivers of large sums of money in northern Indiana were taken from Chicago to the Lake county jail at Crown Point yesterday to await trial for robbery.

The men are William Muentzer, 24 years old, 9137 South Chicago avenue; Albert Willardo, 25 years old, 2733 West 23d street, and James Wright of Gary. Capt. Edward Knight of the East Chicago police obtained information that the three men had participated in the robberies from ten victims who said they could identify them.

Muentzer and Willardo were arrested without trouble. The police then learned that Wright was living with his father-in-law, Clarence Summers, 7446 Kingston avenue. Summer's son, Maxwell, 24 years old, was shot in the shoulder when he attempted to draw a revolver on policemen who came to arrest Wright. The elder Summer was charged with possessing explosives when dynamite and a fuse were found in his home.

CUBS BATTLE BRAVES TODAY; WARNEKE HURT

IT'S A NATURAL WHEN YANKEES AND CUBS MEET

Both Grow Out of 5 Cent Pieces.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 6.—It does begin to appear as if the world series of 1932 might involve two great American houses which were founded on the business policy of a full nickel's worth for a nickel.

The late Mr. William Wrigley, whose team of Cubs passed to his estate when he died, sold chewing gum by the nicker's worth and adhered to the idea that large quantities of nickels amounted to money all through the time when other business men—and bell-hops and newsboys and children—regarded the nickel with contempt. There was a long time when Mr. Wrigley's gum was one of the very few commodities that could still be bought with a nickel in this country. During that time he had almost a monopoly of the nickel trade.

Col. Jake Ruppert, the owner of the other world series team, the Yankees, used to deal in nickel beers. In days before prohibition, it was possible to drop into Jake's place almost anywhere in New York and buy a big, foaming nickel's worth for Jake had places all over New York.

It's a Natural.

But prohibition came and Jake's places folded up. He tried substituting imitation merchandise, not that he believed in it, himself, but just so his pipes and machinery wouldn't rust away. But his heart wasn't in the business and the tradition of the nickel's worth was abandoned. Jake knew there couldn't be a full nickel's worth in an ocean full of his imitation merchandise and, moreover, what with the reduction of volume and the rise in costs he was compelled to raise his price. Possibly, if the citizens convert their thirst into political action in November, Jake will return to the nickel beer business.

The competition between the late Mr. Wrigley's house and Jake's house in the world series is one of those naturals that promoters strive for in the sport industry. The biggest city in the United States and the next biggest are involved, although New York will not make a civic issue of it as Chicago will. Two of the greatest nickel-by-nickel fortunes are opposed in a rivalry having a strong sporting character.

This Is a Grudge Fight.

Then, also, there is the case of Joe McCarthy, which contributes the motive of revenge and imparts to the little scenario the very desirable character of the grudge fight. Many citizens will remember, how, in the little Friday evening boxing entertainments which used to hide in frame casinos and suburban taverns, the announcer in presenting a couple of apathetic journeymen for the main event, used to lower his voice and add in a dramatic whisper, "Gents, dis here is a grudge fight."

Indeed, a grudge is a good selling point for a sporting entertainment, and here is Mr. McCarthy with a little beauty. Mr. McCarthy used to be the manager of the Cubs. He was selected from the minor leagues, a second rate ball player, himself, but with apparent qualities of leadership, to manage Mr. Wrigley's team, which represented the profits from many millions of nickelsworths. Mr. Bill Veeck [pronounced Veck, by the way] selected him. Mr. Veeck, as president of the ball club, decided that what the Cubs needed was psychology. McCarthy seemed to exude psychology, so, unimpressive as his record was, Mr. Veeck gave him the job and he was doing tolerably well when Mr. Wrigley, who was a hero worshiper, fired him.

Now Joe Is Back.

Mr. Wrigley respected Rogers Hornsby as the greatest ball player in the National league and thought he ought to be a great manager. Anyway, McCarthy had failed in one world series, against Connie Mack's club, and hadn't even won his pennant the next year. Mr. Wrigley abhorred failure, so McCarthy was fired, psychology and all, and before he quit rubbing the seat of his pants where he had been kicked downstairs, Col. Jake, the rival nickel magnate, had him thoroughly hired and signed as his manager for the Yankees.

Now here is McCarthy leading the Yankees back into the ball yard from which he was fired.

Mr. Veeck still has psychology in large quantities around his plant. An old baseball reporter, and accustomed to hours of talk-talk-talk in the tilted chairs in front of the baseball hotels on summer nights, he went in for silence when he became president of the Cubs and arranged his office so that the baseball reporters, when they came in, would sit in the light and, of course, talk, while he sat in a shadowy corner and listened. This was not a new idea, having been exploited in many of the little dramas of success sold to the inspirational magazine trade. It has something to do with psychology.

Veeck Is Smart Man.

Mr. Veeck was right about McCarthy, and Mr. Wrigley was wrong about Hornsby, and only a few weeks ago Mr. Veeck, who is bold and cold, fired Hornsby, which was a big thing to do, and promoted Charley Grimm to the job. There was a fine chance of failure in this move, and if the Cubs under Grimm hadn't reacted as RIVAL RACE MEETS.

AURORA'S "blowoff" is for the best interest of racing in Illinois, taken as a whole. This is said with due sympathy for sponsors of the west suburban track who found themselves in an uncomfortable position during a lean turf year.

Aurora normally opens and closes the local turf season, which by state law is permitted to open on May 1 and ends Oct. 31. In 1932 this allowed 159 racing days. According to the best turf minds that is too long. They would prefer a limit of 120 racing days, or even less, if there were fewer tracks to earn a full year's maintenance in race meetings of 30 days.

In the spring, when the racing appetite is keen after a long winter layoff, Aurora has done very well financially. Its fall meetings, when the public is jaded and its bankroll worn thin, have not been so successful. Accordingly Aurora sponsors felt that Oct. 10 to Oct. 31, the dates assigned for this year, not only would not yield a profit, but probably would run strongly into the red. Hence decision to race against Lincoln Fields.

Ordinarily such a move is a signal for a track war. Such wars in the past often have led to disaster. It was, in part, disputes over dates which caused the struggle between the Western Jockey club and the American Turf association 25 years ago. Before the war was over there was no racing in Chicago and most of the middle west.

Instead of declaring war Lincoln Fields and other tracks sympathizing with it in the present trouble decided to let attrition decide the issue. That's what happened, for Aurora frankly declared after two days' trial that lack of patronage caused it to call off its 13 day meeting. Whether any financial salve was extended by other tracks was not announced.

Racing, always subject for attack by reformers as well as chiselers, needs the undivided effort of all sponsoring organizations to keep it on the highest plane. There is no room in such effort for rival meetings in the same city. Despite the depression Chicago tracks this year have carried on with great credit. It is reported no local track, except possibly Hawthorne, will show any sizeable profit at the end of the year.

To enhance Chicago's reputation as the greatest racing center in the country was the common purpose. We think that purpose, despite difficulties, was achieved.

Wrecking an Eleven.

One's sympathy must extend to the coaches of the Sing Sing prison football eleven. Instead of the faculty, parole boards and courts are simply wrecking the team's 1932 prospects. It's a trying situation. Without wishing to cast aspersions on local courts, there are plenty of loose recruits in these environs who could be spared for the public good if the Sing Sing coaches are in a recruiting mood.

AMATEUR BOXERS ADMIT RECEIVING CASH FOR BOUTS

Managers Tell Ring Board of Their Payments.

BY ARCH WARD.

Ten of the 21 boys questioned yesterday by the Illinois athletic commission substantiated the board's charges that promoters and managers are commercializing amateur boxing in the Chicago district.

The state athletic commission has no jurisdiction over the amateurs, control resting with the Central Amateur Athletic union. The purpose of the investigation is to force amateur boxers who have been violating the code to take out professional licenses.

Promoters and managers who have been earning a livelihood out of the sport also will be required to take out professional licenses, if the commission's drive is successful.

Ten Admit Taking Cash.

According to amateur rules, a boxer is permitted to receive a medal or trophy and expense money not to exceed $2.50 for each appearance. None of the boys who testified at the hearing in the commission offices yesterday could recall receiving medals as reward for his services except in tournament bouts. Ten of them admitted they had been paid in cash, the amounts varying from $5 to $25.

The investigation was conducted by Gen. John V. Clinnin, chairman of the Illinois commission. He was assisted by Fred Gardner and George Getz, the other members of the board. Fred Steers, secretary of the Central A. A. U., represented his organization.

Find Managers Profit.

The testimony implicated all of the principal clubs promoting amateur bouts. It developed the information that managers are making considerable money by operating stables of boxers and signing them up for matches at the various neighborhood arenas. Several fighters insisted their managers had given them only $2.50, although the commission had affidavits that their instructors had received from $10 to $20.

The major developments at the hearing were:

1. Mike Kamis, Central A. A. U. welterweight champion, testified that he received $12 for a recent match at Mills stadium. He said the money was handed to him by an inspector for the Central A. A. U.

2. A representative of Duffy Dvonch, heavyweight from the Great Lakes Naval Training school, said Dvonch had been paid $15 apiece for bouts with Owen McCarthy, Jack Kawa and Frank Ketter at Western stadium.

3. Bill Connell, one of the leading middleweights in this district, said he received $25 for fighting Aldo Longinotti of Italy at Chicago Stadium, July 22.

4. Jabber Young, boxing instructor at the Belle Plaine A. C., testified that he was given $70 for bringing seven boys from his club to Mills stadium for a match with a Davenport team in June.

5. Johnny Broderick, manager of Johnny Phagan, said he received $12 for Phagan's services after a match at Northwest stadium and $15 after a bout at Mills stadium.

Hold Second Meeting Monday.

Other fighters who admitted receiving money in excess of $2.50 included Joey Klekio, Nick Scialaba, Leo Ranieri, Gene Higgins, Joey Palazzola, Frankie Sanello, Eddie Chinski, Frankie May, Buddy Moore, George Shroabee, Jimmy Eliopolous and Tony Muscarello.

Among those who failed to answer the commission's subpoenas were: Leo Rodak, Henry Rothier, Max Marek, Georgie Goodman, Lenny Cohen, Adam Smith and Tony Sutton.

Another group of amateurs will be called to the commission office next Monday. Gen. Clinnin said that after the second hearing there would be abundant evidence to support the commission's charges of commercialism in the sport and laxity on the part of the Central A. A. U. in enforcing its regulations.

COMMISSION LOOKS INTO THIS AMATEUR BUSINESS

GOSSOON SAILS TO VICTORY IN DETROIT RACE

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—Gossoon, II. of Chicago, won the first of three races for the Richardson cup, emblematic of the Great Lakes R. class championship, today, decisively defeating Bob Kat of Buffalo, and the Shadow, of Rochester, the only other entrant. Bob Kat was second, 12 seconds ahead of the Shadow.

The 18 mile race was sailed twice around a triangular course on Lake St. Clair. A strong northwest wind, which at times reached a velocity of over twenty-eight miles per hour, kept the yachts and crews hard pressed to keep their positions.

Start Is Perfect.

Gossoon II. sailed by Faurot, got away to a perfect start, followed a few seconds later by Bob Kat and Shadow. Gossoon lost some of her lead before the end of the first three mile stretch and after the turn was forced to luff the Bob Kat for the windward berth. She had successfully retained her position, but the Shadow threatened and it was necessary for the Gossoon to luff again.

Gossoon, however, was successful in keeping Shadow under her lee and the yachts rounded the second turn in that position. On the beat to windward, the Chicago boat showed her real worth. Taking advantage of every puff of wind and showing superiority in windward work, The Gossoon overtrod Bob Kat in three-quarters of a mile and increased her lead to one-eighth of a mile at the end of the first lap. She was never in danger after this point and left Shadow and Bob Kat to fight it out for second place.

Wins by Half Mile.

The real contest developed between these two. Gossoon sailed on to increase her lead and finished six minutes and one second or approximately a half mile ahead of her nearest rival. The times for the race were:

Yacht.	Start.	Finish.
Gossoon II.	10:15	12:55:00
Bob Kat	10:15	1:01:10
Shadow	10:15	1:01:22

EXPECT EASTERN SCHOOLS TO LIFT BROADCAST BAN

New York, Sept. 6.—[Special.]—The broadcasting companies expect the eastern intercollegiate association to lift the ban on radio descriptions of football games which was announced in June by Maj. Philip B. Fleming, representative of the United States Military academy and president of the association. A meeting of the association is scheduled to be held late this week.

Representatives of the Columbia Broadcasting system, the National Broadcasting company and other stations will confer with members of the association before the meeting, in an effort to prove that broadcasting does not keep the public away from the stadiums.

"A more conciliatory spirit prevails," said a representative of a major New York station yesterday. "Some members of the intercollegiate association are more willing to cooperate with us than they were in the early summer. They have received scores of letters protesting against the restriction. The alumni have complained. The old grads, scattered throughout the country, cannot always get to the games; therefore they plead for broadcasting."

All That Glitters Isn't Gold in World Series; Ask Owners

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

A world series is a windfall for the players involved, not to mention the baseball commissioner's office, but it frequently is nothing more pleasant than a headache for the clubs having a hand. The clubs participating may lose money, they may make a little or they may make much, but even if it proves profitable financially the headache is there just the same.

The Cub officials now are beginning to experience the headache. Not, however, because of worry over the financial feature. There is worry lest the Cubs fall over and quit, thereby letting some other team nose them out. There is worry over the possibility that the team might fall over and stay that way only long enough to delay the mathematical clinching until the last week of the season. And if this happens the club must go right ahead making huge preparatory expenditures which, if the worst happens, would be a total loss.

Sometimes There's Deficit.

There have been cases, such as series in which only four games were played, where the contending clubs had nothing except a deficit to show for their efforts. When that happened each major league voted to appropriate $20,000 to the club represented by it in the fall event. The $20,000 covers only a small portion of the risk. The Cubs in 1929 would have lost money on the series if this $20,000 hadn't more than covered the difference betweent expenditures and the club's share of the receipts. As it was, the margin of profit was so small that it was exceeded by what the Cubs and Sox, as clubs, split in the city series of 1931 for which only regular season prices were charged.

It is estimated that if the Cubs win their way into the impending series, which probably will open Sept. 28 at New York, the Chicago club's portion of expense will be in the neighborhood of $100,000. That's what it was in the 1929 event, but the club received only $73,057 from actual series receipts. The total receipts were $359,494, but the commissioner took 15 per cent of the gross, or $128,923; the players' pool was $435,342, leaving $292,223 to be split four ways among the two contending clubs and each league.

What Eats Into Receipts.

Here's what eats into the club's share, granted that the Cubs are involved and the risk of a $40,000 loss is taken by the erection of temporary bleachers seats:

Temporary bleachers	$40,000
Printing of tickets for Chicago games	12,000
Entertainment	15,000
Transportation of Cub players and officials	10,000
Ticket men, special help, ushers	7,500
Clerks handling advance sale	5,000
Registered mail, band hire, decorations, etc.	10,000
Total	$99,500

Three sets of tickets [a set covering three games] are printed. In addition three sets of emergency tickets are held in readiness. These are for use in the event of a tie game stopped by darkness or the calling off of a game because of rain with a tie score after four and one-half innings are played.

The cost of ushers, ticket takers, ticket sellers in the bleachers for which there is no advance sale, and special help around the park approximates $2,500 per day.

The advance sale of tickets is handled by a force of between 40 and 50, their compensation being about $300 a day for 18 working days.

Temporary Seats a Gamble.

The temporary bleacher which was erected in 1929 behind the walls on Waveland and Sheffield avenues and which will be restored for the coming event, barring the collapse of the team, seated 10,000 one dollar patrons. Two games were played at Wrigley field making the receipts for those particular seats $20,000. Of this total the club received 8 cents out of each dollar, or $1,500 which was more than consumed by insurance and employment of special watchmen.

In other words, the cost of the temporary seats, $40,000, was a total loss.

For those who may wonder just what happens to a world series pot when the interested parties begin slicing it up, there are the figures based on an imaginary million dollar gross at a four game series:

Commissioner [15% of gross]	$150,000
Players [60% of remaining 85%]	510,000
*Each contending club and each league	340,000

*Split equally four ways.

After four games the players cease to participate. Commissioner continues to take 15 per cent of the gross and the two contending clubs and each league divide remainder. Seventy per cent of the players' pool goes to teams in the series. The balance is shared by the teams finishing second, third, and fourth in the regular season.

Returns Ticket Applications.

If the series opens Sept. 28, two games will have to be played in the Yankee stadium before the scene of action moves to Chicago. One day would be devoted to travel, thus making the local schedule, provided there is no break because of rainfall, read Oct. 1, 2 and 3. Should a sixth game be necessary the teams would return to New York to battle Oct. 5.

Fans hoping to be in on the ground floor in the ticket allotment already have deluged the Cub office with orders, but the applications are being returned. Orders will not be accepted until after announcement to that effect is made by the club.

LAME BACK MAY KEEP ACE OUT OF BOSTON SERIES

Bush, Malone Pitch Double Header.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Sept. 6.—The Chicago Cubs arrived here early this evening to begin the final lap of their pennant drive which opens tomorrow with a double header against the Braves, the first game starting at 12:30 o'clock, Chicago time.

The Cubs expect to be well rested for the opening of their eastern invasion, but a note of worry was introduced today when it was discovered that Lon Warneke, the Chicagoans' ace pitcher, was suffering from a lame back and may not be able to take his regular turn on the mound during the five game Boston series. Warneke wrenched his back in the ninth inning of the game at Wrigley field on Sunday, when he blanked the Cardinals on an allowance of three hits to win his twentieth victory of the season.

He seemed to gain relief after a rubdown in the clubhouse and thought no more about it until yesterday at Cincinnati when his back began to ache again. He visited a physician there for treatment and felt relieved last night. On the way to Boston today he complained of a pain again. An X-ray photograph will be made tomorrow to determine whether he has injured himself seriously.

Bush and Malone Pitch Today.

Manager Grimm originally had planned to use Bud Tinning and Pat Malone to pitch tomorrow's games, and Warneke and Guy Bush on Thursday, but in view of the possibility of Warneke's being out for several days Grimm will send Bush against the Braves in one of tomorrow's games and use Tinning on Wednesday.

Grimm decided on this maneuver in order to get his two best available pitchers into action tomorrow and concentrate on taking both games with the hope that the law of averages will take care of Thursday's games and give the Cubs one of them, even if Warneke can not work. The Cubs expect Manager McKechnie to counter tomorrow with Bobbie Brown, who casts a fireball with his right arm, and Ed Brandt, who is the possessor of a highly efficient left arm.

Brown was the starter in the big 19 inning game at Wrigley field Aug. 17 but got out in the seventh inning, the inning in which the Cubs tied the score. He came back in the fifth inning of the battle of Aug. 19 and held the Cubs for an eventual 6 to 5 Boston victory, the only win achieved by an eastern team during the Cubs' recent home carnival.

Lost Tough One to Cubs.

Brandt pitched the opening game of the Chicago home stand on Aug. 16. Many will recall how he held the Cubs to two singles and how the Braves, after knocking out Lon Warneke in the eighth, seemed certain of a 3 to 0 victory only to have Herman, English and Cuyler knock successive doubles with one out in the ninth to bring about Brandt's demise, after which Stephenson, Moore and Jurges singled off Cantwell to round out a 4 to 3 Chicago triumph.

The season series between the two teams will end Friday with a single game, after which the Chicagoans will move on to Brooklyn for three games in three days. Incidentally, the season Boston-Chicago tabulation shows 13 wins for the Cubs to 5 for the Braves.

While the Cubs are opening in Boston the Pirates will be in Brooklyn engaged in an effort to increase their winning streak to eleven straight. The opinion among the Cubs seems to be that the Pirates may fare all right in Brooklyn but will meet grief in a double header they will play in Philadelphia on Saturday. The Phillies are the ones who have done the most in blighting the Pirates' ambitions.

Cuyler Nurses Sore Knee.

The long trip from Cincinnati to Boston was broken up by a two hour layover in New York, which enabled the athletes, excepting Warneke and Kiki Cuyler, to get out and do some muscle stretching. Ki suffered a slight injury to his left knee yesterday and was under treatment throughout the trip. He expects to be in the lineup tomorrow, however.

If the Cubs don't clinch the pennant on this trip their Chicago supporters won't know them when they get home and may suspect that the management has rung in the House of David outfit to finish out the season. On the train coming from Cincinnati a group of players including Woody English, Malone, Burleigh Grimes, and Cuyler organized a No Shave club, which will not disband until the team has clinched the pennant. As some of the boys have very fertile faces that sprout whiskers with very little encouragement, they'll be wearing full beards before the pennant is nailed to the flagstaff if they don't get into another protracted winning streak. The organizers hope to have the entire team enrolled in the No Shave club by tomorrow.

Little time was spent on the trip second guessing the unwelcome defeat at the hands of Cincinnati in the latter phase of the Labor day double header. The Cubs have come to accept the Cincy team as an inevitable irritant. The Reds beat the Cubs out of the pennant in 1930 and this year have won nine victories to ten for the Cubs, despite the fact they trail the Cubs 25½ games in the National league standings.

6—Llandaff, Dorsaya, Golden Ship.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Miss Brilliant, the race horse which runs in the purple and white jacket of Mrs. W. J. Potter of Mobile, is everything that her name implies.

She gave further evidence of it before 8,000 at Lincoln Fields yesterday when, by a sparkling spurt in the stretch, she got up in the final strides to beat the Chicago colt, North Mill, by a neck. Flying Cadet, a new sensation among the Kentucky 2 year olds, finished third.

Had Miss Brilliant been fortunate enough to have been born into one of the millionaire stables of the east or west, she might be regarded as one of the best 2 year old fillies in the country. Her campaign possibly would have included half a dozen fashionable stake events and doubtless she would have done all right in them.

Just a Source of Revenue.

But Mrs. Potter isn't one of these millionaires of the turf. A race horse is just another source of revenue to the Potter stable, so Miss Brilliant has been racing consistently and often ever since last January. She was making her 23d start yesterday in a campaign that took her first to New Orleans, then to Maryland, next to the half mile track in Cicero, and on through the Chicago season, racing against the leading 2 year olds of the country.

And it isn't a bad record Miss Brilliant has rolled up. In those 23 starts she has won seven times, was second on five occasions and third in four other races. She was out of the money seven times, but has never been beaten by a bad 2 year old. The juveniles that conquered her were the aristocrats of the turf.

Her earnings for the year are $7,050, and you might have approached Mrs. Potter in New Orleans last winter, pushed a couple of $500 bills in her hand and walked away with Miss Brilliant and a bill of sale.

She's an Iron Horse.

Miss Brilliant has developed into a little iron horse, and it is very likely you will be reading much about her later on during the fall season. But a 2 year old which has engaged in such a stiff campaign seldom goes on as a 3 year old, so if all the traditions of the turf come true we won't be hearing much about Miss Brilliant after this season.

She ran a sensational 6 furlongs in 1:11 4-5 to beat North Mill and at one stage of the battle she was trailing by four lengths. That was about the time North Mill was rounding the lower bend and heading for the home-stretch.

North Mill appeared to be a certain winner a furlong out. Then Miss Brilliant began her drive on the outside which brought victory.

Completes Daily Double.

Miss Brilliant had many backers, but paid $7.36 to win. Jockey T. P. Martin rode one of his famous stretch finishes to help her get the decision.

Favorites didn't fare so well at Lincoln Fields yesterday, the overthrow of the choices starting in the first race which was won by Cara Domus. Louis Dear came along to win the second and when Miss Brilliant won the third she wound up a daily double which had been played by almost everybody at the track. The holders of the daily double tickets each collected $47.50. There were some 200 winning daily double tickets sold.

The favorite which failed and wrecked most of the bank rolls was Islam which races for little Jack Howard of Kentucky. He was at odds but Oh, Dave and Totem, both outsiders, outran him all the way in the fifth race.

SCOTCH GOLF BALLS! THEY'RE MADE OF LEATHER

New York, Sept. 6.—[Special.]—Golf clubs, some made more than a 100 years ago and golf balls, made of horse leather soaked in oil and stuffed with gull feathers, were brought back to the United States from Scotland today by John Campbell, Newport News, Va.

Campbell said he was asked to get the antiques for the International Golf museum. The most recent club was made in 1895. He said the balls were the famous "feather" balls. The museum was founded by the James River Golf club of Newport News.

WOMEN DECIDE YACHT SAILING HONORS TODAY

Cohasset, Mass., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—Women sailors will put out off here tomorrow morning to strive for their yacht racing championship. The contestants will be the crews which won out in the elimination contests held along the Atlantic coast. They gathered today at the Cohasset Yacht club.

Heading the list through her victories in the past will be Miss Lorna Whittelsey, representing the Indian Harbor Yacht club of Greenwich, Conn. She entered the finals by winning the women's championship of Long Island sound last month. Helping her will be her younger sister, Myrtle, and Miss Edith Wills. They are the favorites and are looked upon as the New York crew.

APRIL THE FIFTH IN ST. LEGER CLASSIC TODAY

LONDON, Sept. 6. — [Special.] — April the Fifth, winner of the Epsom Downs derby, will be among the starters in the classic St. Leger at Doncaster tomorrow. The announcement was made by Tom Wall, owner and trainer of the horse which stunned the English turf world by winning the Epsom derby several months ago.

The favorite for the race will be Orwell, owned by W. M. G. Singer. Orwell was the favorite in the Epsom derby, but finished out of the money.

Jockey Allen to Quit Chicago for Maryland Track

Jockey Charley Allen will not ride in Chicago again this year, according to reports that were heard at Lincoln Fields yesterday.

After the Hawthorne fans turned against him he rode during the two days of the Aurora meeting and didn't meet with much success. He plans to go to Maryland and will be on hand for the opening of the season at Havre de Grace a week from Monday.

Clarence McCrossen, another western jockey who has been in bad frequently with the stewards in Illinois and Kentucky, will also ride in Maryland this fall. He goes east to ride the horses owned by Admiral Cary T. Grayson, which are trained by Mose Lowenstein. Rough riding caused McCrossen all his troubles.

McCrossen had been in the employ of the Dixiana stable. Jockey R. Finnerty has been signed up by Trainer Clyde Van

TEMPLETON FOUR RIDES AURORAS INTO DEFEAT, 13-6

Collegians Advance to Open Polo Finals.

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Westbury, L. I., Sept. 6.—Four Yale boys proved too much for Seymour Knox's Buffalo Auroras today and Templeton ran away with the first game of the semi-finals in the open polo championship. The score was 13 to 6 and the result was never in doubt. Templeton now enters the finals.

Winston Guest led his college teammates in a slashing attack that smothered the veteran Pat Roark and the fine team play the Aurora four had shown in defeating Laddie Sanford's Hurricanes never did appear this afternoon.

The game was the most uneven of the championship series to date. It was played before a crowd of 4,000. Hard, long hitting on the part of the two Guests—Raymond and Winston—and sensational riding by Stewart Iglehart paved the way for a Templeton victory. Mike Phipps, the Templeton forward, was shooting goals like a machine gunner throughout the game and scored six times in the first five periods.

Post Leads Aurora.

Young William Post was easily the star for the vanquished Aurora team, scoring four of his team's six goals from away back at No. 3. Knox, the No. 1, was missing and succeeded in putting the ball through only once. Capt. Roark contributed the other Aurora score in the first chukker.

Billy Post's sensational run in the sixth chukker was the best play of the game. The Long Island boy caught a pass from his teammate, Knox, near the Aurora goal posts and, riding like the wind on his big bay mare Hermosa, led both sides all the way down the field, bringing the ball along with three mighty wallops. Post's third blow was a cut shot, and he had to get the last bit of speed out of his pony to ride down the ball and turn it through the goal. It was a beautiful, cheer bringing ride, but it didn't help much, for Winston Guest came right back with a goal for Templeton. Post made another brave effort in the last period, ringing up two goals, but the game had long since been lost.

Aurora Subdued Early.

Stewart Iglehart, who will be remembered in Chicago for his play on the Old Aiken team last summer, scored only one goal, but he was responsible for five of Templeton's 13 points. Iglehart, his fellow players said, put up the best game of his career and his shots were never longer nor cleaner hit.

Knox and his Buffalo Riders were swept aside in the first chukker. Phipps smashed the ball through for a score before the match was a minute old, and then Iglehart slammed one to Raymond Guest, who scored the second point. Phipps scored two more with the aid of the rambling Iglehart, and the game was virtually won before Aurora got warmed up.

After that first whirlwind attack, Roark gave up his carefully planned game and began to rove. He slipped back for two periods and sent Dunbar Bostwick up to No. 2.

Phipps, with his two Australian ponies, Splinters and Checkers, was out in front on every play and won every race during the three periods he rode the two diminutive ponies.

Eastcott, the team that beat Hitchcock's Sands Point four Sunday, will play Jock Whitney's Greentree four on International field tomorrow. It will be the second semi-final, Greentree having drawn a bye.

Saturday the winner of tomorrow's game will meet Templeton on the same field for the open championship of America.

Lineup:

Bryn Mawr, Pa., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Penllyn polo ists advanced to the final round of the Barclay McFadden memorial tourney today, when they defeated the Maryland Polo club of Baltimore, 8 to 5. Penllyn will meet the Rumson, N. J., four in the finals.

POSES AS GRID STAR; HELD BY QUINCY POLICE

Quincy, Ill., Sept. 6.—(AP)—John Blood, who posed, police said, as a member of the Green Bay, Wis., Packers' professional football team, was arrested today on a vagrancy charge for investigation.

Police said that Blood obtained $5 and a quantity of clothing from Lambert Redd, Olympic games hop, skip, and jump contestant, by posing as a fraternity brother and saying that he lost his baggage somewhere. Redd introduced Blood to Carl Blickhan, former Iowa State university athlete and a friend of the real John Blood, and the arrest followed.

Police said that Blood admitted he is not the Green Bay football player, but insisted he was his cousin.

MARQUETTE EYES FIRST VICTORY OVER WISCONSIN

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—The football game between Marquette university and the University of Wisconsin at Madison on Oct. 1 will be the first between the two state rivals since 1919. In the "good old days," however, the Hilltoppers and the Badgers met in football seven times. The first game was in 1904.

Marquette never has defeated Wisconsin on the gridiron and Frank Murray's athletes of 1932 have ambitions that the Blue and Gold may emerge in the win column this fall.

Got a Lineman to Spare? N. U. Can Use Him

Coach Dick Hanley of Northwestern arrived in Evanston yesterday ready to take charge of football practice Sept. 15. Hanley has been in the east for the last two weeks conducting a coaching school at Villanova college.

One of his first steps will be to call a meeting of his staff. In addition to Coach Hanley, the coaching staff will consist of Leroy [Pat] Hanley, line coach, Tom Stidham, assistant line coach, and Waldo Fisher, end coach.

Early Games Annoying.

The freshman coaching staff consists of Maurie Kent, George Levison, Litz Russness, Orion Stuteville, and James Evans, the latter a guard at Northwestern for the last three years.

With the Missouri game coming just two weeks after the opening of practice, the Wildcats will be pushed at top speed from the first practice. The Michigan game a week later on Oct. 8, likewise will necessitate concentration on the preliminary workouts.

Hanley expects to have a squad of 55 candidates at the opening drill. In this group will be seven regulars, around which the 1932 team will be built. They are Capt. Pug Rentner, half back; Ollie Olson, full back; George Potter, quarter back; George Dilley, guard; Harold Weldin, center, and Dick Fencl, and Edgar Manske, ends.

Seventeen Vets Missing.

Loss of 17 lettermen from last year's squad presents a serious problem right at the start. The most important members lost include Dal Marvil, Jack Riley, Jimmy Evans and Paul Engebretsen, who comprised the entire midsection of last year's line.

Consequently, the development of tackles and guards will be the paramount problem confronting Hanley. The most likely looking candidates for these positions are Bob Gonya, Bill Riley and Mil Froberg, tackles, and Clif Kinder, Jerry Gottschalk, and Ed Whalen, guards.

NAVY FOOTBALL PRACTICE BEGINS AHEAD OF TIME

Annapolis, Md., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—Though the football practice season will not open officially until Thursday, 37 candidates, nearly half of the varsity squad, were on hand today and began work under Coach Rip Miller and his assistants. Work consisted largely of conditioning exercises and handling the ball.

Capt. Jim Reedy and Manager Arthur C. Jones were among those who reported early. Others on hand were Jimmy Campbell, regular fullback last season; Bob Harbold, the 210 pound center aspirant and Jack Waybright, the sprinter of the backfield candidates.

The authorities were notified by wire that a party made up of Ralph Pray, end; George Powell and Bon Ward, backs, and Jim Mint, lineman, were in an automobile accident and would be delayed.

Brother Sylvester Again Heads Catholic High League

Brother Sylvester, athletic director of St. Patrick High school, was re-elected president of the Chicago Catholic High School league at the Auditorium hotel last night. The Rev. H. J. Ahern, De Paul academy, was chosen vice president for another term and the Rev. J. P. Boggins, St. Ignatius, again was named secretary treasurer.

36 Turn Out for De Paul Practice; 19 Have Letters

Thirty-six young men, bronzed from various sorts of labor under the summer sun, reported to Coaches James Kelly and Ben Connor for the opening football practice of the season at De Paul university yesterday.

The candidates were greeted by typical fall weather and went through their first two-hour drill in fundamentals at a brisk pace.

Included in the squad were 19 letter winners from last season. De Paul has lost only four regulars. The Blue Demons will meet St. Viator in their opening contest Sept. 23, a night game to be played at Loyola university stadium, where all of De Paul's home games are slated this season.

De Paul attained the best record in its history last year by winning six of nine games on the hardest schedule it ever attempted.

The thirty-six who appeared yesterday were: Capt. Matty Steffen, Butcher, Dea, Stadler, Oldani, O'Brien, and Loess, half backs; Doody, Flood, Cella, quarter backs; Jablonski, Condon, Cella, full backs; Lyons, Roche, Finn, Krause, Delaney, Sullivan, ends; Barskis, Pionke, O'Brien, Reed, Clancy, Walters, tackles; Schuster, Sexton, Mertes, Bowers, Brainard, Hynan, Scanlon, guards; and Gorsky, Lannon, Kelly and Cowhey, centers.

CHICAGO GIRL IS VICTOR, 6-2, 6-1, ON GRASS COURTS

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Seven of the eight seeded players and one unranked entry today advanced to the quarter-final bracket in the national girls' grass court tennis tournament at the Philadelphia Cricket club.

The eight surviving contenders for the title, won last year by Ruby Bishop of Pasadena, Cal., included two Californians, a Chicagoan, two New Yorkers, and one each from St. Paul, Minn.; Philadelphia, and Boston.

Of the seeded players, Millicent Hirsch of New York and Fanny Goodyear of Springfield Center, N. Y., encountered the hardest battles today. Miss Hirsch, seeded fourth, took a hard contest from Joanna Palfrey, Boston, 8-6, 6-2, while Miss Goodyear eliminated Katharine Pearson, Houston, Tex., 6-4, 6-3.

Cecile Bowes, Philadelphia district titleholder, piled up a 6-1, 6-0 score to defeat Betty Faeth of Kansas City.

The national indoor champion, Katharine Winthrop of Boston, seeded second, defeated Laura Derahn, Tuxedo Park, N. Y., 6-4, 6-0. Bonnie Miller, Los Angeles, seeded third, dropped only one game in each set to eliminate Eleanor Kesting, St. Paul, Minn, Miss Kesting's twin sister, Elizabeth, seeded sixth, stroked out a 6-0, 6-2 victory over Hope Noyes, New York, while Helen Fulton, Chicago, ranked fifth, eliminated Mae Howe, Philadelphia, 6-2, 6-1.

2 Ball Golf Foursome Is Not "Scotch"

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The unanimity of the experts in describing the first portion of the recent Walker cup matches between the Americans and British at Brookline as Scotch foursomes has caused something of a furor among local sticklers for golfing phraseology and mechanics.

The phrase "Scotch foursome" appeared repeatedly in the reports of the first day's matches, in which two Yanks were pitted against a pair of Britons. The stories went on to tell of how only two balls were used in each match, with each member of the contending twosomes taking alternate strokes at the ball. This, the local dissenters say, is properly called a two ball foursome, and in no way connected with the Scotch variety, which is something else again.

It's Wrong, the Experts Agree.

Among those who rate the use of the term Scotch foursome in the Walker cup play a misnomer are Joseph G. Davis, secretary of the Chicago District Golf association; Tom Fraine of Columbian, Jim Carberry of Shore Acres, and George and Warren Dawson of Glen Oak. All agree on the definition of a Scotch foursome as entirely opposed to, not to mention much more complicated than, the two ball brand.

According to them, a Scotch foursome is a procedure in which both medal and match play are involved, both low gross and best ball counting in the reckoning of the match. Two points are allotted to each hole, one for the best ball of the four players and one for the lowest number of strokes for each twosome. For instance, in a match pitting Bobby Jones and Walter Hagen against Francis Ouimet and Olin Dutra, Jones would get a three on the first hole, Hagen a four, Ouimet a four, and Dutra a four. Jones and Hagen would be awarded one point on the basis of Jones' best ball three, and they would take another point for having used only seven medal strokes against the Ouimet-Dutra combination's eight.

This Would Square It.

If, at the second hole, the scores were reversed, with Ouimet and Dutra getting seven strokes against Hagen's and Jones' eight, with Olin having the best ball of the three, the match would be even.

Two ball foursomes, such as were used in the first day of the Walker cup series, are comparatively rare in every day club competition, but are popular with foursomes, in which some of the players previously have played a single round, because they are not as strenuous as individual play. One popular method, which Harry Vardon, the British veteran, called a greensome, consists of having all four drive at each tee, and then allowing the partners to choose the ball they wish to play.

There Are Other Foursomes.

Mixed foursome events are conducted on the two ball basis, with medal scores or match play against par as the basis for competition. Another form of the two ball foursome system is the Benedict trophy, in which married couples, after a qualifying round at one-half of their combined handicaps, compete in match play at three eighths of their combined handicaps. Father-fillus, or father and son, tournaments also are conducted on the two ball foursome basis.

Another event much in use at certain clubs is the grandfathers' tournament, in which each entrant is allowed one stroke for each grandchild and an additional stroke for each grandchild present at the first tee when he drives off. Senior and junior tournaments also provide an interesting method of handicapping. A certain age limit dividing the seniors and juniors is established, with the former being allowed one stroke for each year over that limit, while the juniors add an additional stroke to their medal score for each year under the limit.

COALS PLAY DETROIT AGAIN.

The Spencer Coals and Detroit Clowns will play a twilight game tomorrow night at Portage park. Several weeks ago a ninth inning rally after two were out enabled the Clowns to win out by a one run margin.

"I'll Win Title or Quit," McMillen Tells Mat World

Jim McMillen, training at his country home near Antioch for his match Friday night at the Coliseum against Rudy Dusek, announced yesterday that if he failed to win the world's heavyweight wrestling championship before the end of the indoor wrestling season he would retire.

JIM McMILLEN.

McMillen quit professional football to take up wrestling five years ago. McMillen believes that he will reach his top form this season. He hopes that by defeating Dusek, of which he is confident, that he will put himself in a position to gain a finish match with Jim Londos.

Dusek and McMillen meet in the main event of a five match card. Jim represents the collegiate type, while Dusek is of the old school. Rudy specializes in the back body drop and cradle hold.

Promoter Joe Coffey has paired up eight other heavyweights. The card:

Abe Coleman vs. Gino Garibaldi.
Hans Kampfer vs. George Hills.
Floyd Marshall vs. George Zaharias.
Paul Jones vs. Willie Davis.

Cubs, Yankees World Series Is a Natural

well as they did the blame would have been Mr. Veeck's. But the psychology worked as he had planned, and the Cubs under Grimm tore up the league to win a pennant which they were losing under Hornsby.

So this makes Mr. Veeck one of the biggest, smartest men in baseball, pro tem. All big, smart men in baseball are big and smart, pro tem. Last year Gabby Street was big and smart. The year before that, old Connie Mack was big and smart.

The big smart man of Jake's business office is Ed Barrow. He is not cold and bold like Mr. Veeck but conservative, aloof, acquisitive, and somewhat impolite. He comes down from the bullying days of the baseball business, and the old habit of roaring and intimidating hasn't quite died out of him yet. But he is easy enough to get along with if you bully right back at him.

LOTT CONQUERS PARKER IN THIRD ROUND OF PLAY

Youngster Carries Tennis Veteran to Four Sets.

Forest Hills, L. I., Sept. 6.—[Special.]—George Lott of Chicago, former Davis cup player, defeated Frankie Parker, 16-year-old Milwaukee star, 6-4, 6-1, 4-6, 6-2, in their third round match which featured the national singles championship tournament here this afternoon. Parker, making his debut in the national meet, won the third encounter, 6-4, after losing the opening two, 4-6, 1-6, but lost the fourth.

Parker has defeated Lott four of the five times they have met in past tournaments.

Perry Beats Williams.

The aging bones of Richard Norris Williams of Philadelphia, grand old man of the courts, creaked under the weight of a big task—that of playing Fred Perry of England—and he was eliminated in straight sets at 6-0, 6-2, 6-1.

The 41 year old ex-champion probably would have made a better showing if he had not been forced to pull his match of yesterday with Edward Burns out of the fire from 0-5 in the fifth set.

Keith Gledhill of Santa Barbara, Cal., who shares the national doubles title with Ellsworth Vines, accounted for the first casualty in the foreign seeded ranks by conquering Marcel Bernard, the young Frenchman, 8-6, 6-4, 2-6, 6-3, and followed Perry into the fourth round.

Gledhill's ground strokes were beyond the ken of the comparatively inexperienced Bernard.

Manuel Alonso, a Spaniard by birth and a New Yorker by adoption, fell before Henri Cochet of France at 6-2, 6-4, 6-1. The erstwhile Spanish Davis cup leader astonished the gallery by his spectacular gets in the first two sets.

Mangin, Van Ryn Advance.

Alonso had to work a great deal harder than his opponent and began to tire after running up a lead of 4-2 in the second session. His game cracked at that juncture as the Frenchman stepped up the pace and won nine games in a row. It looked as if Cochet handed his opponent the sixth game of the final set to save him from the ignominity of a shutout.

Two more native favorites, Gregory Mangin of Newark and John Van Ryn of Philadelphia, moved ahead a short while later to keep company with Gledhill. Mangin disposed of Karl Kamrath of Austin, Tex., 6-1, 6-4, 6-1, and Van Ryn, though encountering unexpected stubborn resistance from Edward Feibleman of New York, plowed to a 6-1, 5-7, 6-0, 6-3 decision.

Van Ryn's doubles partner, Wilmer Allison of Austin, Tex., also wasted little effort in acquiring a fourth round bracket. He eliminated Martin Buxby of New York, 9-7, 6-2.

Sidney Wood Carries On.

Bunny Austin, England's pride, vanquished Jack Tidball, the hard hitting youth from Hollywood, Cal., 6-4, 8-6, 6-2.

Sidney Wood of New York kept in step with the steady march of the select company by trouncing J. Gilbert Hall of South Orange, N. J., 7-5, 8-6, 6-4.

Takeo Kuwabara, Japanese champion, won a hard struggle from Bryan Grant, Atlanta, Ga., 6-3, 2-6, 6-4, 2-6, 6-4. Both players relied on defensive tactics and hugged the base line while waiting for points to be handed them on errors. The Japanese proved the better waiter.

Classic Pin League Opens Play Tonight

Ten of Chicago's best bowling teams, which have organized the Classic Bowling league, will open their 36 week schedule tonight.

The 1930 A. B. C. champions, the S. & L. Motors, will meet the Moulding Brownells at the Chatham alleys, 7854 Cottage Grove, at 9 o'clock. The latter team set a world high team record of 3,450 at Aurora last year.

The Lorenz Knitting team, composed of Leo Faetz, Si Lock, Dom DeVito, Eddie Krems, and Adolph Carlson, known for the last three years as the Boyle Valves, will open against the Wass & Schroeder team at the Garden Recreation, 4074 Milwaukee avenue.

Mayor Cermak's team, composed of James Krizek, Jerry Peck, James Kubek, Al Hoffenkamp, and Joe Hradek, will meet the revamped Baby Ruths at the Gold Coast alleys, 1213 North Clark street.

The Green Rivers, composed of J. Gratz, F. Walters, Billy Goldammer, W. Freitag, and Big Ben Bernicchi, meet a new team, the Olive Can company, at the Harding alleys, 2701 Milwaukee avenue.

Harry Kaad's De Barry Insurance team will oppose the new Edelweiss team at the Petersen Milwaukee alleys. Babe Bunning, Edgewood Valley golf star, is on the latter outfit along with Bjorn Petersen, E. Riskowsky, Charles Zeman, and Ted Svoma.

Special score boards will enable the fans to follow the matches, while a special program booklet will be given to all spectators. The league will bowl its second meeting Sunday night and will continue this program until the latter part of April. Tonight's schedule:

Olive Can Co. vs. Green Rivers at Harding.
A. J. Cermaks vs. Baby Ruth at Gold Coast.
Wass & Schroeder vs. Lorenz Knitting at Garden Recreation.
Moulding Brownell vs. S. & L. Motors at Chatham Recreation.
De Barry Insurance vs. Edelweiss at Petersen's Milwaukee alleys.

CUBAN STARS TO MEET WEAVER COONEYS SUNDAY

The original Cuban Stars of Havana, Cuba, will play the Buck Weaver Cooneys a double header next Sunday at St. Rita field, 2300 W. 63d street.

This is the first appearance of this team in Chicago in three years.

Kid Chocolate Defeats Steve Smith in 10 Rounds

Boston, Mass., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Kid Chocolate, junior lightweight champion, won a 10 round decision over Steve Smith of Bridgeport, at Fenway park tonight. Chocolate took every round.

LA BUY TO SPEAK AT FIRST FALL REALTORS' MEET

Board Plans Important Bylaw Changes.

BY AL CHASE.

Important changes in the by-laws of the Chicago Real Estate board will be made at the first fall meeting of that organization, to be held this evening in the board rooms, 22 West Randolph street, it was stated yesterday by President J. Soule Warterfield. Names of the nominating committee to select the officers for the coming year will be announced by Mr. Warterfield. The speaker of the evening will be Walter La Buy, Cook county commissioner, who will discuss the sales tax as a relief to real estate.

J. SOULE WARTERFIELD. [Wallinger Photo.]

Another important change contemplated is shoving up the date of the annual election of the Chicago Real Estate board from Dec. 15 to Nov. 1. This will accomplish two purposes, Mr. Warterfield stated. It'll give the new president six weeks between election and actually taking office to select his board of directors and name his committees. Formerly the president was elected on Dec. 15 and was at once installed in office.

To Widen Appraisal Scope.

It'll also permit the board to print the complete list of officers and committees in the annual year book of the current year. For many years this annual has each year contained several pages of photographs and names of officers, directors and committees who already had passed out of the picture the year before. This data was about as valuable to the owner of the annual as a last year's telephone directory would be in making an emergency call.

The changes in the by-laws will extend the scope of the realty board's appraisal committee by permitting the addition of two special members to each of the eight standing subcommittees. In addition Mr. Warterfield states that the obsolete appraisal certificate form which has been in use for nearly half a century is to be revised.

Sheridan Road Lease.

Shore & Lieberman, furniture and novelty dealers, have leased the 25x100 store at 4646 Sheridan road from Ross & Newton for an undisclosed term, through H. W. Croxton & Co. The store, formerly occupied by the Lyon & Healy music store, is between Leland and Wilson avenues.

Milton Shalowitz of 1155 South Halsted street has purchased the southeast corner of Blackstone avenue and East 67th street, lot 104x125, improved with eleven apartments and six stores. The seller was Benjamin T. Roberts. Mr. Shalowitz gave in exchange the six flats at 2425 North Tripp avenue. Ernest Cooke and O. C. Shellgrove were brokers.

Emil R. Markmann has bought from Charles B. Stresenreuter the twelve apartment building at the southwest corner of East End avenue and East 63th street, lot 60x125. Arthur J. Hoss and E. B. Beatty were brokers.

PRICE OF WHEAT, UP 2C, BRINGS SELLING WAVE

Close Gains Reduced to Fractions.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Wheat had a strong start and a tame finish. General early buying, engendered by announcement that the farm board would hold back the remainder of its holdings until next year, lifted prices 2c from Saturday's close with the May selling at 65c, a new high on the crop.

Many of the professional element who bought wheat last week in expectation of favorable developments over the holidays, took profits on the bulge. That selling, combined with that by holders of offers, brought about an almost complete loss of the upturn. The day's finish was only ¾@1c higher.

Houses with eastern connections were aggressive buyers of wheat at times during the day, but the market lapsed into periods of dullness as soon as the buying ceased. Relative weakness in Winnipeg also had some effect on local sentiment which was more disposed to take the selling side. At the finish September was 64¼@64¾c; December, 58¾@58⅞c; and May, 63⅛@63⅛c.

Discuss Farm Board Holdings.

With the farm board now definitely eliminated as a market factor as far as cash wheat is concerned for the time being the trade has started to discuss the government holdings of futures. The latter were estimated at 35,000,000 to 40,000,000 bu during the day. According to the trade gossip the holdings will be gradually transferred from the December delivery into the May in order to avoid being forced to accept a delivery of the cash grain. The holding is estimated at over 15 per cent of the total open interest in futures in all of the leading markets.

Aside from the farm board announcement there was little in the news during the day that attracted attention. Favorable weather in the Canadian northwest resulted in a sharp increase in hedging pressure on the Winnipeg wheat market, and the latter closed ⅝c lower to ⅞c higher with December at 58⅝c in Canadian funds. The latter were around 9¼ per cent discount yesterday against 10⅛ per cent last Friday. Liverpool showed marked strength and gained 2⅝@3⅜c as compared with Saturday, December closing at 60⅜c.

Importing countries bought around 800,000 bu Manitobas during the day but nothing was heard regarding business in hard winter wheat. An increase of 3,635,000 bu was shown in the domestic visible supply, making the total 181,721,000 bu compared with 209,223,000 bu last year.

Cash Corn Offered Freely.

Corn futures opened as much as 1c higher yesterday in sympathy with wheat, but ran into heavy profit taking and selling against offers and reacted sharply, closing unchanged to ½c higher. September was 30¾@31⅛c; December, 33⅝@33¾c and May, 38⅞@38¼c at the last.

According to local cash handlers around 1,000,000 bu old corn was offered to arrive, but was held at a price to net the producer 25c per bu at interior loading stations. It was figured that December would have to sell at 31½ or 1c above yesterday's best figure to permit the grain being secured. Purchases to arrive during the day were only 43,000 bu. Crop reports attracted little attention.

New York Curb Exchange Seat Sells for $75,000

New York, Sept. 6.—The New York Curb exchange announced today that arrangements have been made for the sale of a membership at $75,000, an increase of $20,000 compared with the preceding sale on Sept. 2. The advance was the largest between any two sales this year, and the price compares with a low of $16,500. At the present level curb seats are selling 218 per cent higher than the low. New York stock exchange memberships have advanced from a low of $78,000 this year to a high of $155,000, an advance of 172 per cent. At the low on July 27 the total market value of the 550 curb exchange memberships was $9,075,000, compared with a current valuation of $41,250,000, an advance of 351 per cent.

UNCLE SAM ORDERS RAILWAY TO PAY PROFITS OF '20-'24

Washington, D. C., Sept. 6.—The Illinois Terminal company was ordered today by the interstate commerce commission to pay $675,449.98 to it on account of excess net railway operating income received in the period from March 1, 1920, to Dec. 31, 1924.

The commission's decision is under that part of the transportation act providing that one-half of all net railway operating income above six per cent of the value of the carrier's property shall be paid to the government.

The commission found that the Illinois Terminal earned a recapturable excess income of $115,834.38 for 1920; $44,121.84 for 1921; $122,693.35 for 1922; $205,762.32 for 1923, and $187,-638.14 for 1924. The carrier's property was valued at $1,980,000 in 1920 and $2,250,000 in 1924 for computing the excess operating income.

The carrier is required to pay this money in 90 days, and if it fails to do so the commission ordered that securities which the Illinois Terminal had been required to post as collateral to insure payment of any amounts found to be due under the recapture law would be sold to meet the requirements of the order. The carrier has on deposit with the commission $1,-160,000 par value of securities.

Prices of Raw Materials Rise in U. S. Marts

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 6.—Commodity markets stole the spot light from stocks today. A world-wide scramble for many basic products sent prices soaring to new high levels both here and abroad. Cotton, wheat, rubber, coffee and cocoa were the favorites. Copper, tin and zinc participated in less spectacular fashion.

The rubber market was the scene of sensational activity on one of the biggest openings in the history of the exchange with Wall street commission houses, manufacturers and foreign interests competing for contracts.

Higher at the Start.

The market started 43 to 84 points higher. March contracts which are the favorite speculative position, opened at 5.05 cents a pound compared with a previous close of 4.52 cents, went to 5.10 cents and then reacted to 4.95 cents in early afternoon under a wave of profit taking.

The advance in rubber here was a reflection of the foreign markets where prices had advanced before the New York opening.

On the New York coffee and sugar exchange coffee had the most active opening in the last two years. Futures opened 12 to 24 points net higher, making new highs for that period on an enormous volume of trading, with the September position at 13.10 cents and subsequently it went to 13.30, a gain of 32 points and the highest price in two years.

Coffee and Cocoa Higher.

Events on the coffee exchange were duplicated on the cocoa exchange where the market also had the busiest opening in two years and prices also skyrocketed to the highest level reported in that period. Europe, the local cocoa trade and manufacturers with Wall street commission houses were buyers.

Prices opened 25 to 40 points higher with all future deliveries selling above 5 cents a pound for the first time in more than a year and trading volume of record proportions. Heavy profit-taking brought about a reaction but in early afternoon the market still was 18 to 40 points net higher.

Metal Prices.

The metal markets continued to advance on comparatively light buying mainly to the tenacity of owners of stocks of metal. Copper buying abroad was better than here. Copper Exporters, Inc., sold all the metal it had available for abroad at 6 cents, while outside metal sold at 6¼ cents a pound, a new high price.

The domestic market was nominally quoted at 6 cents but little metal was sold. In view of the advance abroad a higher market here was predicted, the market being about ¼ of a cent out of line.

Zinc also sold at a new high price with western zinc advancing 15 points to 3.40 cents a pound in St. Louis. Lead was unchanged but firm.

Trading in silver futures was exceptionally active today while bar silver on spot sales rose ⅝ of a cent an ounce to 28⅞ cents in the New York market.

Hides and wool also were higher. Woolltops were bid up 150 points. January and February contracts sold at 63.50 cents while March was quoted at 65. Hides were 45 points to 55 points higher. December old contracts sold at 7.85 cents while March new contracts were quoted at 8.90 cents.

On the New York cotton exchange contracts were about bid up $1.50 a bale.

John R. Thompson Co. Votes Regular Dividend

The John R. Thompson company today declared its regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents on the capital stock.

Eastern Steamship Lines, Inc., today omitted its quarterly dividend of 12½ cents on common due at this time. The directors, however, declared the regular quarterly dividends of $1.75 on the first preferred and $7½ cents on no par preferred.

The Adams Express company declared a dividend of $1.25 on the account of the cumulative quarterly dividend which was omitted in June in addition to the regular quarterly of $1.25 due at this time. Resumption of the dividend and the clearing up of this accumulation is the result of an improvement in the company's business.

Real Silk Hosiery Mills Reports Six Months' Loss

Operations of the Real Silk Hosiery mills and its subsidiaries during the first half of this year resulted in a net loss of $139,417. This compares with a net loss of $172,589 in the corresponding period of last year. In addition to the loss from operations the company this year sustained a further increase in the consolidated deficit resulting from various tax and bonus adjustments and other charges. The profit and loss deficit on June 30, 1932, amounted to $1,063,801. On June 30, 1931, the deficit stood at $463,340.

TREASURY CLOSES BOOKS ON CALL FOR $1,150,000,000 LOAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 6.—Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills announced tonight that subscription books for yesterday's offering of 750 million dollars of five year 3¼ per cent treasury notes and 400 million dollars of one year 1¼ per cent certificates closed at the close of business today.

The issues, totaling $1,150,000,000, were offered to meet expected demands on the treasury department by federal relief agencies and to care for the treasury's Sept. 15 refinancing program.

Subscriptions placed in the mail before 12 midnight tonight will be considered as having been entered before the close of the books, the department stated. The amount subscribed and the basis of allotment, it was said, will be announced on or about next Saturday.

YANKEES, FRENCH STILL BARGAIN ON TRADE PACT

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Sept. 6.—Further attacks in the French press today led to a belief in American circles that a definite campaign is being financed by powerful industrial interests against American efforts to negotiate a most favored nation treaty. At the American embassy it was merely said the official position remains unchanged with the French reply which was promised for the end of the week being still expected, but it is known that the American negotiations are somewhat discouraged at the way public opinion here is being worked up against the treaty.

At the stage at which the negotiations were left last Thursday it was agreed that the advantages the Americans were offering in exchange for most favored nation treatment were not enough to satisfy the French, especially as they did not contain any promises regarding lower tariffs. However, the French said they would accept American proposals which comprehended relief from a certain number of administrative measures hindering the entry of foreign goods into the United States and the introduction of other measures protecting French copyrights on luxury goods and would give in return certain concessions to American trade.

FORT SUGGESTS CLEARING HOUSE FOR MORTGAGES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 6.—Favorable responses to Chairman Franklin W. Fort's proposal that mortgage clearing houses be established in each state to relieve distressed home owners until the new home loan bank system can begin to function, began to arrive at the headquarters of the board today.

Mr. Fort said that loan associations in West Virginia, Iowa and New Jersey have reported that such clearing houses will be set up.

Mr. Fort said his proposal would enable distressed home owners to obtain immediate refinancing through the clearing houses until the home loan banks are set up and begin to operate. All applications for loans on mortgages will be forwarded to the state organizations.

Adams Express Company Votes Preferred Dividend

Adams Express company yesterday voted a dividend of $1.25 a share on the preferred stock on account of the cumulative quarterly dividend, which was omitted in June, in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of $1.25 a share due at this time on this stock, both payable Sept. 30 to stockholders of record Sept. 16.

The resumption of the dividends and the clearing up of the $1.25 accumulation on the preferred stock is the result of the improvement in the company's capital position.

SOCKS OR STOCKS, WE BUY THEM ON THE BULGES

People don't like to buy in a falling market. Whether it is a big corporation which lets its inventories of raw materials run down or a housewife who puts off buying in anticipation of a further decline, the story is the same. An illustration of the truth of the axiom was given yesterday by the head of a chain of women's apparel stores.

For months sales had been slack and prices steadily declining, he declared. A few days ago the chain raised the prices on women's hosiery. A pick-up in sales was noted and the improvement continued. Convinced that prices had reached the bottom and turned up, women began to buy.

Women usually realize when a change in the price trend has taken place before men do. Men are sluggish poor shoppers, and will probably demand a lot of convincing before they will believe that the trend of prices has changed.

Attention, Bond Salesmen.

But whether men are buying wearing apparel or not the male investor is showing a little less timidity after 40 days or of rising prices. An official of a big downtown bank said yesterday that a customer who has bought nothing but commercial paper for months came in yesterday and purchased $30,000 of municipal bonds. Another customer who has shown extreme wariness for some time, made a substantial investment in high grade utility bonds.

They Paid and Paid.

The dividend record of the public utility companies during the depression has been more favorable than that of any other group. There has been fewer eliminations and reductions than for any other class of stocks.

The collapse of some of the big utility holding companies gave the industry a black eye but it can't detract from its favorable showing made by the sound properties. Incidentally the utility enterprises which have been forced into receivership or out of the ranks of the dividend payers are mostly of recent origin, products of the period of extreme inflation. The latest reports show that the earnings of the well established companies have not been seriously impaired by the depression.

CHICAGO STOCK PRICES HIGHER; SELLING AT CLOSE

Late realising reduced the gains marked up for Chicago stocks in the early trading yesterday. A number of shares, notably the motor accessory issues, closed the day with moderate gains despite the wave of profit taking.

Bendix was the feature of the latter group, although it gave up most of its gain in the late trading. Cord corporation shares were strong reflecting of the declaration of the regular Auburn Automobile dividend. Cord holds a majority of the common stock of Auburn.

LISTED STOCKS UP 12 BILLIONS IN NEW YORK

'Change Tells Gains from July Lows.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 6.—A gain of $7,-287,742,341 in the value of shares listed on the New York Stock exchange was recorded in August, according to a compilation issued today by that exchange. This advance is the largest for any month since August, 1929.

It brought the value of the listed stocks to $27,782,501,806, the highest figure since Dec. 1, 1931, thus canceling the losses of the first six months of the year.

In the last two months stocks on the exchange have gained $12,149,-022,229. The gain in July was $4,-861,279,888, or 31.1 per cent, as against an increase of 46.6 per cent in August.

Follows Busy Day.

The announcement of these figures was made at the close of one of the busiest trading sessions on the exchange in the last two months, with over 4,000,000 shares traded.

The exchange's report on the value of stocks listed on Sept. 1 showed that the average price of all shares was $21.18, as against $15.58 on Aug. 1 and $11.89 on July 1, which was the lowest on record.

There were 1,245 stock issues, aggregating 1,311,960,145 shares, listed on the exchange on Sept. 1, as compared with 1,252 issues, comprising 1,315,334,428 shares, on Aug. 1.

At the peak of the bull market, Sept. 1, 1929, the monthly compilation showed a market value of $89,668,-276,854 for 1,006,068,893 shares, or more than three times the current value of a larger number of shares.

Borrowings on collateral of stock exchange members to the value of listed stocks were 11.19 per cent on Sept. 1, compared with 1.13 per cent on Aug. 1, which was the low record.

Loans at Banks Decrease.

The rise of about $90,000,000 "street loans," however, was offset by a decline of about the same amount in the security loans of banks. A year ago the ratio of street loans to the market value of stocks was 3.04 per cent, and at the peak in 1929 the ratio was 9.32 per cent.

The following table shows the total shares listed and the trend of market values on the New York Stock exchange on Jan. 1, the last seven years:

New York, Sept. 6.—Corporation bonds today encountered resistance on their upswing. Investment bonds, however, were firm, and a scattering of speculative issues forged ahead for small gains.

A sharp increase in trading volume over that of the end of last week emphasized the selling which the market is meeting in attempting to penetrate into new high ground. Speculative rail bonds were most heavily traded, but for the most part lacked the vigor to carry through for appreciable gains.

News of the day directly affecting railroad bonds was of little moment, including reports of a few individual roads showing moderate traffic improvement.

Of greater importance to the market was the general rise in confidence, emphasized by fresh gains in commodities and in the stock market. Profit-taking in these markets appeared to affect the bond list.

Overshadowing the slight improvement in domestic bonds was a vigorous rally in German government and corporation bonds, reflecting the government's plan to increase employment through subsidies to industries.

United States government bonds moved narrowly, with interest centered upon the new financing announced yesterday. The treasury short term issues, including outstanding notes and certificates, were shaded a trifle, reflecting some switching to the new issues, for which Wall street expects heavy oversubscription and prompt closing of the books.

Compensation Granted Insull Trust Receivers

Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley yesterday authorized compensation on account to the receivers and attorneys for the Corporation Securities company in the following amounts: Raymond F. McNally and Patrick J. Lucey, receivers, were given $3,000 each. The law firm of Ashcraft & Ashcraft, attorneys for the receivers was awarded $5,000. Yesterday's order names the compensation as on account pending the final settlement of the company's affairs.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 6.—Shares were pitched and tossed about furiously today. Closing figures were 1 to 2 points below some previous finals.

Speculators fortunate enough to get in a rung or two below Saturday's price peaks seemed to have judged today a good time to pocket their profits. Selling orders predominated in most groups after the first hour or two, and the decline became general and rather sweeping in the later trading. United States Steel lost 1½ points for the day, closing at 50; Allied Chemical was off 2, American Can, 1⅝; Case Threshing Machine, 3⅜; Union Pacific, 3; American Telephone, 3¼; Atchison, 3; Public Service of New Jersey, 1⅝; Consolidated Gas, 1⅝; Sears Roebuck, 1¼; Westinghouse, 1⅞, and Western Union 3⅝ points.

Close to Year's Top.

Preliminary to the reaction the whole list got a fresh boost, in a day whose total trading exceeded 4 million shares, which sent it close to the high prices for the year registered in March. Even after the profit taking became so pronounced one group after another was given a push.

Fresh strength in commodities helped the early buying movement. At their best the more active stocks of the list were up 1 to 4 points over Saturday's closing figures. Many brokers, however, were advising clients to take their profits and grab a new supply of stocks at lower levels.

Mining shares provided a conspicuous exception to the late weakness of the list, the copper group moving against the trend for gains of 1 to 2 points to record their best prices of the year.

Homestake Shows Strength.

Homestake Mining, the one issue out of the 1,200 and more listed on the exchange to hold above the 100 mark when the midsummer ruin was on, attracted attention by jumping 4½ points on a single sale.

The oils also held well as a group, but the railroads had to take a position to the rear. Losses in the carrier group were from 1 to 3 points.

There was some feverish activity in Radio for a while, the erstwhile member of the "big four" rising nearly a point a while before noon.

Motor stocks did fairly well, with Chrysler selling to a new high and holding within a fraction of it until the gong came to its rescue.

preciation—the result, in general, of an unprecedented decline in values.

"Accordingly, at the regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company held today, the directors voted to recommend application to the controller of the currency of the United States to convert the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company into a national bank, to be called the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company of Chicago, which will continue to operate all departments of the present bank."

The directors declared a dividend of $2 per share to stockholders of record Sept. 20 for the quarter ending Sept. 30, 1932. The present dividend rate is $12 per share.

Earnings Exceed 8 Millions.

"Earnings, after taxes and interest, for the first eight months of 1932 amounted to $8,295,000," the directors' letter stated.

This would indicate that the policy of the bank, for the present at least, will be to pay out about half of its earnings in the form of dividends. At the rate of $2 per share and quarterly the dividend requirements amount to $8,000,000 annually. Earnings, according to officers of the bank, are at the rate of about $12,000,000 per year.

That the bank intended to take this step has been known up and down La Salle street for some time. The bank's stock moved ahead two points yesterday to close at 119 bid, 129 asked.

Write Off Losses.

The decision of the directors to write off losses incurred during the depression is in line with the policy of financial and business institutions not only in Chicago but in other cities. Now that the extreme low point in business and in security prices seems to have been passed there is a general desire to square off on a new basis, write off all losses and proceed ahead. Only two weeks ago the First National Bank of New York set the pace by writing off $25,000,000 to cover losses incurred since 1929.

Houston Oil.

Please give me whatever information you can concerning Houston Oil company. A prompt reply will be thoroughly appreciated.—Mrs. M. A.

Houston Oil company was incorporated in 1901. For the first 18 years of its existence it sold timber. It then branched out into the oil and natural gas fields.

Houston Pipe Line company, a wholly owned subsidiary, was formed in 1925. It operates 775 miles of natural gas pipe lines from the company's wells to Houston, Galveston, and other communities.

The company has been developing its oil interests. In 1930 this department accounted for about one-third of total gross. In 1931 it was less because of restrictions on output.

Most of the timber has been cleared from the original holdings. A subsidiary trust, Southwestern Settlement and Development company, was formed to hold and sell the cleared acreage, subject to mineral rights.

The pipe line division at present returns the bulk of net income. In 1931 it earned $1,087,000, and in 1930, $1,968,000.

For the first half of 1932 consolidated net loss was $122,000, against net income of $462,000, or 18 cents per common share, for the corresponding 1931 period.

Net loss for 1931 was $356,000. Deficit after preferred dividends was $893,000. Net income for 1930 was $1,655,000, or $1.62 per common share, against net of $1,731,000, or $1.69 per common share [adjusted] for 1929. Net for 1928 was $1,813,000.

On Dec. 31, 1931, current assets were $3,240,000 and current liabilities were $527,000. Cash was $1,433,000. Working capital was $2,413,000, against $4,290,000 the year before and $3,060,000 on Dec. 31, 1929.

The company listed $5,852,000 as advances to the trust formed to sell its lands.

Funded debt totals $11,090,000. There are outstanding 357,904 shares of $25 par preferred and 1,098,618 shares of $25 par common.

The semi-annual preferred dividend due Sept. 1, 1932, was omitted.

The company has extensive natural gas and petroleum reserves. A general improvement in business conditions would probably improve operations in the natural gas division, and a betterment in the oil industry as a whole would enable that division to make a better showing.

At present both the preferred and common are speculative.

Pennsylvania Electric.

What is your opinion of Pennsylvania Electric company first and refunding 5s, series H, due 1962?—Miss R. A.

These bonds are reasonably sound.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6 (AP)—The sharp rise in raw cotton stiffened cloth prices today. Sales were of fair volume. Burlap prices advanced sharply, 15 points or more, on reports of a large business done at Calcutta by markets outside of the United States. Silk crepes were selling well and velvets continued in steady call. Wood goods were firmer and higher prices are expected. Rayon crepes were less active. Rayon yarns are still ahead to the end of the year in some concerns.

GRAIN'S PRICE BOOSTING CALLED UP TO TRADERS

The announcement by Chairman James C. Stone that the federal farm board will sell no more cotton and wheat until next year places the marketing of those commodities back in the hands of the organized cotton and grain trades, and the public will look to them for constructive efforts to boost prices.

This opinion was expressed yesterday by United States Senator L. J. Dickinson of Iowa, keynoter at the 1932 Republican convention, who is helping manage the national G. O. P. campaign from the western headquarters in the Palmer house.

"Ever since the passage of the agricultural marketing act and the organization of the federal farm board," said the senator, "the bill has been subjected to adverse criticism by the old system. It did not contemplate any material interference with the existing system of handling farm commodities, except that it proposed that the farmer should have something to say about who handles his products and to whom commissions, if any, should be paid.

"The organized grain trade has repeatedly stated that if the so-called threat of the farm board's holdings was removed from the wheat market the market would immediately go up and that the grain trade, unhampered by any governmental control, could find an easier outlet for our surplus wheat and that we would have a freer market, greater public interest and eventually much higher prices. I sincerely hope they are right in their prediction. Certainly they will have the support of the country."

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—(AP)—COTTONSEED OIL—Bleachable was steady today on firmness of the cotton market, unfavorable crop and weather news, firmness of crude oil, and on local buying. The late reaction in stocks was without apparent influence. Final prices were unchanged to 9 points higher, with sales of 27 contracts, equivalent to 4,050 brls. Crude oil was 4¼c bid in the southeast and in the valley, and 4c bid in Texas. Bleachable spot closed 5.00: September, 5.10; December, 5.24; January, 5.30; March, 5.40.

NOVEMBER EGGS ACTIVE

Trading in November refrigerator eggs opened on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange with considerable activity. Prices moved forward for a time, only to react under heavy selling and profit taking sales. Octobers followed briskly, closing ¾c higher than Friday. The four market report showing an increase in eggs of 6,000 cases and in butter of 450,000 pounds did not seem to have much influence on the market. Butter started out firm and advanced to 20½c on November, easing slightly toward the end of the session to close ⅝c above Friday's close. Sales: Butter, 284 cars; eggs, 64 cars. Prices follow:

Estimated receipts at Chicago today: Cattle, 9,000; hogs, 18,000; sheep, 21,000.

Better action in the wholesale meat market gave a great deal of strength into cattle and hogs yesterday. Cattle prices went forward in one of the liveliest sprints in weeks, beef steers making a new season's top of $10.10, which goes back for a high mark to last January.

At the low time in May the weekly top stopped at $7.65. Much cooler weather wheited the publics appetite for pork and reversed the trend of hog prices which were falling rapidly late last week.

Urgent local demand was the backbone of the milder rally in hogs. Prices came up mostly 5@10c, the extreme top at $4.60 standing 10c above Saturday's top and 20c under last Friday, while the general average for the day at $4.10 compared with $4.05 Saturday and with $4.15 last Friday.

Early Trading Slow.

During the first part of the day trading in hogs dragged some and the recovery appeared rather uncertain, but the more cheerful reports from the wholesale market and from the cattle yards soon stirred up enough activity to tilt prices upward. Buying quickly gained momentum and the clearance was the best in weeks for Tuesday.

Closing prices were fully 10c above the low spot of the forenoon. Small packers and city butchers dealing mostly in fresh pork were the aggressive buyers on the slight bulge.

Although prime weighty beef steers outsold yearlings again, choice light cattle led the advance yesterday and narrowed the spread between yearlings and weighty steers. Advances for the day ranged from 10c to 25c, practically all classes and weights sharing in some of the upturn. Eastern interests skimmed off most of the "cream" of the supply of finished weighty steers at $10.00@10.10. Sixty-five 1,205@1,340 lb. averages from Ringgold county, Ia. and from Carroll county, Ill. set up the new top of $10.10. Cattle averaging 1,167 lbs reached $10.00 and 919 lb. yearlings sold up to $9.50.

The bulk of all beef steers cashed at $7.25@9.25, with commoner grades ranging downwards to $5.00, according to quality. A fair showing of good fat 1,300@1,500 lb. steers that lacked that extra finish, sold at $9.00 @9.50. One shipment of rangy Utah steers averaged 1,834 lbs at $7.50.

Action in short-fed cattle and grassy stock was better too, but this class usually has to sell on a "catch as catch can" trade and there is seldom a dependable outlet for the ill-bred thin kinds that sell at $4.50 and under. The fact that fewer of the inferior southwestern cattle were included in yesterday's supply favored the selling side and a good clearance was effected. The pens were well cleared of all kinds during the forenoon. About 2,500 western range cattle arrived. Many of them were Wyoming cows valued at $3.25@4.25, although a few sold up to $4.50. Most of the steers were feeders that sold at $5.00@6.00. Butcher stock brought strong to 25c higher prices. Canners and cutters were steady. Calves were unchanged.

Lambs Also Higher.

Trading in the lamb market was slow in getting under way, but toward mid-session tendency ruled strong to higher and before the session ended prices had worked up 10@15c. A big share of the supply of 59 carloads of range lambs were carried into the later afternoon and sold at the upturn, while most natives brought last week's prices. Packers and city butchers sorted natives up to $6.50, getting the bulk at $6.00 and under. Most range lambs sold at $6.00 and below, with five carloads at $6.10. Aged sheep and yearlings remained unchanged.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 9,000 cattle, 16,000 hogs and 21,000 sheep, against 10,263 cattle, 15,780 hogs and 20,639 sheep, the previous Wednesday and 12,985 cattle, 17,995 hogs and 26,256 sheep, a year ago.
